City Police Run Down False Alarm

For a few tense hours yesterday, city police thought they had one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals spotted on Broad Street. The man they sought was Nathaniel Beans, wanted for interstate flight to avoid prosecution for murder in Miami, Florida. An FBI mug sheet said Beans may have committed three murders. Police here had every reason to believe their man on Broad Street was Beans. His description was confirmed by a barber who had cut his hair, by a man who had been drinking with him for several hours one night, by a transient who left his bedroll at the suspect's residence, and by a laborer who had bucked potatoes with the suspect. The district FBI agent was called over to assist. As a routine matter, the agent called the regional office in Portland. From that call, he learned that Beans had been arrested in Buffalo, New York, the day before. The arrest was so new it hadn't been on the teletype network yet. "It's a good example of cooperation from local citizens," a city detective said. "It might have been Beans." "We're always willing to check out leads," the officer said. The police department maintains a bulletin board of photographs and descriptions of the 10 most wanted men in the police building lobby.

Ordinance Enforcement Pondered By Council

The question of enforcement of the Green River Ordinance as it relates to the activities of non-profit groups was aired at length by the city council at its regular Monday night meeting in city hall. Councilman Hoyt brought up the neighborhood playground areas that are not developed and are "mere weed patches," pointing out that we have plenty of these, but no money to develop them. Councilman Walter Fleet also agreed in the need for a re-evaluation of the park situation with a study to determine what future park space might be needed and what space now in city possession might be better sold for other purposes. Anderson reported that the study would review the park planning for the city and would bring back some specific recommendations along these lines.

Liquor Case: Man Jailed

Marvin Roach, 45, 125 Lovell Street, was sentenced to four months in jail and was fined $250 by District Judge D. E. Van Vactor on a charge of giving liquor to a minor. Roach originally was arrested on a child stealing charge. That charge was dismissed after thorough investigation, the district attorney's office said, and the furnishing charge was made. Roach and another man were accused of picking up three girls, one 13 and two 17, in the Merrill and Tulelake areas, and driving around from noon until 11 p.m. October 4. The men, police said, had the girls, police said.

Petitions Filed For Hearings On Juveniles

Petitions were filed today to arrange juvenile court hearings for three 15-year-old boys accused of stealing a truck in Chemult after a hitch-hiking expedition failed. Juvenile officers said the three boys, all from Chilquin, had hitch-hiked toward Bend Saturday evening. Stranded in Chemult in freezing temperatures, they commandeered a panel truck and drove it home. The truck belonged to Leonard Lupinski, Chemult. Chilquin Police Chief Lew Jones arrested the trio about 4:30 a.m. Sunday. Keys were in the truck, officers said. The youths were transferred to the juvenile home from city jail to await further disposition of their case.

Samplauski is being defended by Attorney Richard C. Beesley.

Deaths Takes Pondered By Council

Judson Ray Beeber, a 54-year-old advertising specialty salesman, collapsed and died on Lincoln Street about 8:15 p.m. last night. Death was attributed to a heart attack. City police said Beeber's body was discovered by Frank Grady, 227 Lincoln Street. Grady told officers he had just returned home when he heard a noise in front of the house. His investigation led to discovery of the body on the sidewalk. Police said Beeber had developed a heart murmur after hospitalization for pneumonia 1 a s t February. He was under a doctor's care for a coronary condition. Officers said Beeber and his wife, Elfrieda, had entertained friends at the Elks Club from 5 to 6 p.m. yesterday. They then went to Mrs. Beeber's home, 217 North Third Street, for dinner. Mrs. Beeber told police he had taken a nap after dinner, then left for his home. He complained of being tired. Beeber had lived here since about 1947 or 1948 when he moved from Spokane, family friends said. He had been a member of the Order of the Shrine, RPOE and Reames Golf and Country Club. He served in the Navy prior to World War II. Survivors include the widow, a son, Judson Ray (Spike) Beeber of Portland, a brother in Louisville, Kentucky, and four grandchildren. The body was removed to O'Hair's Funeral Home. Arrangements were pending.

Store At Rocky Point Destroyed By Flames

ROCKY POINT—The Country Store at Pioneer Guest Ranch near here was destroyed by fire just after midnight this morning. Nearly a year ago, Pioneer Lodge, a stone's throw away, burned to rubble. County firemen said they received the call at 12:05 a.m. The building and its contents—groceries and sundries—were beyond salvation when they arrived. The store was located 25 miles northwest of Klamath Falls on the Woods Highway. A small pump-house was destroyed with it. No other damage resulted. Firemen said the store was owned formerly by H. J. and N. J. Fish, and Chet Karlstrom, of Rocky Point, Inc. Mrs. Vera E. Rice was the new manager. They were not able to determine cause of the fire. The building was not occupied when the fire broke out, they said. An inventory of loss had not been compiled by Tuesday noon. Firemen are not sure whether the business was insured. The well-known Pioneer Lodge burned the night of October 21, last year. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Keefer and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Keefer, rebuilt and expanded the facilities. They opened the lodge about three weeks ago.

Hay Piled On Lawns

Vandals, described by a witness as three teenaged boys, heaped great quantities of hay and rubbish on the lawn of an Austin Street home last night, city police reported. Mrs. Clyde Dixon, 1607 Austin Street, said debris piled in her yard included hay, a refrigerator door, a washing machine wing, numerous tin cans, a string with a cast iron base, and a roll of chicken wire. A neighbor chased the vandals away, police said. Other police reports: Mrs. Jack Shere, Metropolitan Hotel, said a guest stole a wool blanket. Scott McKendree, 1843 Del Moro Street, said the left door window and both rear view mirrors were broken on a pickup truck parked in front of his home. Bertha Hageman, 624 Washington Street, said a 50-foot garden hose was cut. A car registered to Wallace Oliver, 900 Owens Street, struck two parked cars in the 2000 block of Main Street about 3 a.m. today. Cars struck belonged to Achilles Karsz and Ruth Kroeger, apartment residents at 2110 Main. Mrs. Charles Webb, 2310 Home Street, said four flipper hub caps were stolen.
