

Demo Lists Ethics Plan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — California Democratic party leader Paul Ziffren outlined a formula for an ethical campaign practices code to clean up political campaigns—and was accused of being slightly unethical.

Edward S. Shattuck, Republican national committee chairman for California, said the fair practice code should not be a "political football" and requested that all subsequent releases about it be made jointly by the two parties.

Ziffren, Democratic national committee chairman for California, Saturday released contents of a letter he sent to Shattuck outlining the code.

He said the Democratic party of Los Angeles County adopted the code July 19, 1959, and he hoped the GOP would also adopt it.

Ziffren said he hoped the code would prevent what could be "one of the dirtiest political campaigns in history."

The code, developed by Don Belding, a retired advertising executive and a Republican, would require a political party to withdraw support from any candidate violating ethical standards.

Each candidate under the code would be required to avoid mention of his opponent's race or religion and to refrain from release of new published material in the last 72 hours before balloting.

Board Mulls Book Ruling

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Board of Education meets here Thursday and Friday to discuss a board - Legislature stalemate over elementary textbooks.

The board voted March 10 to purchase five million privately printed books for the first time since 1931. All previous texts have been printed by the state.

But the Legislature voted to restrict the purchase by rejecting a $2,500,000 addition to the state budget to help meet the higher cost of privately printed texts.

Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, said he had asked Attorney General Stanley Mosk for an opinion on whether the board's constitutional authority has been infringed by the Legislature's action.

Simpson also asked if the board's previous action adopting the books binds it to buy the texts.

In other action, the board will study proposed unification of 14 school districts in Fresno and Madera counties.

Discuss formation of two new junior college districts in Colusa and Glenn counties.

Act on a suggested new social studies program to give greater emphasis to economics, geography, history and political science and take driver training and other nonacademic courses out of social studies.

Discuss a 250-million-dollar five-year expansion plan for 15 state colleges to nearly double student capacity at the institutions.

Can't Count Rocky Out Says Indiana Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) said today Guy Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York can't be counted on as a GOP presidential possibility despite President Eisenhower's fresh endorsement of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

TV Performer Taking Basic

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Television performer David Nelson started his second day of duty today at Lackland Air Force Base.

He stays in a weekly show with his father, Ozzie Nelson, his mother and a young brother.

David, 21, is taking eight weeks basic training with the 3710th Air National Guard Training Squadron. He will be assigned to an Air National Guard squadron in Van Nuys, Calif., after completion of training.

"Dick Nixon has been a credit to the administration, our party, next three months. Since 1952 he has gained nearly eight years of added governmental experience at the highest level—a tour of duty in the nation's history."

"All of us know him as a man of integrity and deep faith—one who is intelligent, mature, and uniquely knowledgeable in the problems and personalities in the world scene. And along with this, he has that priceless gift, a sense of humor — indispensable in politics."

This was the broadest and most direct endorsement Eisenhower has given to Nixon. It seemed calculated to silence critics who suggested that the President had endorsed Nixon only because there was no major opposition after Rockefeller announced his withdrawal from competition.

Capehart, who supported the New York governor, finds Nixon acceptable as the prospective party nominee, but he said there is still a chance that the Chicago convention delegates will turn to Rockefeller if Nixon's political position appears to weaken in the next three months.

Capehart said he thinks Nixon will be able to top Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, in the vote count in the May 3 Indiana primary. Both are unopposed on their own party's ballots.

But it was obvious that Capehart agreed with some other Republicans that a weak showing by Nixon in today's Wisconsin primary might damage his prestige and might set off a movement toward Rockefeller.

Nixon thus far has avoided any active campaigning, but Capehart and Kuchel agreed that the time is near when Nixon must strike out on his own.

Capehart, who is bidding for a fourth Senate term, said he thinks the time has come when Nixon "should be telling the people what he stands for and what he would do if he were elected president."
