

Negro Leader Justifies Sit-Down Demonstrations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS (dramatizing the position of the Negro integration leader says Negro in the South and predicts sit-down demonstrations are they will be upheld legally.)

The expression of confidence came from the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. at the start of the 11th week of the Negro campaign against segregated lunch counters. The 35-year-old Atlanta Baptist pastor appeared on the NBC television program Meet the Press in Washington Sunday night shortly after a Negro college student conference at Raleigh, N.C., had the groundwork for formation of a Southwide organization. King conceded the sit-ins might violate local laws. But he said, in breaking local laws we are really seeking to dignify the law, as set forth in the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court decision on public school segregation.

The man who led the successful bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., in 1956, reasoned that if and when local laws against sit-ins reach the Supreme Court they will be held to be in violation of the basic guarantees of the Constitution. King said he felt both the Congress and the President could and should do more to hasten integration. This statement was echoed in the findings and recommendations of the Easter weekend Raleigh conference attended by 142 students from 11 Southern states and the District of Columbia. The student steering committee said in a statement there was a possibility President Eisenhower might go to Africa this fall. The committee said: "We feel that before going to Africa, the President should lend the prestige of his office to the solution of the racial problems in this country and thus he shall be even better prepared for his visit to Africa."

Demo Hopefuls Attempt To Bury Religious Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three Democratic presidential candidates sought today through separate moves to bury the religious issue as a factor in the 1960 campaign. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) took steps to keep the issue of Kennedy's Catholic faith out of the West Virginia primary where they clash May 16. Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) another avowed presidential candidate, said "this country cannot afford bigotry." He promised he would do everything in his power to eliminate the religious issue from the campaign "by writing and talking about how wrong it is." Symington, who is not entered in the primary, said voters in West Virginia should choose between Humphrey and Kennedy on the basis of who would make the better president. Kennedy reasserted his views on the separation of the church and state in a message to Harold Glen Brown, Portland, Ore., minister and president of the Oregon Council of Churches, a Protestant organization. Humphrey wrote West Virginia Democratic leaders and members of his campaign committee there that the state's Democrats should vote for the man who can best lead the party, "regardless of religion."

Boat Mishap Claims Four

HAYTI, Mo. (AP)—Four members of a family perished Sunday when their boat capsized in wind-whipped Mississippi River flood waters. They were returning to a farm house from Easter church services. The victims were Mary Green, 50, her daughter-in-law Madeline Green, 20, of St. Louis and Madeline's daughters, Debra Ann, 2, and Jerry Elaine, five months. Mary Green's husband, Mack, 50, swam back to the bank. High water from the Mississippi has flooded several hundred acres of land around the farm of the Mack Greens near here.
