

DELICIOUS CRAB, toothsome buns and other crab feed trimmings, combined to make the 1960 party for women one of the most memorable affairs of the year. The dinner, served in the Klamath Falls Auditorium, March 11, was the annual party for wives and sweethearts of members of Klamath Falls Lodge, BPOElks. Bernie Rawlins, annual chairman, was assisted by willing members of the lodge as a serving crew. Mrs. Bernie (Jean) Rawlins was responsible for the calls that brought the helpers together. Between 1,100 and 1,200 women were present. Entertainment was by the Elks Band under the baton of Ray Bigger, director. Left to right are Mrs. Rudy Paygr, Malin; Mrs. Jack Henry, Bernie Rawlins, Mrs. H. H. Ogle and Mrs. Fred Heilbronner, all of Klamath Falls.

Beauty Tips For Travel

If you're contemplating a first trip to Europe, there are definite beauty tips to keep in mind.

For one thing, European hotels do not place soap in the bathroom. So bring your own and bear in mind that many cities (Paris, for one) have hard water. If your skin is delicate, take along water softener.

Undoubtedly, you'll have your hair done while you're abroad.

European salons generally are excellent but you'll do best to bring your own shampoo. Many shampoos now come packaged in miniature plastic containers holding enough for one shampoo each. Tuck some of these into the corners of your suitcase. Bring along your own cleansing tissues. They are not easily available in Europe, and where they are, they are expensive.

Naomi Shrine

Ruth Rodenberger, worthy high priestess, and Elvin Phillips, watchman of shepherds, entertained their officers and members with a delicious ham dinner in the banquet room of the Masonic Temple on Saturday evening, March 12. The tables were decorated in the Shrine colors, yellow and white, with candles and flowers tastefully arranged.

After the members assembled in the lodge room, Willis Girden, eminent commander of Calvary Commandery, Knights Templar, escorted by Edmund Chilcote and Charles Leih, all in full dress uniform, entered, displaying the new Christian Flag, a gift to the Shrine by the worthy high priestess and watchman of shepherds. Edmund Chilcote made the presentation as the flag was placed in the east. Elvin Phillips, who is also grand commander of Oregon, introduced and thanked the Knights Templar. After the opening of the meeting, Isabel Sanders, district deputy, was escorted, introduced and seated in the east. Helen McCornack, chairman of material objective, and Jack Schulze, supreme assistant guard, were introduced as were the following past officers: Nell Retterath, Irene Markham, Vera Fritsch, Blanche Schulze, George Retterath and James Hunter.

NEWEST IDEA

Newest idea for spring prints is coat and dress in a matching print. Coat is always lined, of course, in a solid color picked up from the print.

Schulze, worthy treasurer; Lois Gueck, worthy shepherdess; and Geneva Swift, worthy guide presented the order in thanking them for the dinner.

Yearly reports were read by the officers after which a clever adendum was presented for the worthy high priestess and watchman of shepherds in the form of a treasure hunt. The discovery of the many clues finally led them to the west where gifts from the officers were hidden. The presiding officers thanked their officers for their gifts and all the members of the Shrine for the cooperation they enjoyed during the past year. Nell Retterath thanked them in behalf of the members for the new Chris-
