FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—The Gore Publishing Co. says it will merge the weekly Pompano Beach Sun into a new morning newspaper, the Sun-Sentinel, which starts publication April 18 to serve North Broward and South Palm Beach counties.

T. T. Gurr, president of the Gore Publishing Co., said the combined Sun-Sentinel "will present a fully coordinated newspaper" which will sell for 20 cents a week or five cents a copy. It also will be offered in combination with the Fort Lauderdale Evening News at 50 cents a week.

Transfer Slated

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP)—Capt. John P. Gerich, who has been battling ice all winter, will be transferred south in June.

German, captain of the Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw, has been in charge of icebreaking operations in the northern part of the Great Lakes. Effective June 15, he takes command of the Coast Guard base at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Primary Interpretation Depends On Spokesman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They're still talking about the Wisconsin primary, and what it means seems to depend on which party the spokesman belongs to. Here are some late returns:

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York (Republican): "It didn't sound very decisive for anyone. I wouldn't draw any conclusions from it. I don't think any major trends can be drawn."

However, the governor said in New York Thursday, the heavy Democratic vote in Wisconsin Tuesday showed "the Republicans are a minority party in terms of registration. We might as well face it."

Town Slated By Humphrey

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota planned a folksy, hand-shaking tour of some West Virginia coal fields today.

It was his campaign kickoff for another showdown with Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts in their bid for the Democratic presidential nomination. They meet head-on in the state's presidential primary May 10.

Kennedy isn't due in the state until Monday, but Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. started a five-day tour in his behalf today. Roosevelt scheduled some visits to the same areas Humphrey plans to cover.

Humphrey is expected to emphasize the "bare cupboard and empty treasury" theme he used earlier in appraising his campaign situation.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California (Democrat): Vice President Richard M. Nixon was "the big loser." "The vice president," Brown said, "was running unopposed in his own party's primary, yet drew only 30 per cent of the total vote in a state where the Republican vote is traditionally heavy."

Adlai E. Stevenson (Democrat): "I congratulate Sen. (John F.) Kennedy (D-Mass.) on his victory in Wisconsin and also Sen. (Hubert H.) Humphrey (D-Minn.) on his splendid showing. The total Democratic vote in Wisconsin was another sign that the people demand a strong liberal candidate and that the Democrats are on their way to victory in November."

Stevenson, who is in the West Indies, released his statement through his Chicago office.

Kennedy, who got 56 per cent of the Democratic vote and carried six of 10 congressional districts in Wisconsin, was stumped Thursday in Indiana. He cut his tour short, however, and flew to Washington in case the civil rights bill came up for a final vote in the Senate today. Kennedy hoped to return to Indiana tonight.

Humphrey planned a folksy, hand-shaking bus tour of some West Virginia coal fields today, looking toward that state's primary May 10. Again he'll be up against Kennedy, and he said "This time it's my turn."

Rockefeller, speaking at Jamestown, N.Y., Thursday night, called for fellow Republicans to join him in a statewide crusade in support of the national ticket. But again he did not mention Nixon, the only GOP presidential candidate in sight.

Asked by newsmen whether he would reconsider heading the ticket himself, Rockefeller said, "We will cross that bridge if it comes. I do not think the opportunity is apt to come." Rockefeller reiterated he would not run for vice president "under any circumstances."

Rep. Quentin Burdick (D-ND) will run against Gov. John E. Davis for the remaining 4½ years of the late GOP Sen. William A. Langer's Senate term.

Burdick, 51, was nominated unanimously at Bismarck, N.D., by state Democrats and nonpartisan leaders. He'll meet Republican Davis in a special election June 28.

"No, we've never met, but I'd know his automobile horn anywhere!"

Rocky Leaves Door Open, But Doubts Possible Draft

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller indicates that he has not closed the door on a possible Republican presidential draft. But he said he doubts it will come.

Rockefeller, asked at a news conference Thursday if he would reconsider heading the GOP ticket in November, said:

"I will cross that bridge if it comes. I do not think the opportunity is apt to come."

Rockefeller was more definite about a GOP vice presidential nomination. He said he would not fill the second spot on the ticket "under any circumstances."

The youthful governor, whose withdrawal from the Republican presidential contest last December left the field open for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, later asked Republicans across the state for solid support of the GOP ticket in November.

Rockefeller called for a Republican "statewide crusade" in an address before a Chautauque County Republican dinner.

He said New York "must be in the Republican column if the Republican party is to retain national leadership next November—a leadership which under President Eisenhower has blessed the nation with eight years of prosperity."

The governor, who has consistently endorsed Nixon as a presidential candidate, did not mention the vice president in the speech.

Nixon was mentioned briefly in the news conference, however. Rockefeller, asked if he received any overtures from the Nixon camp to run for vice president, told reporters:

"None that I would identify as coming from Nixon."

Friendship Of Nations: Many Attend Lake Dinner

LAKEVIEW — More than 500 persons turned out Monday evening for the Friendship of the Nations dinner at Hay School, sponsored by the foreign student program of the Lake County Chapter of the American Field Service. Guests assembled at colorful tables representing various member countries of the United Nations.

Invocation was by the Rev. William H. Snyder of the First Presbyterian Church.

Impressions of active participants in the exchange program were presented by Ursel Schlemmer, attending Lakeview High School from Germany this year, and Mike Tooke, who spent last summer in Germany under the program.

Under the direction of Jerome Redal, sponsor of the International Relations Club at the high school, seven students from this group participated in a panel discussion with Milton Davis, club president, as moderator. Mrs. Edward B. MacKay was guest panelist. Students taking part were Ursel Schlemmer, Gayle Teel, Robert Ackerman, Kathy Wallis, Michael Tooke and Sandra Watts.

Contributions in the amount of $702 were made during the dinner. Tickets sold totaled $509, but net proceeds are not yet determined. The proposed goal is $1,350, amount needed to send a student abroad and bring another to Lakeview next year.

Sponsoring organizations participating in the event included the Rotary Club, Lions Club, Clipper Club, Parent-Teacher Association, American Legion and Auxiliary, Business and Professional Women, Eastside Grange, Valley Falls Grange, Elks Club and Emblem Club, Future Homemakers and Toastmasters Club.

Also participating were Soroptimist Club, Job's Daughters, Knights of Columbus and Altar Society, International Relations Club, American Association of University Women, Forest Service and the junior high school.

The Spanish Club, under the sponsorship of Anthony Arrambide, served the dinner. Mrs. Ted Conn expressed appreciation to this year's host family, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pollard. A farewell gift was presented to Ursel Schlemmer by Mrs. Clayton Weaver. Mrs. Conn and Mrs. Weaver were co-chairmen of the Lakeview AFS chapter.

Mrs. Delbert Milholland, chapter secretary, gave a general explanation of the program.

Solon Has Strenuous Job, Says Former Judge Lusk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hall S. Lusk (D-Ore.), a former judge, finds being a senator "extremely interesting, but certainly much more strenuous than sitting on the bench."

"You are constantly besieged—and quite properly. I might add—by people on both sides of the issue where, as a judge, you are open to persuasion only by lawyers in court," he said.

"There's quite a difference and the hours are longer, too," said Lusk.

The 76-year-old former Oregon Supreme Court justice who was appointed to replace the late Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) last month, outlined before he joined the Senate March 23.

"I would vote for a fair civil rights bill that would make effective the guarantee of the right for Negroes to vote," he said then.

Voting rights, he still feels, are the heart of the matter but "since learning more about the problems involved, I can see reason for honest difference," he said, adding:

"It is very difficult to frame a measure that will be effective and at the same time valid law to carry out the constitutional guarantees of the right to vote.

"There can't be any argument about the meaning of the 15th Amendment on voting rights, but there are problems of its scope and the means of carrying out its provisions."

As for legislation concerning his state, Lusk said he is concentrating on proposals to establish a statehood park and the Boardman Bombing Range lands exchange.

"I'm getting plenty of exercise traveling from my office to the senate several times a day," he said. His quarters in the new Senate office building are about three blocks from the Senate chamber.

Lusk is very enthusiastic about being here for a time. She's living in an apartment until his success in getting it up so to speak," he added.

Two Boys Borrow Ship, Buzz School

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI)—Two 15-year-old boys who played hooky from Los Altos High School Thursday, nearly dropped in on their classmates once—in a "horror" plane.

Philip Lerza and James Lewis made the school one of their "near-stops" as they buzzed several San Francisco Bay Area communities during a flight of nearly two hours.

The youngsters found a four-place Cessna 172 fueled up and with the key in the ignition at Palo Alto airport. Without bothering to check with the owner, they began the adventure.

Lerza had 10 hours of flying time, but had never soloed. That was obvious when he buzzed the school so low that officials were able to read the plane's license number.

Authorities were notified—and San Mateo County Deputy Sheriff Robert Nunnis was on hand when Lerza made a perfect landing.

"This was something I had to do," Lerza explained.

Deputy Nunnis pointed out there were a few other things the youths had to do. For example:

- Face charges of grand theft.
- Face their parents'... and the consequences.
- Apologize to the owner of the plane, Edwin Malville, Millbrae restaurant owner.
- Pay for the aviation gasoline used.
- Pay the city of Palo Alto the takeoff and landing fees due for departure and arrival of one (1) airplane.
