Honolulu Nuptials United New York Couple March 5

A Honolulu wedding, of interest to Klamath Falls friends, united Sara Margaret Stewart and Andrew Ture Johnson Jr., both of New York City.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ivor Neal Stewart, Honolulu, formerly of Klamath Falls, and the late Mr. Stewart. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ture Johnson Sr., presently of Sarasota, Florida.

The 8 o'clock service was read by the Rt. Rev. Harry S. Kennedy, bishop of Honolulu, at Parke Memorial Chapel of St. Andrew's Cathedral on March 5.

The altar was banked with Queen Emma lilies, palms and many white candles. Clusters of the same fragrant blooms marked the pews.

Sara was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Angus Bynon Stewart, in the Islands before leaving for the Orient for a seven-month cruise aboard the USS Hamul for which he is medical officer.

The bride wore an imported white organdy, floor-length gown fashioned with brief sleeves and scooped neckline. Sprays of Belgian lace frosted the bodice. The full skirt swept into a brief train. Her veil of Brussels lace was brought from Europe by the bride's mother. Sara carried a white prayer book, gift of the junior bridesmaid, and a spray of white orchids and lily of the valley. She wore white Dior gloves and white satin slippers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Alan

Peterson, classmate of the bride at Punahou Academy, Honolulu. She also wore white imported organdy with scooped neckline and cap sleeves with blue satin sash and matching shoes. She carried a French corsage of blue forget-me-nots with a matching circlet in her hair.

Junior bridesmaid, eight-year-old Muriel Campbell Shingle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Shingle, Honolulu, wore a petite white organdy frock with lace apron. Her flowers were also blue forget-me-nots.

Best man was Archibald Atlee

Carwell of Hawaii.

The garden reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Carwell, at the foot of Diamond Head where masses of tropical blossoms and trees holding leathery white doves added an unusual background for the reception line and the many guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Stewart wore a full-skirted hyacinth blue chiffon dress, feather circlet in her hair and carried a sheaf of violets on a small purse. The newly-married couple honeymooned on Oahu by the sea before leaving by air to return to New York where they are now at home. The bridegroom returned to college, the new Mrs. Johnson to her position as editorial assistant with Good Housekeeping magazine. His fraternity is Lambda Chi Alpha.

A number of pre-nuptial affairs were given in their honor.

Surprise Farewell

LANGELL VALLEY—Mrs. Dick Nelson was given a surprise farewell party and handkerchief shower March 10 at the home of Mrs. Art Monroe. Co-hostess was Mrs. Haley Shaw. Mrs. Nelson was invited to come at 10 o'clock for a cup of coffee and found the group already there.

Present were Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Wes Dearborn, Mrs. Louis Randall, Mrs. Bud Harris, Mrs. Lloyd Gift, Mrs. Ray Flescher, Mrs. Enos Bland, Mrs. Doug Smelter, Mrs. George Keady, Mrs. Wayne Yancey, Mrs. Grace Blaser, Mrs. L. F. Nichols, Mrs. Howrey Roberts and Mrs. Kermit Keyser.

THE BRIDE'S TABLE for the wedding of Sara Margaret Stewart and Andrew Ture Johnson Jr., in white and silver, was centered with a handsome, three-tiered all-white wedding cake, encircled at the base with lily of the valley and white orchids. Other sprays of the orchids were used between tall silver candlesticks which held white tapers. The new Mr. and Mrs. Johnson cut the first traditional slice of cake before they toasted each other in an antique French bridegroom glass. Here, the small junior bridesmaid, Muriel Campbell Shingle, also admired the tall cake on white pedestal.
