Fitzpatrick was charged with slaying Ralph Ray Lawson, a 52-year-old Pasco, Washington, motorist several times with a bayonet near Crescent January 31. The youth first appeared before Juvenile Judge Charles H. Foster where his case was reviewed briefly by Juvenile Officer Francis Mathews. Fitzpatrick, who made no statement during the hearing, was remanded to district (adult) court. Two hours later Fitzpatrick was arraigned before District Judge D. E. Van Vactor where a formal information of first degree murder was read. Through his attorney, Richard C. Beesley, Fitzpatrick requested additional time before advising whether he wished a preliminary hearing on the charge. The judge ordered Fitzpatrick to return at 10 a.m. March 1 to advise, and the youth was returned to county jail without bond.

Judge Foster Requests Second Term LAKEVIEW — Seeking his second elective six-year term as circuit judge of the 14th Judicial District, Judge Charles H. Foster of Lake County filed his declaration with the secretary of state this week. Judge Foster was elected for a six-year term in 1954, following an appointment to the circuit judgeship in July, 1953, by Gov. Douglas McKay on the death of Judge Charles H. Combs. He was 31 when appointed, the youngest circuit judge in the state of Oregon. His work in the juvenile field has established him as one of outstanding authorities in the state. For the past three years he has been chairman of the Juvenile Law Committee of the Oregon State Judicial Council, which includes all circuit judges of the state who have juvenile jurisdiction. He is also prominent in many civic activities. In announcing his candidacy here, Judge Foster said, "I feel that the experiences gained through the past seven years will help me be a better judge during the coming six years, if reelected. During the past seven years, I have presided as judge over more than 500 adult trials of every type in 20 counties. "To justify continuation of Lake County as a single judicial district, when it is by far the least populated district in the state, it has been necessary for me, on order and assignment of the chief justice of the Supreme Court, to work in almost every section of the state. "In 1957, the Legislature transferred to this court, both the probate and juvenile jurisdictions in Lake County. These previously had been in the county court. By order of the chief justice, beginning in February, 1958, I was also required to take over all the juvenile work in Klamath County. During this time I have conducted over 350 formal hearings. In Lake County, I am happy to report that in the past two years the number of delinquency cases has decreased approximately 60 per cent, with a decrease of about 50 per cent in the past year alone. Since being given the juvenile work, I have felt it was my duty, not only to work with the juveniles after they came into court, but also to do everything within my power to help prevent delinquency before it occurs."

Mark Denies Sterile Plan PORTLAND (AP) — Robert Straub, state Democratic chairman, asserted today he was shocked that Gov. Mark Hatfield could suggest sterilization of unwed mothers on welfare. The governor, who is out of the state on a speaking tour, said in Denver Thursday that the proposal had come up for discussion, but he had never recommended sterilization. Straub, who first brought the matter up in a speech at Coos Bay Wednesday night, told a Jane Jefferson group at Salem Thursday that he was "shocked that the governor would bring such a thing to the attention of the Welfare Commission as an item they should consider."

GRANGE NEWS SOIL CONSERVATION NEW PINE CREEK—Soil conservation is largely making proper use of water, not only to the benefit of the farmer, but to everyone who lives on the land, including city dwellers. These facts were demonstrated in films shown by Arnold Bullock, Alturas soil conservationist, at the last Eastside Grange meeting. At the regular session, two new members, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lawson, were voted to membership, but were not present to receive the obligation. Two new names were reported by Alice Allen, secretary. Mr. and Mrs. Clellon Baker have applied for membership, with Mrs. Baker coming in on reinstatement. Clem Mulkey, home ec chairman, reported the date for the grange card party has been changed from February 19 to Saturday, February 27, following the Pomona meeting, because of a conflict in dates. Ladies are to bring a meat or chicken pie and a hot vegetable dish to the Pomona dinner at noon. Visiting ladies are asked to bring desserts. Refreshments were served following the program and records were played for dancing.

Scenes Of Klamath Basin Depicted By Area Artists More than 50 scenes in Klamath Falls and the Basin as interpreted by its artists will be displayed to the public for the first time Saturday in the new Klamath Art Gallery. The gallery will open from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m., Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. each Sunday thereafter until the current exhibit of paintings of local industries and businesses has run its course. Members of the Klamath Art Association, instrumental in getting the gallery here, worked feverishly Thursday and Friday to ready the display. Most will be shown in the newly-built display room. Others will be hung in the old Moore home a few steps away in the city's Maple Park. Use of the park and its facilities was granted by the city council last year. The art association applied for and received about $3,500 in state Centennial funds for building and repair. Then members worked hard contacting local businessmen and art patrons. They soon had enough donations of money, material and labor to go to work on the gallery. They broke ground last summer. The museum originally was scheduled to open around the end of summer, but some critical materials were impossible to find. At that, the building still lacks plumbing and heat except that amply radiated by a fireplace. Most paintings have either been sold or are for sale by the more than a dozen local artists who did them. Nearly all look professional, though only three or four of the artists consider themselves professionals. Since artists have a natural affinity for the rich-textured mills in

Davenport Blaze Causes Chaos

City firemen thought Thursday night the Pelican Hotel on Main Street was afire. One thought it was the Willard. So did some police. That momentary confusion accounted for a calamitous-sounding scream of sirens at 7:15 p.m. But the only thing afire was a davenport stored in the basement of the Pelican. Firemen still are wondering how it caught fire, since a door leading from the main floor was locked. The basement was smoked up a little and the davenport was damaged, but no other damage resulted. Another call was received by city firemen at 6:16 p.m. The chimney of a home occupied by C. J. Kriz, 700 Mitchell Street, caught fire but caused no damage.

Vandals Rip 3 Windows

Vandals broke three windows in two residences Thursday evening. One rock hit a woman. She was Mrs. Harry Van of 1305 Pacific Terrace. The rock hurtled through her kitchen window. She was not injured. The window was worth $3. Jim Gillfillan, 1919 Melrose Street, complained that vandals broke two big windows in his garage with rocks sometime during the evening. He estimated damage at $10. City police also investigated two car accidents. Damage was minor in both. No citations have been issued. No injuries resulted. Cars driven by Harold E. Lyon, Route 2, and Mrs. Alice C. Jones, 2334 Madison Street, bumped each other while Lyon was pulling from a curb and Mrs. Jones was northbound on South Sixth Street near Lucca's Cafe Thursday afternoon. Andrew Hawver of Talent told officers a hit-run driver creased a fender slightly on his car as it was parked Wednesday night on Main and Second streets.

Candy Sale Set Saturday By CFG

About 1,000 girls from the Klamath Camp Fire Council will launch their annual candy sale Saturday. They will canvass the town door-to-door in pairs in their quest to raise funds for expanding their program. All will be a-dazzle in their red, white and blue service uniforms. And each will carry a supply of Miss Saylor's Unusual Mints. A few pennies from each box, which sell for a dollar, will be left after cost to pump into the operating fund. With 9,000 boxes to sell, the girls, nonetheless, hope to do well. The sale is sanctioned by the county United Fund, which supports Camp Fire in part. The girls will not be asking for donations, says Mrs. Naomi French, director. Customers will get full value for their money. United Fund takes care of most of the girls' needs, but has never in recent years been able to serve the entire needs of the agencies it serves. Camp Fire is one of them. Part of the money will be used to improve Camp Esther Applegate at Lake of the Woods. Candy sale chairman for the council is Mrs. Herbert Waits Jr. Don and Henry Schortgen, Howard Amidon, Herbert Waits, James Ray, Bob Davies, Henry Tayson, Jim Waits, Joe Matlick, George Callison, Mrs. Warren Fruits of Merrill, Mrs. John Anding of Gilchrist, Mrs. Robert Kerwood of Chiloquin and Mrs. W. E. Kiser of Dorris are assisting. The council covers the county, and Tulalake, Dorris and Newell in California. Mrs. French urges residents to buy candy. "You'll help expand the privileges of membership to more and more girls who await the opportunity eagerly."

Survey Plans Discussed

Dr. S. M. Kerron, county health officer, discussed chest X-ray survey plans with board members of the Klamath County Tuberculosis and Health Association at the TB office, 1411 Crescent. Mrs. Naomi Miller, association vice president who presided, stated that arrangements have been made for a general meeting on Tuesday, March 15, at 2 p.m., in the upstairs room of the county library building. Staff members of the state health department will be here at that time to formulate an operation schedule for the mobile X-ray unit. Communities, schools, organizations, industry and public relations media are invited to send representatives to this meeting. Also, any individuals interested in assisting with this survey are urged to attend. A financial report presented to the board showed proceeds to date from the Christmas Seal sale which helps to finance such X-ray surveys, total $5,428.60. Outside Klamath Falls, Main is leading all other communities in seal purchases, with Kingsley Field second, Chiloquin third, Merrill fourth, Gilchrist fifth and Bonanza sixth. The board expressed sincere appreciation to the many individuals who voluntarily increased their contribution for Christmas Seals this year. With a month still remaining before the association books are closed, it is hoped that late contributors will boost the total to $5500 of which 74 per cent remains for tuberculosis control in Klamath County.

More and more farmers each year are finding that Pelleted Simplot TRIPLE Superphosphate is the ideal way to supply this vital plant food requirement.
