

PIRATES DEFEAT YANKEES 5-2

In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

As this is written Mr. Kroosh, backed by his buddy Toure, of Guinea (who is a graduate of communist schools in Moscow and Prague and is apparently an all-out communist) is expected to espouse before the U.N. tonight what Kroosh calls "total and complete disarmament." But NO INSPECTION.

But the United States and Canada will insist that before there can be disarmament there must first be foolproof inspection and control.

Let's put it this way:

Suppose you have an enemy. A DEADLY enemy—who, you have every reason to suspect, proposes to finish you off at the first safe opportunity. Suppose he proposed to you that both of you throw your guns away.

This, I think, is what you would say to him:

"O.K. But FIRST I must be allowed to pat your pockets in order to make sure you don't have a secret gun stowed away somewhere. In return, you can pat MY pockets. If we are going to throw away our guns, we must BOTH be sure that everything is on the up-and-up."

Suppose he answered:

"NO! That I won't stand for."

What would you do then?

Well, if you have a grain of common sense, you'd come to the conclusion that your enemy was PLANNING TREACHERY and you'd have nothing to do with his scheme.

That's where the U.S. stands. It doesn't propose to disarm unless there is to be foolproof inspection to make sure that nobody is hiding out a gun.

That's the long and the short of this disarmament business.

More foreign affairs stuff:

Colonel Joseph Mobutu, who is described in the dispatches as the "strong man" of the Congo, this morning orders Lumumba's residence in the Congolese capital surrounded by soldiers. The soldiers, who are Congolese, obey. They drive back Lumumba supporters with rifle butts.

The soldiers tell reporters they were ordered by Mobutu to "prevent Lumumba from making politics." They said they had no orders to arrest Lumumba himself, but were there to prevent his political friends (who are communists) from getting into the house.

Pretty high-handed business?

Maybe—but this must be remembered:

Mobutu is a Congolese—not a foreigner. The soldiers are Congolese—not foreign troops. Lumumba is backed by the communists.

Now—

Suppose a CUBAN officer, with backing of CUBAN troops, gained the ascendancy in Cuba and surrounded Castro's official residence with the idea of preventing his communist backers from getting in to plot with him. Doesn't that put a clearer light on the Mobutu incident in the Congo?

Lost Hunters All Found Safe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A deer hunter and his little son, missing overnight near Dallas, Ore., turned up safe this morning. A Grants Pass woman, lost Saturday night and most of Sunday, was found northeast of Medford. And still a third missing hunter walked out safely.

The Dallas man and his son had been unable to find their way out of a thicket in darkness, so built a fire and waited for daylight.

"Gee, it was fun to sleep out all night," said 7-year-old Kimm Grant to his mother, as she welcomed home her husband and son.

The father, Cloyce Grant, 45, a parts man with an auto firm, had agreed to take his son deer hunting. He didn't feel well Sunday afternoon, but because of his promise, he went.

"He is a woodsman," said his wife, "and I knew they would be all right if he was all right. But I wasn't sure about that."

It turned out that Grant was all right. They got no deer, and darkness came on. The way out was not clear, so Grant said he decided to spend the night.

Another hunter, Mrs. Walter Williams, 48, of Grants Pass, was found by searchers Sunday.

Unemployment Drops As Outlook Improves

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Unemployment fell by 400,000 in September to 3,338,000, a better than normal improvement over August, the Labor Department reported today.

The number of Americans with jobs dropped by 515,000 from the August level. But the September employment total of 67,767,000 still was a record for the month.

Normally, the department said, the number of job holders would have dropped about 750,000 in September.

The department said the relatively favorable trend in both unemployment and employment reflected recalls to work of auto workers who had been laid off in August while the industry geared for model changes.

Seasonal pickups were reported in retail trade. On the other hand, there was an autumn cutback in employment in construction activity.

Despite the step-up in auto output, manufacturing employment as a whole rose only 60,000 in September, a "below average" gain, according to the department.

Partly explaining this was a further decline in employment at steel mills, where some 140,000 workers have been laid off since February.

The decline in unemployment pushed down the jobless rate from 5.9 per cent in August to 5.7 per cent in September. The department said this was the second highest rate this year.

It meant that 57 of every 1,000 persons in the labor force were out of work and seeking a job in September.

Democratic National Chairman Henry M. Jackson said in advance of the report that Americans "should not be fooled" by a drop in the seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment.

Riots Hit Rhodesia

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI)—A weekend of riots in Southern Rhodesia left seven persons killed, at least 82 injured and more than 100 arrested.

All but three of the casualties were reported in the Salisbury African township of Harare.

In Gwelo, an African nationalist National Democratic Party meeting erupted into further looting and arson Sunday night. Several buildings were burned and three persons injured — none seriously — when police opened fire on the mob.

The Harare riots exploded when a white motorist knocked down an African cyclist with his car. When the driver stepped out to aid the cyclist, African pedestrians mobbed him.

Police moved in to save the motorist, but the riot spread. Nineteen white women and children were stoned by Africans as they returned home from an outing.

The rioters set fire to a two-block section in the heart of the township. Soft-drink bottles exploded from the heat, showering firemen with glass.

No Europeans were believed killed, but seven Africans died and another 60 to 70 were hospitalized with gunshot wounds.

Electronic Gadget Built To Assist Paraplegics

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An electronic gadget can be built that will make paraplegics walk, a research surgeon reported today.

It isn't ready for production yet but Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz of Brooklyn, N. Y., said its workability has been demonstrated by experiments on the temporarily paralyzed legs of dogs.

About three more years of experimentation and $600,000 will be needed to bring the project to the point where it can be tried on patients, he said in a report to the American College of Surgeons.

Paraplegics are people who are paralyzed on both sides from the waist down. It has been estimated there are about 250,000 of them in the United States. Mostly they are wheel chair cases.

JUNIOR PRINCESSES for the Klamath Basin Potato Festival October 21 and 22 are Nancy Coulson, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Coulson, and Nancy Trotman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Trotman, all of Merrill. Both are five years of age. They will ride on Queen Donna Lee Micka's float during the festival parade October 22.

Group Eyes School Plan

SALEM (AP)—The Legislative Interim Committee on Education will meet in Eugene Friday and Saturday in the hopes that it finally can solve the complicated problem of distribution of state school funds to local school districts.

The committee met here Saturday, but failed to come up with the final answer.

It did tentatively agree on a plan to give extra school aid to distressed districts. Such a district would have to carry a tax levy of 12 mills.

The committee decided again that each county would be reimbursed for half its transportation costs.

At least 25 per cent of the basic program would be given in flat grants to counties.

Rep. Al Flegel, D-Roseburg, told his fellow members of the committee that Jackson County Judge V. T. Jackson reversed his position on the touchy subject of using O & C funds for education.

O & C funds are revenues from forest lands taken back by the government from the original Oregon and California Railroad grant.

Flegel said that when the committee had tentatively agreed that 25 per cent of O & C funds should be used for schools, Jackson had agreed to a compromise figure of 12 1/2 per cent. This, Flegel said, would cost Douglas County $500,000 a year, compared with a loss of $1 million under the 25 per cent formula.

Flegel said that Jackson now says that he "never agreed to the 12 1/2 per cent proposal and that he would fight to his last breath to prevent a grab of O & C funds."

Bomber Hits NY Library

NEW YORK (AP)—The "Sunday bomber" struck again at another of the city's famed public places Sunday—this time the New York Public Library.

The blast, heard over a wide area, shattered numerous windows, showered dirt and debris on parked cars, uprooted shrubbery and dug a foot-deep hole in the earth.

No one was injured, although an estimated 1,000 persons were inside the library. Many rushed into the street.

It was the second Sunday that a midtown area had been rocked by a bomb blast. Last week seven persons were injured when an explosion shook the Times Square area, a few blocks away.

Police said the bombings were similar and occurred at almost the same time—shortly before 5 p.m.

Chief Inspector Michael J. Murphy said police would operate on the assumption that a crank is on the loose, and would increase police details in midtown public places.

Court Facing Red Measures

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court moves into its first business session of the 1960-61 term today with weatherbeaten Communist issues first up for argument.

Before the arguments begin, the court will announce which of several hundred appeals filed during the summer will be accepted for review. Most will be rejected.

Pittsburgh Pirates Grab Victory, Hold 3-2 Margin In Game Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Elroy Face came to the rescue for Pittsburgh again today and the Pirates whipped the New York Yankees 5-2 for a 3-2 lead in the World Series. The alert Pirates took quick advantage of an error in the second inning to score three runs, two of them on Bill Mazeroski's double.

Face, in saving Pittsburgh's third triumph and second in a row, came to lefty Harvey Haddix's aid in the seventh inning with the Pirates leading 4-2. Yanks on first and second and one out. Tony Kubek and pinch-hitter Hector Lopez had singled in succession.

The icy-nerved Pittsburgh relief pitcher stopped Gil McDougald on a force play grounder to short and then fanned Roger Maris to retire the Yanks. Maris had homered with the bases empty in the third inning for New York's second run. Face blanked the Yanks without a hit the rest of the way.

Reds Plan New Blasts At The U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The Soviet bloc and its allies today lined up Nikita Khrushchev and one of his best friends in Africa to close out the summit phase of the U.N. General Assembly with attacks on the West and demands for arms cuts.

As the fourth week of the assembly session opened leftwing President Sekou Toure of Guinea readied a two-hour address that was expected to side with Soviet arguments on the Congo.

Toure, educated in Moscow and Prague, arrived in New York last week from his West African capital at Conakry after having visited Moscow and Peiping for "friendly" talks.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir, a onetime Milwaukee, Wis., schoolteacher was listed as last speaker in the day's general debate.

Khrushchev asked to be first speaker at a night session on disarmament to espouse again his "total and complete" disarmament plan.

He lined up support from Czech and Bulgarian speakers to buttress his arguments against planned counter-attacks by Canada and the United States which insist that before there can be disarmament there first must be foolproof inspection and control.

Khrushchev, who appeared on a New York television show Sunday night for two hours and five minutes, also scheduled a news conference today or Tuesday.

He was expected to deliver a series of "farewell addresses" before flying home to Moscow Thursday night aboard a Soviet jetliner.

Sunday night, under questioning by TV interrogator David Susskind, Khrushchev said he believed there would be a summit meeting with the next U.S. president and vowed "categorically" that Russia never would declare a war.

The Soviet premier was the only remaining major world figure at the United Nations. Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru left for London and home Sunday night, hopeful of a settlement in the cold war but certain there would have to be revisions in the U.N. charter.

Queen Displays Cuts, Bruises

PERTH, Scotland (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II appeared at a public function today with two large bruises and an angry-looking cut on her right leg.

Buckingham Palace could give no information on the injuries. "We have absolutely no idea of the cause nor can we check. The only medical bulletins ever issued are on advice of her doctors. The chances of finding out anything officially are absolutely negligible," a palace spokesman said.

There was speculation the queen might have been bitten by one of her pet dogs, notable for their truculence, even toward royalty. Or perhaps, others said, the queen might have had difficulty with a horse. The queen is a great horse lover and while on vacation at Balmoral Castle often goes riding.
