

Extra Shorthand Experts Needed For Wordy Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators now are talking so much it takes six extra shorthand experts—one from as far as San Francisco—to take down all the wordy.

In charge of this note taking is John D. Rhodes, an official reporter of Senate proceedings who has been recording senatorial utterances since the days of Woodrow Wilson. Official reporters of Congress take down in shorthand everything that is said on the Senate and House floors. This material is then published daily in the Congressional Record.

"In the past, we have always taken notes on filibusters with our regular staff of six note takers," Rhodes told an interviewer. "This time the threat was so great we received permission to hire outside reporters."

Finding qualified personnel was not easy. Few people, according to Rhodes, can take shorthand notes fast enough to keep up with a senator—or anybody else talking at a conversational speed.

So the extra note takers—all official court reporters—were brought from Philadelphia, New York, Rochester, San Francisco, and Washington.

"You take Sen. (John) Williams (R-Del.) as an example," Rhodes said. "Why, I'd say he talks at a rate of 250 words a minute in short bursts—sometimes faster."

Sen. (Richard B.) Russell (D-Ga.) is rapid, but clear, and he makes very well rounded sentences.

"A secretary to a businessman couldn't begin to take down words spoken that fast."

Sometimes the words uttered by the senators don't come out just the same way in the Congressional Record. Each senator has a right to edit his remarks as he wishes. This often is a matter of merely changing to make a senatorial sentence more readable.

Occasionally it is more than that. Just the other day Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) was clearly heard to apply the words "crap" and "tripe" to Supreme Court opinions that Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois wanted to put in the record.

When the record came out, Eastland's words had been changed to "claptrap" and "useless materials."

Rhodes didn't want to get into a discussion of that or any other specific incident.

However, he did say that he himself has changed certain expressions after first consulting with the senator concerned.

"Somebody the other day said I regard the record as I would a family newspaper," he explained. "That's about right."

Escaped Cons Back In Cells

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Two convicts, one a convicted murderer, were back in custody today, confined to the prison's isolation cells.

They were captured Saturday afternoon less than 24 hours after they broke from the Oregon State Hospital.

An employe at the state mental hospital was scheduled to be arraigned here today on charges of aiding and abetting the escape.

The escapees were James Norwood Jensen, 30, of Larkspur, Calif., and James Stanley Amason, 29, of Bakersfield, Calif.

State police followed footprints in the snow and trailed the two convicts into a barn where they had been hiding. Both surrendered meekly. They were unarmed.

Capt. R. G. Howard said Harry D. Symons, 29, was arrested after he admitted buying hacksaw blades and smuggling them to Jensen. Symons was an attendant at the hospital.

The two men sawed through a window bar and descended on knotted sheets from the third-floor maximum security ward.

Jensen was convicted in 1954 of the ax murder of Mrs. Fern Hile of Medford and sentenced to die. His sentence was commuted to 99 years in 1957.

Amason was sent to the Oregon State Prison in 1952 from Morrow County after he was convicted of assault and armed robbery.

Jensen was sent to the mental hospital's ward for the criminally insane Jan. 15 of this year. Amason was moved to the state hospital last November.

Centinel Blocks Mail
WINGINA, Va. — Mail delivery at the post office here was held up by a defiant skunk who took a stand before the door. The driver of the mail truck from Lynchburg to Fort Union yielded to the perfume threat, passed up his stop and delivered the mail on the return trip.

Freight Kills Aged Woman

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — A freight train struck down an elderly woman at a crossing inside the city limits Saturday, police said.

Police said she was Mrs. Lottie Councilman, 60, of Salem, who died soon afterwards of fatal injuries.

Officers quoted witnesses as saying she looked neither right nor left and was knocked forward by the train and then dragged another 26 feet.

The signal bar arm was down, bells clanged and the onrushing train whistled, police said.

School Notes

During the month of February each home room at Fremont School conducted a program entitled, "How Am I Doing?" This topic was divided into subtopics, as "How am I doing mentally, socially, emotionally, physically, in home relationships, and what is my future in America?"

The questions that were most frequently asked were discussed every Wednesday by appointed committees. The Fremont faculty felt this program answered many questions perplexing young people.

The program was conducted in the hopes of building better citizens of the students of Fremont.

The Fremont basketball season has not been too successful this year with only two wins. However, many games have been very exciting for spectators and players alike.

The Rally Squad has done a good job in encouraging the players. The Rally Squad accompanied the team to Ashland.

Talent from Rooms 12 and 14 was presented February 26 in the third of the talent assemblies. Acts were presented by Mariamne Gallagher, Cindy Miller, Cheryl Kellum, Jan Gippo, Mary Ellen Johnson, Dianne Gasser, Pat Kelly, Rena Koffler, Karen Goonan, David Geil, Carol Hammer, Janice Humphries, Carl Hartley, Mike Harroun, D. A. W. Hilton, Penny Howie, Terry Gupitill, Bill Googins, and Lanny Guyer.

Dental inspections were made Tuesday, February 9, by the school nurse, Mrs. Mae Speirs. Questions such as how often students brush their teeth and how often students visit the dentist were asked. Then students were advised according to individual needs. It was believed that in making such a survey, better care of teeth and gums would be encouraged.

Valentine's Day the Drama Club presented a program for the student body. Later the students returned to home rooms for refreshments of Valentine cookies and ice cream.

The first of the Altamont-Fremont dances was held at the YMCA February 19. Both rock 'n' roll contests were won by Fremont students. Carol Porter and Jim Matmiller won for the boys and girls contest, and Marianne Gallagher and Cindy Miller won in the all-girl contest.

Awards were presented by Mrs. Ray Loosely, representing the Daughters of the American Revolution, on essays written by several students on "Historic Trails of Oregon." First place went to Carolyn Ferrell. Her prize was a DAR pin. Neal Johnson won second place, Tammia Mitchell won third place, and honorable mention was given to Beverly Morsstad and Penny Lynn Howie.

Panel Discussion Scheduled By College Administrators

The Klamath Union High School Parents and Patrons have invited five experts in education to give the answers to parents who want to know if their youngsters should go to college.

The panel discussion will be conducted Monday at 8 p. m. in the high school cafeteria, which is in the new music wing.

The questions to be answered are:

1. Should your son or daughter go to a college or university?
2. What subjects should he or she take?
3. What will it cost?

To answer them, will come Dr. Dan W. Poling, dean of men at Oregon State College; Hugh G. Simpson, Southern Oregon College director of information; Vernon Parkhurst, University of Oregon director of admissions; and Robert Smith, dean of students at Oregon Technical Institute.

Moderator will be Dr. Francis B. Nickerson, State System of Higher Education high school-college relations committee executive secretary.

Dr. Poling has degrees in commerce and education. He is a full professor of political science.

Simpson received bachelor and master degrees from the state university in physical education and history. He is assistant professor of journalism, English and social science.

Parkhurst has bachelor and master degrees in history from the university. He is a candidate for a doctorate at OSC and has a background of work in social science, with the Ford Foundation in Western Europe, and with the high school-college relations program for the state higher system.

Smith earned bachelor and master degrees in education from UO and OSC. He is experienced in school administration.

Dr. Nickerson has bachelor and master degrees in law and general studies and a doctorate of education from the university. He is experienced in social science and has been a statistical economist.

MALIN BEEF CLUB
The Malin Beef Club held a special meeting in the Malin Community Hall. Jack Gelder and Don Rice showed a movie on raising beef cattle. The meeting was very interesting and was viewed by Malin Beef 4-H members and Mr. Ottomson, 4-H leader of FFA. Refreshments were served.

Wanda Clark, News Reporter.

PIONEER BEEF CLUB
The meeting was called to order at the home of Mary Ellen Hess. The flag salute was led by Joe Kerns.

Old business discussed was visiting the children in the hospital, and we decided instead of this we would make cookies and take magazines to the Klamath County Nursing Home.

Under new business we discussed the weight and feed program of our calves. We decided to buy a tape that would determine the weight of the calves when it was not possible to get the scales.

Each member gave a progress report on his or her calf.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

Mary Ellen Hess, News Reporter.

MERRY BACHELORS
The Merry Bachelors met at the home of Mrs. Stone. The president called the meeting to order. The pledges were given. The minutes were read of the last meeting by the secretary. There was a demonstration given by Scott Skinner and Kenneth Skinner on hot chocolate. Then we made apple crisp which was served for refreshments.

Terry High, News Reporter.

ABC SEWERS
The meeting on March 2 was called to order by Sandy Johnson, president. The roll was taken and all members were present. Mr. Skinner and Mrs. Pearson were visitors.

We are going to send cards to the sick people in our community. We voted on a chairman to get an exhibit for National 4-H Week. Sandy Pearson is chairman and Diane West is co-chairman.

Mr. Skinner talked to us about the Empire Builders and about the 4-H fair. We asked him questions about the fair.

Carol Lee Haskins read us a letter from Lillian Hoffman.

As there was no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Myrene Cunningham, News Reporter.

THE CAKE MISSES
The members of the Cake Misses met for their fifth meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. L. E. Rodgers.

A brief business meeting was held at which the members discussed a party to be held at the next meeting. This was to take the place of the Valentine party which was canceled. The party is to be held at Elvina Ford's home.

After the meeting the members made a salad and a frankfurter dish which they sampled.

Reds Possess New Rocket, Says Expert

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — A Swedish rocket expert, who claims he knows Russia's innermost rocket secrets, reported today the Russians have developed an atomic rocket twice as powerful as anything known in the West.

Nils W. Larsson, who calls himself a "western, Klaus Fuchs," said the "world's most powerful rocket" is a two-stage missile thermonuclear heat.

Larsson told a press conference that he had witnessed the launching of giant Russian intercontinental rocket at Krasny Jar, a test center southeast of Stalingrad.

Henri Nannen, editor of the German magazine Stern (Star) and organizer of the press conference, said German rocket experts who have talked to Larsson have been unable to find any flaws in his "fantastic story."

Authoritative West German military sources said scientists who had interviewed Larsson reported that parts of his story appeared contradictory and they placed "little credence" in it.

The sources said Larsson, who once served two years in prison in Sweden for espionage, was regarded as not "fully trustworthy."

Nannen said he decided to publish Larsson's story after "grueling interviews" by West German scientists and rocket experts.

He said none of the experts could contradict the story and that one, Prof. Eugene Saenger, chief of the West German Institute for Rocket Propulsion, gave a written statement saying Larsson's story was "possible."

However, Nannen, who coached Larsson throughout the press conference, said there was a possibility Larsson was a Soviet intelligence agent sent into the West to create fear.

Larsson himself said he could produce no "proof" that he is not a Red operative.

Pair To Give Child Away

LUTON, England (AP)—An expectant British mother leaves Wednesday for South Carolina to have her baby and then give it to an American couple.

Yvonne Moore, 39, wife of a bus driver, said her infant will be born in April in North Charleston and adopted there by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Prescott, who have no children.

"I've never even wanted to hold a baby in my arms," said Mrs. Moore. "I'm giving the baby away simply because I don't want it."

Her husband, Leo, 40, ex-army sergeant, said they decided on adoption as soon as his wife knew she was pregnant.

"The Prescots have assured us the baby will have a good home and good education, and I am pleased it will bring them happiness," he said.

"I only hope the chaps at work will not take it out on me," he added. "A lot of them are married and may not understand that after 20 years without children, Yvonne and I are settled in our ways."

Moore said the Prescots are paying Mrs. Moore's air fare and medical expenses and will find her an apartment until the baby is born.

Mrs. Moore had planned to have the baby here, but the Prescots' attorney advised that the adoption procedure would be easier if the child was born in the United States and thus had American citizenship.

Morse Scores Filibustering

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), here with entries in the Louisiana State University Livestock show, said Saturday Southern senators will fail to halt civil rights legislation with their round-the-clock filibuster.

He predicted in an interview that the filibustering "can't last more than a week at most."

Morse said the filibuster can gain nothing and is "not doing the Senate any good."

He expressed concern "that the whole legislative process of the United States must stop for a while" if rights fight while much more important issues face the nation and the world.

Morse said "I think we'll get some kind of civil rights legislation. Most Southern senators actually know there is a need for it, he said, and "most of their talk is for home consumption."

Morse said he is not an extremist in the debate but that "I think we need at least a bill on voting rights this session."
