Talk Chairman Given Honor

Alice Vandersteen, Medford, chairman of Council No. 4, International Toastmistress Club, was honored guest at last week's regular meeting of Ewauna Toastmistress Club.

Theme for the meeting was "Klamath County." Inspiration was read by Donna Journey and Lois McKendree was lexicologist.

Gloria Canton gave a speech titled "Cheaper by the Baker's Dozen" and Ramona Smith spoke on "Bridge to the Future."

Eve Morey, guest speaker from Mt. Mazama Toastmistress Club, gave a speech on "Experience and Fairy Tales."

An educational feature illustrating the structure of ITC was a prelude to Mrs. Vandersteen's talk on "Are You Getting Your Money's Worth From Toastmistress?"

Ewauna President Rowena McDonald reminded the group of the council meeting at Medford Sunday, March 20.

The club's next regular meeting will be March 28 at the Willard Hotel.

Figures Given In RC Drive

TULELAKE — The Tulelake Red Cross fund campaign, has passed the one-third mark in the campaign to raise $1,800 to support local and national activities. Under the leadership of Lewis Baker, campaign workers have reported $650 raised in the first week of the drive. Baker urges workers to complete their contacts and return contributions to the division captain.

Mrs. Kenneth Baghott's residential division has raised $110 with solicitation complete in her area. George Smith Jr. has reported $200 raised in the rural area, and James Aslett has turned in $258 from the business area. Special events have accounted for over $100 additional to the fund.

Baker points out that nearly half the local budget is used to provide chaperones and transportation to some 400 Tulelake and Newell children to take Red Cross swimming lessons at the Malin pool. Continuation of this program is dependent on local support, and Baker reminds Tulelake residents that the program is one of widespread importance.

Fur Coat Stolen From Bus

A Vancouver, British Columbia, woman told city police Thursday her expensive fur shortcoat and other items were stolen from a Greyhound bus in Klamath Falls Thursday.

Mrs. Molly Conner said her bus pulled in from Reno and stopped for half an hour in the afternoon for lunch. She left her coat, worth $325, a hat, a purse and three pairs of nylon hose aboard. They were missing when she returned after lunch, she said.

Kiwanis Club Suit Sale Successful

The Klamath Falls Kiwanis Club has found selling used men's suits to be a most rewarding financial venture.

Del Wright, chairman of the sale held last weekend, reported the success of the sale at this week's Kiwanis meeting. All proceeds will be turned over to the club's youth program. Wright announced that Kiwanians will begin immediately to collect more used suits and will conduct another sale as soon as enough suits have been gathered.

The Quota Club of Klamath Falls provided the program for the Kiwanis meeting last week. Dorothy Poole, Quota president, first traced the history and explained the purposes of Quota, then introduced several Quota members — all of whom wore hats designating their business or professional classification. David and Jerry Barnes performed two tap dance routines and Margaret Sheridan sang a group of Irish melodies, accompanied by Ninon Nyback at the piano.

This week's Kiwanis program will feature a University of Oregon symposium. Howell Appling Jr., Oregon's secretary of state, who was forced to postpone a recently scheduled Kiwanis appearance, will be the speaker at the April 21 meeting. On May 28, the Kiwanis Club will hold its annual Citizenship Award banquet, honoring a group of 18 students from the various county schools. Sterry Ganges of Visalia, California, former U.S. Chamber of Commerce director, and reputedly one of the nation's top after dinner speakers, will be the principal speaker at the award banquet.

New Addition To Mission Near Finish

The new addition to the Klamath Falls Gospel Mission is being completed almost 100 per cent through donations of materials, cash and labor of men helped by the mission. Valuation will reach $25,000. When started, the building fund contained $700 in cash.

The two-story and basement pumice tile structure provides an additional 3,600 square feet to the original building. The addition, built to the rear of the property, will accommodate a 60-bed dormitory, 30 x 50 feet, kitchen, dining room, check room, shower rooms, freeze room and cold room. Laundry, restrooms, and utility room.

The present structure which has been outgrown will have kitchen space and dining room used for other purposes.

All of the work on the basement with picks and shovels, and much of the other building has been done by men who have stopped at the mission. Employees of business firms have assisted with technical installations without charge.

During February the mission served 2,454 free meals, gave shelter to 875 men, distributed 353 items of clothing, gave 329 shaves, 1,069 men attended services in the sanctuary and 25 were helped at the altar. Three families, one with nine children, were also given assistance.

It is impossible, according to Mission Superintendent John Pederson, to give names of the individuals who have given cash donations to the mission for the new addition. The names of the following firms were released by Pederson: Bly Logging Company, Kenneth Nelson Construction, Brosthus Construction, Friesen-Welman Plumbing, Jack Klassen, Newell, California, Swan Lake Moulding, Heaton Steel, Johns-Manville, Dick Howard, at Big Y, Bob Waggoner, Hillis Refrigeration, Modoc Lumber, Diamond Lake Lumber.

Keasterson Lumber, Siphnot Soil-builders, South Sixth Street Oxygen, Russell Glass, Lewis Manufacturing, City of Klamath Falls, Leach Electric, Paul Hannah from Motley's, employees of Welman Plumbing, Leonard Sandwick, electrician, Klamath Pumice Tile, Metler Brothers, Gus Blanas, of Cascade Hotel, A & B Paint Store.

Carole Rests With Folks

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Carole Tregoff today tasted her first full day of freedom since entering county jail more than five months ago.

The red-haired mistress of Dr. R. Bernard Finch rested at the home of her parents in nearby South Pasadena and planned only to live quietly until her new trial starts May 23.

Miss Tregoff and Finch are accused of slaying the sedate physician's wife, Barbara Jean, 33, last July 18. Their trial on charges of murder and conspiracy to murder ended in a hung jury last Saturday.

The 23-year-old ex-model was released Friday on $25,000 bail posted by two bonding companies retained by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Tregoff, for a premium of $2,500.

Miss Tregoff's father and step-mother tried for more than a day to raise the full amount to avoid paying the 10 per cent premium, but turned to the bail bondsmen when the attempts proved futile. The $2,500 was raised among the family.

An emotional scene followed Miss Tregoff's release as she hugged her parents tearfully while her three attorneys, newsmen and photographers looked on outside county jail.

Before departing from the jail, Miss Tregoff met briefly with Finch, who must remain in his cell until the re-trial. The undisturbed surgeon gripped Carole's hand and said he was happy over her release.

Five Demos, One GOPer Go On Ballot

Democrats will have a choice of five presidential candidates in the primary election May 20. Republicans have only one candidate.

This news comes from the secretary of state, who Thursday mailed a certified copy of state and national candidates to County Clerk Charley Delap.

The certified copy is for preparation of Klamath County ballots, and it looks like the ballots will be long indeed.

We have numerous candidates for county offices, of course, but the bulk will be created by candidates for the two national conventions this summer.

Democrats must choose 24 delegates from a whopping list of 88 candidates; Republicans must select 10 delegates from 37 candidates.

Delap said the law may require that all candidates for one office appear in the same column on ballots. If that's the case, some ballots may be a yard long, or longer.

Each convention delegate candidate, as with any other, may add his slogan to his name. Some certified by the secretary of state are interesting.

One of the 89 Democratic candidates says, "Wasn't kicked by a horse, but I'm for Morse." Another maintains he will support "Any worthy Democrat capable of saving the country from Nixon."

Several candidates supported Adlai Stevenson, although Stevenson is not one of the party's five candidates for president. Another said, "I agree with Eleanor Roosevelt."

A Republican candidate for the convention pledged, "An all-out fight for your choice for president," although Vice President Nixon is the party's only presidential candidate.

Two slogans read, "Action — not slogans."

Delap said these convention delegates plus candidates for president, Senate, and Congress, will appear on county ballots with county offices, including 21 candidates for the county court and eight candidates for sheriff.

Each voter will get another ballot, with a lone state proposition, a proposal to raise legislative salaries from $600 to $2,100 a year.

Klamath Falls voters will get a third ballot, a city proposition for or against the controversial Green River Ordinance.

Voters in the Odell Justice District also will get a third ballot listing three nonpartisan candidates for justice of the peace. The Odell District includes the four northernmost precincts in the county.

Ballots have not yet been printed, although all names to appear on them have been certified. Printing will require some time, because, among other steps, they must be proofread three or four times. When they do arrive, they'll be long.

MILTOWN CANCELED OUT
NEW YORK (UPI)—Three new drugs designed to combat emotional depression have entered the pill sweepstakes.

The new drugs—Nardil, Niamid and Trofranil—are the exact opposite of the currently popular tranquilizers. They are said to bring patients "up" to normal instead of toning "down" anxieties as do tranquilizers.
