

Medics Save Choke Victim

McKEESPORT, Pa. (AP)—Surgeons cut open the chest of Margaret Whitehead, 59, and revived her heart beat with a 25-minute massage Monday at McKeesport Hospital.

Suffering from a choking attack, the woman was en route to the hospital in an ambulance when her heart apparently stopped beating.

In the hospital's emergency room surgeons massaged Mrs. Whitehead's heart for 20 minutes; faint beats started. The massage was continued for 25 minutes.

Mrs. Whitehead, still unconscious, was placed in an iron lung. She was reported in critical condition.

OREGON REPRESENTATIVE Shirley Field, (R) left, met Saturday, March 19, with Klamath County GOPs on her initial appearance as candidate for the office of state treasurer. She will oppose Howard Belton, (R) incumbent, in the May primaries. Right is Fred Heard, Klamath Falls, state chairman of the Oregon Republican College League.

Treasurer Candidate Hits Services Centralization

Representative Shirley Field (R, Multnomah), a candidate for the Republican nomination of state treasurer, speaking at a dinner in her honor Saturday, March 19, said, "We want to be sure that the services performed and offered to the people are where the people can make the most and best use of them." She was introduced by Fred Heard, state chairman of the Oregon Republican College League.

The dinner at the Winema Hotel was well attended with all Klamath County Republican candidates among the guests. The invocation was given by the Rev. George Murray, pastor of St. Paul's Church. Miss Fields was also honored at a luncheon Saturday at the Pelican Cafe which was well attended. She was a guest of Klamath County Treasurer Eva Cook.

Continuing, the speaker attacked a suggestion made in high places in Oregon that "all of our government agencies under state jurisdiction be centered in the state capital at Salem."

She further continued, "in the field of mental illness, the trained psychiatrist as well as the psychologist and social worker, needed to bring their knowledge to find solutions for the problems of individuals beset with mental illness, are not found throughout the state."

"As a matter of fact," she said, "with the exception of a psychiatrist on the Pendleton State Hospital staff, those on the Oregon State Hospital staff in Salem, one or two in the Eugene area, two in Salem and one in Medford, I believe, there are no other psychiatrists in the state available to help in this major challenge except in the Portland area. We must devise ways of getting out trained personnel spread throughout the state."

She mentioned that indications are good for Klamath Falls to assume the position of being the largest city between Portland and Sacramento in 1970.

"We should busy ourselves with the problems involved of a growing metropolitan area in Klamath Falls. She cited the industrial expansion in the Klamath Basin which includes the Weyerhaeuser Company's hardwood plant and the new $125 million Johns-Manville insulating board plant as being two signs of the future in the Klamath area.

The GOP state treasurer hopeful said, "this is a good buying area with sound purchasing power available for all types of business, not the least of which is retail trade."

In discussing Oregon Technical Institute, Representative Field said, "as a member of the Interim Committee on Education, we looked into the course offering of the school and I felt that some things should be done to upgrade the curriculum of this institution to justify it as Oregon's only technical institute in that it should have programs and curriculum that fit into the type of economy Oregon is surely to have in the 1960s."

Concluding, Miss Fields commented, "I, of course, have great confidence in the ability of people in Oregon to adjust to changing circumstances in meeting the challenges of government performing in the areas where it must perform to prove the services necessary to make this state the great one its future foretells."

This visit was the first for Representative Field's current campaign tour.

A campaign committee was lined up during her visit and an opportunity given the candidate to meet with many local GOP as possible.

News Brings Little Relief To Man In Kentucky Jail

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Shuffle Sam is skeptical.

Is he happy over the distinction of being the only person for whom the United States Supreme Court upset two $10 fines in a police court case?

"Well, yes and no," said Sam Thompson from his cell.

Sam currently is serving a six-month sentence on four other misdemeanor charges, so the news brought no immediate relief.

Besides, Sam allowed all this publicity might make him the target of future arrests, and Sam, who is 45, has had enough of that. He has been arrested more than 70 times in 20 years.

It was the one that happened Jan. 24, 1959, that caused all the stir.

Sam was doing a shuffle dance in the middle of a cafe floor while waiting for the bus. For no reason at all to hear Sam tell it, the police hauled him in for loitering and when he put up an argument, disorderly conduct.

Sam's lawyer took the case all the way to Washington, and the nine austere justices, intrigued over Sam and his shuffle dance, decided Monday there was no evidence to support the charges.

The fact that Sam Thompson was the subject of Supreme Court argument failed to impress Shuffle Sam much.

When the case was first argued Sam was doing 30 days on a public drunkenness charge and couldn't have cared less.

He claimed the reason he was picked up in the cafe in the first place was because he had hired a lawyer to defend him on a previous rap instead of pleading guilty, like always.

This, he felt, made the police sore at him.

Sam fingered a sheaf of newspaper clippings sent to him from all over the country.

He decided to say nothing. It could make it worse, he indicated, all this notoriety. He believed he'd rather not have his picture taken.

Besides, he said, he needed a haircut.

BUILD EVERY RAMBLER AS THOUGH YOU WERE GOING TO OWN IT YOURSELF

"You Bet I'm Proud of the Way We Build Every Rambler!"

"I'm one of the 25 thousand workers who build Rambler. Like most of us, I've worked in automobile plants practically all my life. That's why I can say that this sign above me is more than just a slogan on a factory wall.
"We began to think and work this way about five years ago—we know it helped make Rambler sales rise. We know it's an important reason why we're working 24 hours a day, 6 days a week to fill your orders.
"We're determined to keep building cars the way we would want them built for our own use. We think this is the way we can keep Rambler sales and jobs going up and build our own future."
Yes, it's the people on the line who make Rambler a better car... who do the thousand and one little things it takes to finish a car right.
It's the precise way they fit the doors... seal the vent windows... tailor the upholstery... all as if they were going to own the car themselves.

it is stronger, safer and lastingly quiet. But in copying Rambler, some cars have gone only halfway, ending their unit construction at the fire-wall.
Others still use a few nuts and bolts, joining body to frame, instead of Rambler's welded construction.
Rambler quality, too, means Deep-Dip* rustproofing—the entire body is submerged in primer paint.
Most cars get only spraying—no dip at all. Others get only a "tip-toe" dip along the bottom eighteen inches.
Rambler gives you a better choice
Rambler gives you the widest choice in the compact car field... 33 different models, including 17 station wagons.
Many people don't realize that there are three distinct classes of compact cars—small compact cars, all-purpose compact cars, and compact luxury cars. Only Rambler dealers sell them all.
All of the new initiators are in the smaller car class competing with the Rambler American. Despite claims to the contrary, these cars do not have sufficient shoulder room to ride six big men in comfort.
The 108-inch wheelbase Rambler Six and Rebel V-8 are true all-purpose compact cars. They have the big car room and comfort needed for six 6-footers. Yet they have the handling ease and economy of smaller cars.
At the very top of the compact field is the 250-horsepower Ambassador V-8 by Rambler—America's only compact luxury car. The Ambassador offers luxury car performance, comfort, room and appointments plus the maneuverability of a compact car, yet costs hundreds of dollars less than other luxury cars.

Rambler gives you more—for less money
Manufacturers' suggested factory delivered prices prove Rambler the lowest-priced U. S. car.
It holds the postwar Mobilgas Economy Run records as well as NASCAR transcontinental economy records.
And Rambler owners find repair costs are much lower because Rambler is built better. Insurance rates are less.
According to official used car guides, Rambler has higher resale value.
Ask any Rambler owner what Rambler quality means in terms of real motoring enjoyment. Then prove it to yourself. See and drive the 1960 Rambler at your Rambler Dealer's today.
