

MOLDED LEMON DESSERT with custard sauce featured here is low in calories. You can look on it as party fare with a decorative air and a flair for keeping the waistline slim. It has a touch of spring about it and is mighty pretty to look at and good to eat. Photo and recipe suggestions courtesy of D-Zerta Dietary Gelatin and Pudding.

NEW Pink Lotion Stopette Roll-On has been created to answer "deodorant switching dilemma." Both Pink Lotion and Blue Liquid Roll-Ons are offered in new jumbo size.

STOPETTE

It has come to light that many women have been "deodorant hopping" for years, trying first one and then another.

The makers of Stopette felt called upon to put a stop to this deodorant "Russian Roulette" nonsense. So they have come out with new Pink Lotion and Blue Liquid Roll-On deodorant-antiperspirants. They are two distinct formulations which give the same superb protection.

When a woman feels that "immunity" problem rearing its ugly head, she simply begins to use the other Stopette roll-on.

It is easy to use either Stopette roll-on. Application is swift and sure. Your hands never touch the liquid. The extra-wide applicator balls distribute just the right amount to provide day-long protection. And, the jumbo size is in a lovely new tall and tapering bottle which is a pretty bathroom accessory.

Some like the liquid; some like the lotion. Stopette has both.

SERVE CHERRY-WINE SAUCE

Drain syrup from a can of sweet dark cherries and boil down to half its volume. Add a little lemon juice and California Port wine along with the cherries. Cool and spoon over ice cream, toasted angel food cake or baked meringues.

Gourmette Ripe Olives

If you haven't tried them, you certainly should.

Wyandotte's new Gourmette Large Ripe Olives, we mean.

These olives are pitted and spiced — delightfully.

Wyandotte has been the big name in the Mission olive variety for some 40 years. They have had fine acceptance on the Klamath Falls market in the pits-in ripe olive pack, the pitted ripe olive pack, chopped and now their new spiced pack.

You'll eat them "like peanuts," once you try them. They are so handy for cocktail parties and buffet meals. No one has to look for a place to put the pits — there aren't any.

During Lent, olives make a fine addition to meatless casseroles and add protein and other nutrients. They add good flavor and texture to sandwich fillings and are perfect accompaniment for finger-eating salad plates and all party affairs.

RIPE OLIVES PEP UP SOUP

This quick and delicious soup, concocted from cans, has home-made flavor. Turn a can of condensed cream of chicken soup into a soup and add a cup of canned tomatoes, a pinch of chili powder, some chopped green onion and a generous half-cup of ripe olive wedges. Heat slowly to simmering, and serve topped with a sprinkling of grated Parmesan cheese. Ripe olives make an unusual and delicious ingredient in many soups.

CLING PEACH TRIFLE GOOD!

Grandma's English Trifle sometimes featured cling peaches. For a modern version of this luscious dessert, prepare it using canned cling peaches and vanilla pudding mix. Line a serving dish with lady fingers or slices of pound cake. Sprinkle with Sherry wine. Top with raspberry preserves, cling peach slices and a chilled custard sauce prepared from packaged vanilla pudding using three cups milk. Garnish with puffs of whipped cream before serving.

BROILING TIPS

Clip the edges of steak before placing in the broiler to prevent curling and burning.

SUGAR COOKIES

Flavor sugar cookies with grated orange rind and add coconut for a delightful taste change.
