

Maurine Sees Possibility Of Mark Entering Contest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Maurine Neuberger says the entry of Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield into the race for the U.S. Senate is "within the realm of possibility."

Mrs. Neuberger is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat vacated by the death of her husband, Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore) last month.

She is regarded to be without major opposition in the primary, as a former Gov. Elmo Smith, an Albany newspaper publisher, who is seeking the Republican nomination.

However, Mrs. Neuberger told a press conference here Wednesday, it would be possible, under Oregon law for Smith to drop out and for the state GOP committee to nominate Hatfield.

Hatfield has denied such a possibility she said. But Mrs. Neuberger added that she didn't rule out the possibility, if Hatfield felt running against her would be "easier pickings" than opposing Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) in 1962.

In her campaign, Mrs. Neuberger said, she will ask the citizens of Oregon "to vote for me for myself," and not as a replacement for her late husband. She added:

"I am not adequate to be a replacement for Dick."

Mrs. Neuberger said she hopes to return to Oregon about May 9 to campaign. The primary election is May 20.

"I'm just discovering the facts of life," she said. "You've got to have money. This is the part of politics I find distasteful."

At the conference, she commented that Sen. Morse probably will win the state's democratic presidential primary test.

She was asked whether she expected Morse to support her candidacy. She replied: "I can't figure why he would oppose me. I certainly have no quarrel with him."

CELEBRATES 101st BIRTHDAY
ASHEVILLE, N. C. (UPI) — Dr. Marion C. Millender, oldest living alumnus of the University of North Carolina, Wednesday celebrated his 101st birthday. As long as the blood vessels hold up, he told relatives, "a man should go on living unless he gets killed by an automobile."

WARREN MASON, produce manager at the Big Y Market, 4710 South Sixth Street (former Piggly-Wiggly manager in Klamath Falls), is shown with the store's big display of locally-grown Croft Easter lilies and hyacinths. The store's Easter "diamond weekend" will feature the giving away of three $100 mounted diamonds, three Bar 5 hams and three 10-pound turkeys. Winning names will be posted Monday and customers who have purchased hams or turkeys may bring in cash register slips for refunds if they are among the winners; otherwise winners will receive their prizes when they come in.

GRANGE NEWS

Twenty youngsters were initiated and Dorothy Flowers, lady assistant steward.

The next meeting for juveniles will be April 26 from 6 to 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. James Grigsby were initiated into Midland Grange for adults during a recent regular meeting. Hay Brackman, master of Shasta View Grange, was a visitor.

Home Economics Club Chairman Alice Hoover reported that the recent public ham dinner, a fund-raising project, was a success.

She also said a public breakfast will be served April 24 beginning at 8 a.m.

Hip Largent of the Ways and Means Committee suggested the grange should buy a steer to be fattened and sold as a future project.

Members voted to conduct an Easter egg hunt Saturday at Midland Grange hall for children of grangers and their friends.

Next meeting of the adult grange will be April 29.

Man Barred From Library

DETROIT (AP) — Robert D. Jones, 60, can't visit the Detroit downtown library any more.

Recorder's Judge Frank Schmanske ordered Jones to stay out of the library after one of the women librarians complained that Jones wrote an unsolicited 41-page love letter.

Jones was found guilty on a charge of malicious annoyance by writing and placed on two-years probation in addition to being barred from the library.

McCONE SEES DE GAULLE
PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle met Tuesday with U.S. Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John J. McCone. There was no official announcement on the nature of the discussion.

ROSY RECORD FOR ORANGE Schwartzwalder has compiled a head football coach at Syracuse SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Ben 66-34-2 record in 11 seasons as University.
