'Two Faced Look' Proves Popular In New Stylings

LOS ANGELES—New spring outerwear can turn a fellow into a sartorial chameleon, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

This refers, of course, to the wonderful new reversible jackets and pullovers—solid knits on one side, patterned woven fabrics on the other.

There are other reversibles in both Continental styles and golf jackets that combine light and dark shades of poplin. According to exhibitors at the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, scheduled for February 21-25 at the Biltmore here, the Continental influence is very strong in the styling of spring outerwear this year. Fancy yoke and shoulder treatments combine with typical Italian-style collars to present a completely new style aspect to these highly practical garments.

Many of the European-inspired jackets use buttons instead of zippers although the slide-fastened models are still the most popular by far. Action backs and swinging sleeves are just two of the comfort features incorporated in these handsome, newly arrived blouses and jackets.

There are patch pockets, slash pockets, flap pockets, "dog ear" pockets with button-down flap corners, and pockets that are practically concealed in the seams.

Jackets outside the reversible group also manage to get plenty of interior style via new fancy linings. These range from bright solid colors to stripes and fancy prints.

matter of FACT

Can you remember when grandma used to put "anti-macassars" on her chairs? Back in the 1800s they served a very useful purpose. The men used to grease their hair with macassar oil. The anti-macassar protected the chairs they sat in. Later the anti-macassar became a fancy and useless ornament.
