Youth Detained For Loitering Jasper Lonzo Strunk, 20, Bonanza, posted $200 bail Saturday on a vagrancy charge involving alleged loitering about the Bonanza school grounds Friday afternoon. A complaint signed by Charles Steber accused Strunk of driving students downtown from the school grounds contrary to school regulations. Strunk was to appear before District Judge D. E. Van Vactor Monday.

Theft Reports Plague Police Someone, possibly a customer, took $106 in cash from Bill's Texaco Service station, 2739 South Sixth Street, sometime between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturday, station operator Bill Paulson told city police. He said he had put $126 in a canvas bag and was ready to put it in a bank when his secretary came at 4 p.m., she found only $20 left in the bag which was inside the unlocked station. City police also learned of several other thefts around town over the weekend. Duncan Stewart of the Don Pitter Machinery Company, 315 East Main Street, told officers Saturday someone siphoned 23 gallons of gasoline from a tractor, fork-lift truck and pickup truck three sometime Friday night. Gordon Miller, Bishop, California, told officers someone stole a flipper-type hubcap from his 1953 Chevrolet sedan sometime Saturday as it was parked at 130 El Dorado Avenue. Stanley Hoff, 2221 Lindley Way, said a thief took his bicycle as it was parked in a lot at the Tower Theater on South Sixth Street sometime between 1 and 4 p.m. Saturday.

The bike is a J. C. Higgins painted red and white with blue handlebar grips and a basket in front. And Mrs. Jo Lambertson, 2350 Eberlein Avenue, told police a thief took her boy's maroon and chrome tricycle from her yard sometime between Friday and Sunday. She said the tricycle has red handlebar grips with the name Douglas Lambertson inscribed under the standbar at rear. All equipment will be new and will be government-owned. In the past all equipment for the Chiloquin office has had to be owned by the postmaster. The only inconvenience of the entire move will be that box renters will have different numbers. A large dedication for the building is being planned.

OBITUARY YONCE YREKA - Funeral services were held for Marion F. Yonce, 76, April 5 in Girder's Funeral Chapel at Yreka, with the Rev. Norman Stueckle of the Church of the Nazarene officiating. Interment was in the family plot in Little Shasta Cemetery. Mr. Yonce died Saturday, April 2, at Siskiyou Convalescent Manor in Yreka after an illness of three years. He was born at Rural Retreat, Virginia, May 15, 1883, and was a rancher in the areas of Little Shasta, Willow Creek and Montague until his retirement a few years ago. He is survived by several stepchildren, including Mrs. Frank Yock of Montague, and a sister, Mrs. Alberta Hammond of Montague. CARDROZA YREKA - Funeral services and interment for Mrs. Mary D. Cardroza, 90, were held Thursday, April 7, at Fremont, California. Mrs. Cardroza died Sunday, April 3, in Siskiyou County General Hospital where she had been a patient for 22 months. She was born in Hayward, California, and is survived by two sons, F. R. and Cardoza, Hornbrook, and Alfred Cardoza, Gustine; a brother, John Garcia; two nieces and five nephews, all of Hayward.

An Honest Man City police commended Bob Kerner, a Bly school teacher, for turning in a wallet containing $79 cash and personal papers he found in the city over the weekend. So did Eugene Elyson Oldham, 2139 Main Street, who got the wallet and all its contents back.

Witnesses Set Meeting

The 'Seek Peace and Pursue It' circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses scheduled for April 15-17 will be the first one ever held at the Klamath Auditorium and the largest to date for Klamath Falls. George Hriuzisce, presiding minister of the local congregation, announced. Conventions have long been used by the Witnesses as Bible refresher courses and as advanced ministerial training programs. Their first convention was held in Chicago in 1893, with 360 persons in attendance. Other major assemblies include: 1935, Washington, D.C., 30,000 attended; Cleveland, Ohio, 1946, first international convention at one city, 60,000 present; 1950, New York City, 123,707 peak attendance; 1953, New York City, total attendance, 165,329; 4,460 baptized; 1958, New York City, used Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds, peak attendance, 253,922; 7,136 baptized.

The Klamath Falls gathering will be operated in the same way as the huge international convention in New York in 1958. Hriuzisce said. "Practical talks, as well as demonstrations, are always a feature of our assemblies," he continued, "so that all can know how to apply Bible teachings to their personal lives. To that extent, the program is an advanced ministerial training service rather than a revival or crusade." Hriuzisce concluded by extending a cordial invitation to the public to attend all sessions of the assembly. "Highlight of the convention," he mentioned, "will be the public talk on Sunday, April 17, at the Klamath Auditorium, entitled 'Finding Peace in a Troubled World.'"

Angus Sales Hit $26,000 Seventy three animals, registered herd and range bulls and females, entered in the annual High Country Aberdeen Angus Show and Sale held by breeder Scott Warren, Algoma, for $1,225 to the Duncegrange Ranch of Sonoma, California. The sale was held Friday, April 8, at the Klamath County Fairgrounds. At halter is Charles Gonzales, herdsman for the Warren Angus Ranch.

Camp Fire Girls Set Out 750 Firs In Kiwanis Park The seedlings were planted in clusters of five along the fence line on the Boy Scout building imposing stand of Douglas fir from the north side of the tennis courts and in two other groupings south of the courts. Several dozen "spares" were heeled in near one of the parking areas. Kiwanians assisting in the Arbor Day planting were Gene Favell, president of the Klamath Falls Kiwanis Club, Robert Kent, Dr. A. O. Roenicke, George Callison, Rev. Laing Sibbet, Dr. Robert Gallagher, Wilbur Womer and Merton Mathewson. A tank truck from the city Parks and Recreation Department provided the necessary water for the planting, and Favell said the department would see that the seedlings are circled with chicken wire for added protection. Mrs. Naomi French, executive director of the Klamath Council Camp Fire Girls, who supervised the Kiwanis Park planting, pointed out that this was just part of the councilwide Arbor Day observances. She said all the Chiloquin area groups joined together in planting about 500 seedlings in that community's new Spinks Park. Community plantings also took place in Merrill and in Dorris. Arbor Day is gaining in significance for local Camp Fire Girls - this being the second year's observance while working on Camp Fire's national project, "She Cares - Do You?" Mrs. French said that over 1,500 trees, of 10 varieties, ranging in size from seedlings to regular nursery stock, were planted by girls and helpers in the Klamath Council area this year.

Police List Car Crashes City police investigate a number of accidents over the weekend. They said a car driven by Harriett B. Mead, 2645 Hiron Street, struck a parked car operated by Ellen M. Kellogg, 315 East Main Street, Saturday noon as the Kellogg car was parked at the latter address. The responsible driver told officers she misjudged the pavement width between the Kellogg car and a car doubleparked on the other side of the street. Damage was minor. No injuries resulted. No citation was issued. James Henry Moore was charged early Saturday morning with failure to yield right of way to a car driven by George W. Tedrick, 712 Mitchell Street, at Ninth and Main streets. Both cars were damaged considerably but neither driver was injured, police said. Cars driven by Monte W. Shalhalter, who lives on the Geary Brothers' ranch five miles north-west of town, and Robert G. Hummelwright, 2427 Orchard Avenue, collided at the intersection of Ninth Street and Klamath Avenue Sunday afternoon. Hummelwright said his brakes failed. He was charged with driving with defective brakes and with an expired operator's license. Damage was medium. No one was injured. Francis A. Conley, 1336 Ivory Street, was charged with following too closely a vehicle operated by Ray Dean Brown, 1414 Ward Street, Saturday in Moore Park. Officers said Brown was slowing down near a turn on one of the park's winding roads and was struck from behind by Conley. Damage was slight and there were no injuries.

Family Gets Death Notice Richard Husted, 24, Klamath Falls man serving with the Army, was fatally injured in Germany on April 10. Word of his death reached his mother, Mrs. Hazel V. Husted, 3149 Butte Street, in a telegram from Army officials. The family was advised that the victim had stepped from a street curb into the path of a swerving car. Further details were not known. Richard, who would have been 22 in May, had been in Germany for the last two years. He spent part of his freshman year at Klamath Union High School before entering the service. Also surviving in addition to his mother, are two brothers, Elmer Dean with the Navy and Leslie of Klamath Falls.

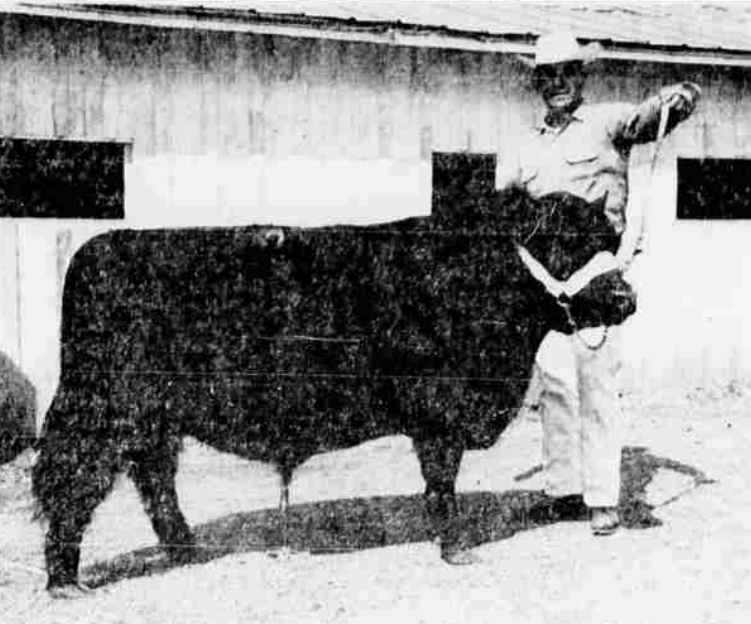

Liquor Charge Holds Youths Six minors, three of them juveniles, were arrested or taken into temporary custody over the weekend for possession of liquor, city juvenile officers said. The elder trio were Vernon Paul Kingston, Ronald Leroy Mulkey and Granville Orr. They each were sentenced to pay $25 or spend five days in jail in municipal court Monday morning. The juveniles were released to their parents and petitions were signed to bring them to juvenile court Monday afternoon. Juvenile officers also questioned a 12-year-old boy regarding bicycle theft. The youth delivered powdery, ski conditions required from Annie Springs to they will continue investigation. Officers located a juvenile girl reported missing by her parents from the north entrance and on Friday. She was returned to custody of the parents.

Students To Talk Two foreign students attending Oregon Technical Institute and a Czechoslovakian forestry man will speak at the Tuesday night meeting of OTI Faculty Wives and Women's Club at 7:30 in the student union on the campus. William Darmok, Libera; Zephon Papadopoulos, from Greece, and Marko Serca, Czechoslovakia, will each present a 10-minute talk on the political situation in relation to his particular country. Darmok is studying office machines at OTI and Papadopoulos is an electronics student. Serca is in the United States to study plywood methods.

New Snow Falls Four inches of new snow the past weekend was reported by Crater Lake personnel. The new fall brings the present snow depth there to 260 inches, as compared to 329 inches at this time last year. Wind was reported calm, and sky, snowing, ski conditions were powdery. Chains are still needed from the north entrance and on Friday. She was returned to custody of the parents.

Pins Awarded Old Monarch service pins in recognition of 30 years' membership went to Barney H. Cavanaugh, Ellis Ochs and Harvey Denham, during a dinner meeting of the Toketee Lions Club at the Winema Hotel at a recent meeting. Ten - year Charter Monarch awards went to Ray Ledbetter and Harold "Bud" Cloake. Members of the Toketee Club will sponsor a broom sale May 14. Brooms are manufactured by the blind in Salem. Proceeds from the sale are used for the Toketee Lions Club project for sight conservation and for scholarships.

Woman Arraigned Rosetta Mae Crain, 24, Bly, was scheduled to appear before District Judge D. E. Van Vactor at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday to answer two charges of giving beer to minors. She is accused of offering beer to two boys, one 15 and one 17, last April 2. At an appearance before Judge Van Vactor, she asked time to consult an attorney. She was returned to jail in lieu of $500 bail on each charge.

ALGOMA BARDOLIEMERE, Aberdeen Angus grand champion bull of the annual High Country Aberdeen Angus Show and Sale, was sold by breeder Scott Warren, Algoma, for $1,225 to the Duncegrange Ranch of Sonoma, California. The sale was held Friday, April 8, at the Klamath County Fairgrounds. At halter is Charles Gonzales, herdsman for the Warren Angus Ranch.

Tot Beating Death Trial Opens With Jury Choice

The first degree murder trial of Vandenberg and Charles H. Fos, William Olen Gairson opened in circuit court today with meticulous, detailed questioning of prospective jurors. Gairson, a 40-year-old cattle feeder, is accused of killing 11-month-old Gary Lee Bursk last December 17 by beating the child's head against the floor of a tenant home. The attorney suggested a jury could return one of five possible verdicts, ranging from first degree murder with the death penalty to involuntary manslaughter or not guilty. He questioned each juror on any opinions formed, attitudes toward capital punishment and reasonable doubt qualifications. Lesseg said, informally, that Gairson would take the stand in his own defense before the trial ends. He suggested to potential jurors that the child's mother might testify and "the mother might tell a different story from that of the defendant." By a midmorning recess three potential jurors had been selected from a tentative panel of eight women and four men. Each side has a right to challenge any juror for cause. After the tentative jury has been selected, the defense may order 12 preemptory challenges (without cause) and the state may exercise six. The jury probably will not be selected until tomorrow, if then. Gairson and Mrs. Bursk pleaded guilty to lead cohabitation charges and each is serving a six-month jail term on that charge. Additionally, Gairson was convicted on two child cruelty charges and sentenced to one year each. Lesseg said those convictions had been appealed. One child cruelty charge involved Gary Lee Bursk; the other involved 3-year-old Billie Joe (Judy) Brooding who was found by a baby sitter to have bruises and burns over most of his body. The child has recovered and now is in a foster home. The court called 29 prospective jurors for today's opening session. One person has been excused after questioning began. More jurors may be called.

Vandals Hit KU, Stadium

Vandals recently gained down a number of windows and light bulbs at Gen Stadium and others painted up Klamath Union High School, burned and dug a big figure in the front lawn, city police learned over the weekend. George Price, city parks and recreation director, told officers vandals during the past two months have broken 12 small windows in front of the stadium, 12 lenses from a light that floods the playing area, an outside light that shines on home plate, two light reflectors and an electric meter cover glass. They also knocked holes in two fences, tore a trap door off the press box and ripped a telephone from its moorings in a hallway in the stadium area and stole it. Price said damage will amount to about $250. Vandals at KUHS painted 14 windows red, 15 pink, sloped paint on the senior bench near the front steps and burned a 9x9-foot "60" on the front lawn with gasoline, then spaded the burned portion to a depth of about 10 inches Friday. Police found a gasoline can at the scene. Another case of vandalism was reported by James Gosling, 408 Matron, Saturday night. He said he drove his new Ford Thunderbird to a local drive-in restaurant. Some other youths were there in another Thunderbird, he said. They called him names and one smashed one of Gosling's windows with a fist. And Bill Baustian, 1023 Alameda Avenue, told officers Sunday morning he believes vandals broke down a screen door in a home he is caring for in the absence of its owner, Eddie Richardson, at 913 Division Street, during the past two months.

Crash Details Are Corrected

Don Carnes, Klamath Falls, pilot of a private plane flying from Klamath Falls to Montague by way of the Butte Valley Airport, April 8, has corrected a story that originated with the UPI out of Yreka, concerning a minor accident at the Butte Valley Airport. Carnes, flying a single motor Piper Cruiser with Robert Snavelski as a passenger, was unable to get the small plane airborne on take-off due to wind shift, throttled the aircraft and set it down in sagebrush at the end of the runway. Neither of the craft's occupants was injured and only minor damage to the plane, owned by Klamath Aircraft Inc., Kingsley Field, resulted. Carnes, who has flown for several years as a private pilot, is home on leave here, before resuming duties as a radio officer with the U.S. Navy in the Arctic. The UPI story said Carnes missed a runway and the craft crashed.

Mothers To Sing

CHILOQUIN - PTA Mothersingers of Klamath County will sing and the grade school toy orchestra will play at the PTA April meeting Monday, April 11, at the grade school gymnasium, beginning at 7:30. Election of officers for the coming year will be held following the report of the nominating committee appointed in February. Committee members are Mrs. Mel Fitzpatrick, Mrs. William Shellabarger and Mrs. Adiel Roser. A report will be made by Ross McIntyre, general chairman of the successful chiliburger dinner put on last week by the PTA. Ticket sale contest winning rooms were Claude Morgan's sixth grade, Mrs. Roblin Pfeiffer's sixth grade and James Rockwell's fifth grade. The three high in individual sales were Raymond DeBortoli, Diana Wright and Candace Freid.

Gun Victim Critical

Harry Young, 58, 2321 Vine Avenue, was shot at home at 9:20 a.m. Monday by a 300 Savage rifle, city police said. Investigation was continuing at press-time. Young, a head Sawyer in a sawmill, was listed in critical condition at Klamath Valley Hospital where he was taken by Peace Ambulance. Police indicated he was shot in the left side of his body.

Worker Injured

Jimmy Hope, an employee of the Madoc Lumber Company, was hospitalized over the weekend after an accident at work Saturday. Hope lost a finger on his right hand and had two others badly mashed when his hand was caught in a pulley and cable.
