Ex-Convict 'Living Lie,' Surrenders

SEATTLE (AP) — An ex-convict, free from Oregon state prison 18 years until he gave himself up because he was "living a lie," planned Tuesday to talk with an attorney before deciding whether to waive extradition. Merrield M. Scofield, 56, surprised officers summoned to his home here Saturday after an altercation with his wife by revealing his secret. "I'll tell you the whole truth," he burst out. "I am an escapee from the Oregon state penitentiary." He was booked as a suspected fugitive and Oregon authorities confirmed later that as a trusty he walked away from an Oregon prison farm March 1, 1942, after serving 3 1/2 years of a 10-year sentence. He had been sentenced from Umatilla County for assault with intent to rape. At the jail Scofield told newsmen he "wanted to cooperate" and had no objection to signing a waiver of extradition. But because a sister had obtained an attorney, he said, he wanted to talk with the attorney first. Scofield had lived here the past 10 years under the assumed name Link M. Patton, and worked as a hospital janitor. He told his wife his secret only about a year ago, he said. They have a daughter, 9. After his escape, he said, he worked on farms near Vancouver, Wash., and in paper mills until he went to Ohio and worked as a machinist. His present wife is his third. "I have read the Bible more times than you have fingers on your hands," he said. "But when I tried to pray, it hurt me because I was living a lie." Oregon authorities said that if he did not sign a waiver to return voluntarily, he would be extradited.

Defense Motions Denied

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Judge Walter Evans today denied three defense motions to dismiss the prosecution case against Carole Tregoff in her murder trial with Dr. R. Bernard Finch. Miss Tregoff's attorney, Robert Neeb Jr., asked in two motions for Evans to dismiss the charges of murder and conspiracy to murder against the surgeon's red-haired mistress. Both are accused of killing Finch's wife. Neeb's third motion, based in part on the argument that Miss Tregoff was not represented by an attorney when she made early damaging statements, was a combined request of the first two motions to dismiss the case against her. Finch's attorney, Grant Cooper, asked that the conspiracy charge also be dropped against the doctor. Neeb had argued that the main evidence of conspiracy provided by the state came from John Patrick Cody, admitted liar and ex-convict. Cody had testified Finch and Carole hired him to kill Mrs. Finch. The defendants say it was only to get divorce evidence on her. Prosecutor Clifford Crail was expected to send the trial toward its climax today by opening final arguments aimed at putting the surgeon and his young mistress in the gas chamber.

Jet Ride As Gift Given Father

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A spry little man of 83 took a fast round-trip jet plane flight to Chicago Monday and pronounced it "quite a sensation." "I felt like I was going up toward heaven faster than I'll ever go again," said William P. Gaylor. He left Dallas at 2 p.m. and returned at 5:05 p.m. in plenty of time for dinner. "I've got a birthday coming up in March and my son asked me if I'd like to take a ride in a jet as a present. I told him, 'yes, I would,'" the retired Benton, Ark., furniture manufacturer bubbled after his return.

Voters Of School District To Be Asked For Levy Okay

DORRIS—A decision to ask voters of the Dorris Elementary School District to approve an additional tax levy of 60 cents per $100 of assessed valuation was made by grade school trustees at a special meeting Monday night. Trustee Richard Fenwick said the school board and Principal B. B. Fisher are finally coming to the decision that the district budget can no longer be stretched to meet school district needs. Fisher pointed out that the elementary school district tax has had no raise in 10 years and with prices ever increasing, they could no longer "scrape the bottom" of the barrel. With the prospect of less state aid funds, because of lower average daily attendance, and shrinkage of reserve funds, he said he could see no other choice than to ask approval of a higher tax in a special school tax election which could be called 60 days after formal notice. The 60 cents, he said, would raise some $12,000 and would be in addition to the current tax rate of 90 cents plus six cents for retirement and other benefits and 24 cents for bond interest and retirement, a total of $1.20. If approved, the total elementary school tax would be $1.80, just 50 per cent more than the present tax. Fisher said the drop in the Dorris school's average daily attendance of between 25 and 30 in the past year has cut the amount of state aid received under the ADA formula. For the 1958-59 school year, local taxes produced $18,572, 27 per cent of the school's income, while the state aid was $48,112 or 72 per cent. Of state aid 95.7 per cent was used for teachers' salaries. Average salary per teacher for this year is $4,816, and for the state, $5,996. The Dorris district is rated as "impoverished" because local property taxes provide only a little over one-quarter of its income. Teacher salaries account for about 75 per cent of the district's budget, $77,732 for the current year, and operation of the school plant, 12 per cent, the next highest portion of the budget, Fisher said. Other school taxes paid locally are $1.46 for the Butte Valley High School plus 36 cents for bonds, and 35 cents for the College of the Siskiyous.

'Deaf Mute' Nabbed By Law For Burglary

DETROIT (AP) — When police first arrested "Lisa Anderson" they thought she was a deaf mute. First they learned she wasn't deaf. Then they learned she wasn't mute. Monday they learned she isn't Lisa Anderson. The 22-year-old jail inmate is Patricia Hoyt Dewar, mother of an 18-month-old child, and daughter of suburban Algonac Justice of the Peace Walter R. Hoyt. She was arrested last Friday in nearby Mount Clemens for investigation of breaking and entering. She claimed she came here from San Diego, Calif., and scribbled notes admitting 11 home burglaries since Feb. 10, police said. Her disguise crumbled when she declined a cigarette in a normal voice.

BONANZA—A fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steber last week smoke-blackened the interior so badly it was necessary for the family to move out until the house could be redecorated. The three Steber children, all suffering from the flu, were asleep in a bedroom where their parents had placed an electric hot plate, to provide steam. Mr. and Mrs. Steber were watching a television program about 10 o'clock when one of the children ran screaming from the bedroom. Steber extinguished the fire with buckets of water. Three mattresses and all the bedding were destroyed. Neighbors and friends are helping redecorate the residence back of the Bonanza High School, where Steber is principal.

Rape Attempt Nets 3 Years

William Christian, a 49-year-old transient who pleaded guilty to attempted rape, was sentenced Tuesday to three years in the state penitentiary. Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg pronounced sentence after Christian's court-appointed attorney, Robert Kerr, reviewed the case in detail, and Christian made an involuntary statement to the court. Christian was examined in the Oregon State Hospital on court order, and later was questioned by two local doctors. He pleaded guilty after those examinations. He was accused of attempting to rape a woman he and another man had met in the Pastime Tavern last October 26. He admitted striking the woman. Kerr told the court, "I feel this is a serious matter, but I don't feel it is as serious as it could be." Deputy District Attorney O. W. Goaskey agreed in part with Kerr and said, "I would like the court to show what leniency it can."

Music Stolen From Visitor

Chan Pratih of Thailand, Klamath Falls visitor, reported to city police over the weekend that someone broke into his apartment and stole $100 worth of recorded music. Police said the culprit entered through a kitchen door which he forced open. Pratih was out of town. Nothing else was reported missing. City police also charged Joseph E. Van Meter, 59, 2129 Gettle Street, with reckless driving and drunkenness in an auto near the corner of Main and East Main streets Monday evening. Van Meter's car was found dashed against a light pole just off Main. Officers said Van Meter apparently lost control as he rounded the corner from Main to East Main. The driver was in the car when police arrived. The car was badly damaged, but the light pole was nearly unmarked. Another accident involving a car driven by John Lowell Goff, 340 North Eleventh Street, came to the attention of officers Monday. Goff reported that he lost control and ran over a curb into the porch of a home occupied by Harry Wagner, 231 North Sixth Street, Monday. The home was damaged only very slightly.
