Valve In Heart Echoes Romance EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — The plastic valve in Norman Allen's heart echoed his love life. When he danced with a pretty girl, his ticks could be heard across the room. "If I'm excited, it gets very loud and fast," explained the 27-year-old clerk whose friends call him "Norman the Ticker." "Sometimes," he said, "it seems to keep time to tunes on the radio, especially the cha-cha." Allen got the plastic valve in an operation to correct a heart ailment four years ago. Without it, he probably would have died. "Now I lead a completely normal life and sometimes even play football," Allen told a reporter. "This constant tick-tack is embarrassing, though, especially when you're out with a girl." When he goes to the movies, people start looking for the hidden clock. But three months ago Allen met a girl who understands the message of his tick-tack heart. "Now he's going to ask his doctor if it's all right for him to get married." Doctors have told Allen they could replace his plastic valve with a silent American type. He turned them down. "Without this ticker, I'd just be a nobody again," he said.

Survey Shows Strong Move To Give Power To Majority

By FREDERICK K. POOLE United Press International The indignation urban resident who finds his state controlled by rural legislators may have relief in sight. A United Press International survey of all state capitals today showed a strong, if still inconclusive, trend to put power back in the hands of the population majority — which by now has switched to the cities. The fight for proportional representation is an old one, but in recent weeks it has gained impetus from well-organized battles of force change via federal and state courts. For years most of the nation's state legislatures have ignored their own constitutional provisions to reapportion themselves every ten years. Consequently in many cases the farmers who were in a majority when the state constitutions were adopted still control the legislatures even though they now are in a minority. For example, Alabama has not affected reapportionment since 1901; Iowa since 1904; Indiana, 1921; Nebraska, 1937; Oklahoma, 1919; North Dakota, 1931; Mississippi, 1890 — Vermont not for at least 40 years. However, current action, sometimes by civic groups, sometimes by popular initiative, sometimes by new power groups within the legislatures themselves, is leading to change. And as change comes, it points generally to increased power to cities, to the Democratic Party which controls so many cities, to groups supporting liberal reform. In the North and West this apparently means power for labor unions and other groups associated with the Democratic Party. In the one-party South it apparently means power for groups within the Democratic Party which take a more liberal view on civil rights. In Massachusetts the Legislature, which recently went Democratic after years under Republican control, is in the process of reapportioning in a manner which many observers feel will keep it Democratic for years to come. Sometimes the rural-urban lines are not so clear cut, but more states than not have had legislators representing a minority of their citizens. As more and more voters move to central locations, the inequity increases. And as the inequity so does the moves — such as the current court tests — to wipe it out.

Official Asks Jewish Funds

PORTLAND (AP) — Robert Briscoe, a former lord mayor of Dublin, Sunday night launched a Northwest tour to help raise money for the United Jewish Appeal. Some of the money will go to Israel, and Briscoe said similar problems are faced by the Middle East nation and Ireland. "Both of these little countries have suffered persecution and despair. Both are in need of economic development," said Briscoe, the first Jew ever elected lord mayor of Dublin. Ireland each year loses up to 50,000 of its most promising young people, Briscoe said, because the nation's economy cannot provide adequate employment for them. "On the other hand, Israel has the serious problem of trying to expand its industrial potential as rapidly as money and time permit in order to absorb the Jews who are being transplanted in that country."

Expectant Mom Fractures Legs

MIAMI (UPI) — An expectant mother, both her legs broken, lay for 12 hours in an open boat on Biscayne Bay here Sunday. The boat was impaled on a piling under a busy causeway but motorists passing overhead could not see it. Mrs. Walter Davidson, 26, expecting a child in July, survived the ordeal and was in fair condition at a hospital today. Her husband, airline pilot Walter Davidson, said he was steering the motorboat under the causeway across Biscayne Bay Saturday night when it struck the piling in the darkness. The impact broke Mrs. Davidson's legs and impaled the boat, Davidson said. He fired several flares without effect.

Thieves Strip Radio Gear

Thieves stripped a plane of its radio gear at Klamath Municipal Airport again, city police learned over the weekend. A similar theft occurred there some months ago. The thieves entered the city hangar which, by regulation, is left unlocked. They broke into a locked Piper Cub owned by the Klamath Locos flight club by prying a door. Then they removed a Mitchell Airboy Senior radio, measuring eight by 10 by 19 inches, worth $150. The plane was damaged slightly. The theft was discovered by Lloyd Newlon of Klamath Falls early Saturday. Thieves also took four batteries from a car owned by Dan Cowbey, 1832 1/2 Fargo Street, March 28 as the car was parked near the Ellingson Lumber Company where Cowbey works nights. Cowbey reported the theft over the weekend. And James Wolverson, 719 Cook Street, reported to officers someone entered an unlocked garage belonging to James Sudbury, 110 Nevada Avenue, sometime during the past two months, and stole two tires he, Wolverson, was storing there.

Crash Injures Mother, Child

Little Shannon Rae Fowles, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fowles, live at 1517 Siskiyou Street, was seriously injured in an auto accident at Eugene Sunday morning. Shannon, 2 1/2, suffered possible skull fracture and concussion. She was reported in poor condition at Sacred Heart Hospital, Eugene. Her mother, Bonnie Fowles, 21, suffered a possible fracture of the left collar bone, and was reported in good condition Monday morning. The driver, George Ernest Cook, 42, 1322 Siskiyou, suffered numerous cuts and bruises. Diana Gayle Cook, 15, and Gloria Knutson, 4, also passengers in the Cook vehicle, were given outpatient treatment for minor injuries. A member of the Cook family said Monday Cook was driving the Knutson girl to her home in Vancouver. He was involved in a collision at an intersection with a Eugene man, Robert Livingston. The car went into a spin and the door on the passenger side flew open. The Fowles girl was thrown out. She landed against a curb and her mother fell upon her. Cook, too, was thrown out, and landed about 50 feet from the mother and a daughter, reports indicated. Mrs. Fowles had accompanied the group to help Cook drive. Her husband, who was fishing on the Klamath River, was notified by state police of the accident.

Police Report Fender Benders

No injuries resulted from a trio of minor traffic accidents over the weekend in Klamath Falls. City police charged Royce Hubert Owens, 48, 2337 Garden Avenue, with drunkenness after a collision between his car and a one driven by George A. Smith of Tulelake at Sixth Street and Washburn Way Saturday afternoon. Damage was slight. Owens forfeited $50 in municipal court Monday morning. Officers also investigated a collision between cars driven by Jack Joe Gaston, 623 East Main Street, and Everett Eugene Metler, 5122 Bryant Avenue, Sunday evening at the intersection of East Main Street and Garden Avenue. Officers said rain was falling heavily and visibility was poor. The oncoming motorists did not see each other and collided as Metler was making a left turn onto Garden. Damage was minor and no citations were issued. A third accident involved cars driven by Carol Lee Moench, 1245 Highway 99 South, and Charles Walter Freeman of Portola, California, at Main and Tenth streets Saturday night. Police said the Freeman car rammied from behind and dinged the Moench vehicle somewhat. They said traffic was extremely heavy. No citations were issued. Officers also had towed from restricted zones cars owned by Granville Pace, 524 North High Street, and David Slagle, 1321 Pleasant Avenue, over the weekend. Both were taken to Clyde's Towing and Storage Service.

Shooting Trial Opens In Court

Trial opened in circuit court today for Frank L. Lounsbury Jr., 21, accused of shooting a fellow employee during an impromptu Christmas party where the two men worked. Lounsbury is charged with assault with intent to kill. He is accused of shooting Paul Clay, 37, in the abdomen with a newly-purchased .22 caliber revolver. Police said an argument between the two men developed during a private drinking party at the Schulze Tire Service, where both were employed; had closed the evening of Saturday, December 19. Lounsbury, presently free on bail, is being represented by Attorney Richard Smith. The state is represented by Deputy District Attorney O. W. Goakley. Early hours of the trial before Judge David R. Vandenberg were occupied with selection of a jury.

Fire Calls Noted

Fire scorched the walls and ceiling of a kitchen and living room in a home occupied by James Clements, 734 North Tenth Street, at 9:05 a.m. Saturday, city firemen said. They added Clements was heating a gallon of tar on a stove. The tar exploded, sending flames racing, they said. Fire also damaged a garage owned by Leonard J. Locher, 1836 Manzanita Street, Saturday evening. City firemen said Locher apparently left a fireplace smoldering in the structure, converted to a storeroom. The walls and ceiling were scorched.

Funerals SMITH

Funeral services for Adolph P. (Jim) Smith, 71, who died in this city March 26, will be held in O'Hair's Memorial Chapel Tuesday, March 29, at 2:30 p.m. Klamath Lodge No. 77 AF&AM officiating. Interment will be made in Klamath Memorial Park. Contributions may be made to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children Portland Unit.

Police Report Gun Mishaps

The era of the fast draw may have passed. State police reported this weekend two gunshot wounds resulting from practice with 22 caliber revolvers. Officers said Charles Rasdal of Merrill was wounded in the chest when he was practicing his fast draw with a gun he didn't know was loaded. And Kenneth Eldred Ross, 25, Mount Hebron, was unloading his revolver after target practice when the cylinder jammed and he was shot in his middle finger. Both accidents occurred Saturday evening. Both men were treated at Klamath Valley Hospital and released.

The Rev. Wilbur E. Brumbaugh has announced his resignation as pastor of the Church of the Brethren, effective June 1. He will accept a call to go to the national headquarters of the church in Elgin, Illinois, to serve as assistant editor of Church School Publications. Mrs. Phillips Demise Told

A one-time Klamath Falls resident, Mrs. Drayton Phillips, (Berneice Heidemann), died unexpectedly at her home in New York City Saturday, March 26. Word of her death was telephoned to friends here. She had lived in New York since 1945. Mrs. Phillips was co-owner of a beauty shop in Klamath Falls and at the time of her death was associated with Helena Rubinstein as a consultant. During her years in the East she made an outstanding advancement in the field of cosmetology, with a clientele of famous names. During World War II she headed the Commandoes in Klamath Falls, a local, war-inspired woman's organization for the rehabilitation of war wounded servicemen. Efforts of this group, which played a large part in the return of badly injured men to normal lives, was chronicled in the American and Cosmopolitan magazines. She was married to Drayton Phillips, who survives her. Funeral services will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 29, at the Church of Frank Campbell, Madison Avenue at 81st Street, New York City. Final rites will be in Pendleton where her mother, Mrs. Iva Biggerstaff lives.

MERRILL—Mrs. Dollie Moore, Camp Fire leader from the Klamath Falls office, will show slides of the Lake of the Woods residence camp to the combined group of Camp Fire and Blue Bird girls Wednesday, March 30, at the Merrill Grade School immediately after school. KF Telephones Show Increase

Klamath Falls telephones reached a total of 15,355 on January 1, according to figures announced this week by Pacific Telephone-Northwest Manager T. W. Cole. Cole said the first of the year figures included 1,636 new phones placed in service in the Klamath Falls area during 1959, one of the company's busiest years locally. "Since 1950," Cole said, "the number of telephones here has increased half again. It certainly underlines the growth of the community itself."

Assaults Reported

A local woman told city police over the weekend that a strange man who was walking ahead of her as she was on her way home from a grocery store Friday turned suddenly, exposed himself and made a grab for her. She said she ran away and the man left rapidly in the other direction. Other miscellaneous cases handled by police over the weekend included a report by a local youth that two other youths followed him home and fought him because he backed his car from a grocery store parking lot, causing the other youths in an oncoming car to stop. The youth said he punched one of his assailants and they both jumped him, wrestled with him, then left.

Beating Story Given Police

City police received conflicting reports over the weekend of an alleged beating of Jack Lee Estep, 408 Cameron, Klamath Falls, last Wednesday. Estep was treated by a local doctor for a badly lacerated eye he said he got by a kick from Donald Huitt Switlick. Officers said the doctor told them Estep might lose his eye if he is not careful with treatment. One woman told police Estep was sleeping in a yard at 925 1/2 Anderson Street when Switlick entered and kicked Estep in the head. Switlick was angered over a report Estep had made to the police recently concerning a friend of Switlick's, the woman said. She said Switlick had beaten Estep once before because of the same aggravation. Estep, however, told officers he and Switlick were in the yard talking about judo and karate. Switlick admitted being "pretty good" at both, having been stationed with the Marines in Japan for a time. Estep admitted being "pretty good myself." He talled over, he said, and Switlick kicked him, then left. He said there had been no argument prior to the kicking. Officers have not talked to Switlick.

New Trial Faces Michael Joseph

District Attorney Arthur Beddos said today the state definitely will bring Michael Joseph to trial on the second of two first degree murder charges originally made against him. Joseph, a 52-year-old mason, was acquitted late Friday of murdering Harry Deman, 36, at the Delbert Lang ranch near Chiloquin last September 20. By a 10-2 verdict, a jury found him not guilty after two weeks of trial. The defendant also was charged with first degree murder in the death of Okie Richards, 34, at the same time and place. No date for that trial has been set. Joseph was represented in the previous trial by Attorneys Freeman Murray and David Card, both appointed by the court.
