You Can Help A Refugee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—For $36, you can teach a Hong Kong refugee a trade by which he can earn a living.

For $200, you can provide furniture and household equipment for a European refugee family moving from a camp into a home of their own.

For $500, you can provide a monthly milk ration for 1,000 refugee children in North Africa.

For $1,500, you can underwrite life-long care of one aged refugee in a well-run home in Austria.

These figures come from the U.S. Committee for Refugees, which is directing American participation in the current International Refugee Year.

They were compiled for the benefit of thousands of individuals, church societies, civic clubs and other organizations that have written to the committee asking how they can help.

Knowing that Americans naturally think in terms of specific projects and concrete goals, the committee made up a long list of things that urgently need doing on behalf of refugees around the world. And it placed a realistic "price tag"—an estimated actual cost—on each of these projects.

The idea is that a group or an individual may want to adopt one particular project and underwrite its cost as a contribution to the Refugee Year effort.

The complete list can be obtained from the committee's headquarters at 11 West 42nd St., New York 36, N.Y.

The committee does not itself carry on relief work among refugees. It was created to stimulate and coordinate public support for the numerous voluntary agencies which have been serving refugee needs, to the best of their limited financial ability, since the end of World War II.
