

Sen. John Eases Up On Travel

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) eased up on the travel in his West Virginia presidential primary campaign today, with a full day of appearances in and around this steel manufacturing city of 60,000.

On his itinerary were morning appearances at two colleges within a few miles of Wheeling—Bethany and West Liberty State—and two plant tours in the afternoon.

Kennedy and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) are entered in the May 10 West Virginia primary as Democratic presidential candidates. Humphrey is not in the state this week.

Kennedy's arrival in Wheeling brought him to a section where, compared with this overwhelming Protestant state as a whole, a large segment of the population shares his Roman Catholic religion.

After speaking at a reception here tonight, Kennedy will fly to Beckley in southern West Virginia.

Union Paid Morse $500 For Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) says he was paid $500 plus traveling expenses for a speech he delivered at a Toledo, Ohio, Teamsters Union meeting last February.

But he told a news conference Monday he would neither accept nor reject the support of Teamster Union President James H. Hoffa in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Morse described the $500 as his regular lecture fee. He said he frequently received that amount for speaking engagements and he saw no reason why he shouldn't accept the money from the Teamsters Union.

He estimated that his lecture fees total $1,250 monthly. He said he uses the money for his Senate office expenses.

Morse spoke at a stewards' conference sponsored by Teamsters Local 20. Hoffa also addressed the meeting.

The senator said that the teamsters had not paid any of his campaign expenses. He added Hoffa had not offered to support his presidential bid but that he "wouldn't repudiate him or wouldn't accept" his support.

Morse said, however, he would welcome the support of rank-and-file teamsters.

Teamsters publications have praised Morse for his efforts to amend the labor reform bill adopted by Congress last year.

Many Teachers Quit Over Paddling Incident

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—More than 600 pupils of Habiba High School would be left without guidance today if all the teachers follow the example of the principal in resigning over a paddling incident.

Principal A. B. Martin and more than half of the 32 faculty members already have written letters of resignation. The remainder indicated they will follow suit.

Asked what he was going to do about running the school, Chairman James T. Hall of the Habiba Board of Trustees declared, "I'm going to do just like the board of education did—I'm going to dump it right back into the board's lap."

This was the best information that could be gathered on the Lowndes County Board of Education's action following a four-hour special hearing Monday. At issue was a demand by the parents of 14-year-old Earl Cornelius that Martin and Mrs. Dwight Maples, a teacher, be fired for spanking the eighth grader.

Lowndes County School Supt. C. W. Meacham was not available for comment. A service station operator said Meacham drove off about midnight, saying, "Come on, let's go to Atlanta."

Apparently the superintendent planned to confer with state school officials at the capital.

Martin, principal for nine years, said he could not continue to head the school without the backing of the board of education.

He denied that he encouraged any of the teachers to follow his lead. "I have let them make that decision for themselves," he said.

Martin and his wife received many visitors Monday night as friends dropped by to pledge their support. Lights also burned late in other houses of the community with a population of about 1,000 as parents gathered to discuss the problem.

Most townspeople agreed with Mayor D. K. Hollis who said he did not think the publicity would be good for the boy, school or Habiba.

Martin and Mrs. Maples, who is seven months pregnant, said the boy was whipped Wednesday. The principal said he gave Earl the standard five whacks for leaving the school without authorization. The youth chose a paddling in preference to writing a 3,000-word theme, Martin said.

Mrs. Maples, wife of the football coach, said she added about three more to the five she administered later in the day because he would not stay bent over a desk. She claimed the punishment was necessary because Earl had lied "just to get out of my room" for a while.

Elmer Cornelius, a Habira school bus driver, and his wife charged in the warrants they obtained that Mrs. Maples spanked their 3-foot-5, 101-pound son "20 times with a board."

They agreed to drop the charges if the board of education found the punishment was justified. Martin and Mrs. Maples posted $500 bonds.

Commander Nixes Leaves

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The garrison commander of the Quemoy Islands has canceled all military leaves, warning that the Chinese Reds may be preparing an invasion of the Nationalist outpost just off the mainland. The order went into effect Monday.

Qualified sources in Taipei believed the warning was not based on any new intelligence information, and they attached no special significance to it. They thought the aim was to counter any feeling that, because the Communists have for months subjected the Quemoy to only occasional light bombardment, they have abandoned aggressive intentions against them.

KC Lad Jolted By 2,300 Volts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Twelve-year-old David Hokanson held onto a 2,300-volt power line several minutes Monday. He accidentally put his hand on the line while climbing a tree.

A companion, Jimmy Shannon, 12, grabbed at David's hand three times but couldn't pull it loose. He got shocked each time.

Then David's weight pulled him free. He had burns on his hand and on his legs. Police said he was alive because he hadn't been grounded sufficiently to get a full jolt of electricity.

Light Balloting Seen For New Jersey Primary

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Fair weather and a light turnout were the forecasts today as the polls opened for a New Jersey primary election highlighted by a contest for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination.

Sen. Clifford P. Case is seeking renomination after one term in the senate.

Robert Morris, the challenger, is making his second bid to become a GOP Senate candidate.

Also to be chosen are a Democratic Senate nominee in one-sided contest; House nominations in all 14 congressional districts; convention delegates; members of party county committees; and nominees for local and county offices.

Most Republican observers rated Case a favorite but they said Morris was gaining strength in a campaign some looked on as a scrap between the GOP's liberal and conservative wings.

Morris, former counsel to the Communist-hunting Senate Internal Security subcommittee, sought the 1958 Republican Senate nomination. He ran third in a three-way primary. He has been campaigning on what he calls too much nonawareness of the Communist threat.

Case conducted what he called a weekend campaign, traveling by plane between Washington and New Jersey. His headquarters said he voted for Eisenhower measures in the Senate 83 per cent of the time.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, whose home is in Little Silver, announced Monday he and Mrs. Mitchell had cast absentee ballots for the senator.

Campaign expense statements filed Monday with the New Jersey secretary of state in Trenton showed U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter chipped in $500 for Case and Ambassador to Britain John Hay Whitney $1,000. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, also gave $1,000.

The third man in the GOP senate is David G. DeLoach of Elizabeth who has gone almost unnoticed in the campaign.

The Democratic Senate contest has drawn little interest. Thorn Lurtz, Mercer County (Trenton) Democratic chairman, has organization support and is a heavy favorite to beat Richard M. Glassner, a Newark lawyer making his first try for public office.

In the congressional primaries, there are Republican contests in three districts and Democratic contests in six.

Democrats will elect 86 delegates and 40 alternates to their national convention. The Republicans will elect 38 delegates and 38 alternates.

Demurrers Filed By 3

Three persons accused of vagrancy after being arrested on the military portion of Kingsley Field early April 9 filed demurrers in district court Monday.

The demurrers maintain that facts alleged against them do not constitute a crime. It will be argued before District Judge D. E. Van Vactor Friday morning.

Accused were Darlene Sanchez, Avery Charles and Leonard Moore Jr., all 19 and all of Chilquin. They were arrested in a pickup truck near a barracks early one morning.

In another district court case, Vincent Colosimo, 42, Klamath Falls, pleaded not guilty on a vagrancy charge. He was accused of using abusive language at Little Sweden restaurant April 10. A trial without jury was scheduled for May 2 at 10 a.m. and Colosimo was released after posting $100 bail.
