

Aikins - Marling Vows Solemnized At Stanford

White chrysanthemums banked the altar of Stanford Memorial Church, Stanford, on Saturday, September 17, for the marriage of Dorothy Sarah Marling and Raymond Duncan Aikins, both of San Francisco.

The Rev. Dwayne L. Proett of Davis Community Church officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Marling of Madison, Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. George Raymond Aikins of Tulare are parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for the 2 o'clock ceremony a long sleeved gown of white silk bombazine with scooped neckline framed with ap-pliqued floral embroidery dotted with seed pearls. Folds of the material trimmed the bodice and formed a sash which swept into a cathedral train. The gown was worn by her sister, Roberta, at her marriage December 20, 1950. The lovely rosepoint fingertip veil, held by a small crown, was brought from Bruges, Belgium, by the bride and was also worn by her sisters. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids and gardenias arranged with stephanotis, lilies of the valley and ivy.

Mrs. Thomas Edward (Roberta) Morris of Santa Monica was matron of honor for her sister. Her frock of sea foam green silk was made with sheath skirt and draped scoop neckline. She wore a spray of phalaenopsis orchids in her hair and carried a small cascade of orchids, stephanotis and ivy. Similar gowns, head pieces and bouquets were worn by the bridesmaids, Elizabeth Marshall of Madison, now living in San Francisco, Roberta Rickard, and Mary Tuteur and Paula Haller, University of Wisconsin sorority sisters now residing in the Bay City.

Lewis Madison Terman II of Menlo Park was best man. Ushers were Alan Johnson of Rolling Hills Estates, Ralph M. Buchwalter of Rialto, Robert Rintala of San Carlos, Charles Faulkner of Fair Oaks and George Fischer of Stanford.

Mrs. Marling was dressed in a cocoa lace dress and Mrs. Aikins in a brown wool chiffon jacket dress. Corsages for both mothers were orchids.

Approximately 175 guests greeted the newlyweds at the reception at Palo Alto University Club. Assisting were Mrs. Peter Taussig, Jan Pehl, Mrs. L. M. Ierman, Carolyn Fratessa, Susan Adams, Mrs. Charles Fulkner and Mrs. R. J. Lampky.

The honeymoon was spent at the Crescent Lake summer home of the bridegroom's parents. For traveling Mrs. Aikins changed to a gray wool dress, black coat, cloche and accessories. The orchids from the bouquet were her corsage. She is a home economics graduate of University of Wisconsin, a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Phi Upsilon Omicron honorary. She is employed by Standard Oil Company.

The bridegroom, a 1956 graduate of Stanford, did graduate work at the University of Southern California. He is now associated with Foote, Cone and Belding Advertising in San Francisco.

The couple is residing at 67 Murray Avenue in Larkspur. A rehearsal dinner was held at Scotty Campbells in Redwood City for 33 guests.

SNACK JAR SPECIAL

No kitchen is complete without a nibble jar. Sunbanned California raisins, the plump dark seedless raisins, are excellent for between meal snacking. Raisins are full of quick energy since they're close to 70 per cent natural sugar.

Conley - Crawford Vows Recited At St. Barnabas

BONANZA—One of the loveliest affairs of late summer was the wedding ceremony of Sherry Louise Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crawford of Langel Valley, and Gordon Wayne Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anzel Conley of Butte Falls.

The young couple repeated their vows in a double ring ceremony at 2 p.m. in St. Barnabas Church on September 3. White gladioli were on the altar and white gladioli and white satin bows marked the pews. The Rev. Andrew Jarvis of Mt. Laki Church officiated.

Mrs. Martin Gift at the organ played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. George Keady who sang "Oh Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was lovely in a white gown of nylon lace fashioned with a graceful full skirt over white taffeta. The snug fitted bodice had a square neckline and cap sleeves. The fingertip length veil was held in place by a crown of white seed pearls and she carried a white Bible topped with two white orchids.

Her something borrowed was the veil used by her sister, Judy Ross, at her wedding and the old was a handkerchief borrowed from a friend of the family, Mrs. Mae Gale. Something new was a pearl necklace. She had a lucky penny in her slipper and wore the traditional blue garter.

Mrs. Byron Ross, her sister's matron of honor, wore a blue brocade taffeta sheath dress with a blue velvet headband. Her bouquet was small white chrysanthemums carried on a fan.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bill Nelson and Carol Hessig whose dresses matched the matron of honor's, with headbands of white velvet. They also carried fans with white chrysanthemums.

The bride's little nieces, Sherry Lou Hartley and Debra Lynn Ross, flower girls, wore dresses of white taffeta with blue brocade taffeta tops. Their headpieces were blue brocade with white net. Best man was Patrick Conley, brother of the bridegroom. Tommy Crawford, brother of the bride, and Larry Cavin were ushers. Ted Dearborn was the candlelighter.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Crawford wore a royal blue afternoon dress with matching blue accessories and Mrs. Conley selected a grey afternoon dress with white accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white rosebuds.

The newlyweds received congratulations from guests at a reception given in the parish hall.

The beautiful three tiered white cake was decorated with yellow roses and centered the refreshment table between bouquets of yellow rosebuds in milk glass vases with white finger candles. The crocheted cloth covering the table was made by Byron Ross's grandmother.

The cake was served by the bride's sister, Mrs. Robert Hartley. At the punch bowl were Mrs. Marvin Brown and Mrs. Glen Huffman. Serving coffee was another sister of the bride, Mrs. Leonard Neimi. Tea was served by Mrs. Patrick Conley.

Mrs. Louis Randall registered the guests and Mrs. Virgil Boomer was in charge of the gift table. Carol Philpott and Susan Wooten assisted around the room and Bobby and Billy Hartley gave out the packets of rice and Ramona Boomer the bridegroom's cake.

For traveling Mrs. Conley changed to a navy blue linen dress with white accessories and pinned the bridal orchids at her shoulder. Mr. and Mrs. Conley both attend Southern Oregon College at Ashland where they are junior students.

KF Duplicate Players Attend Sectional Meet

Approximately 30 "Lakeshore Adams and Mrs. Wesley O. Smith; Duplicate" players attended the three day sectional at Rogue River.

For second, Mr. and Mrs. David Richardson; Mrs. Grace Kresse and Grace McQuillan of Hillsborough, California; Mrs. Lee Holliday and Mrs. Vernon Neet; Mrs. Dorothy Rogers and Mrs. E. C. Lemler.
