RC Aid Set For Victims Of 'Cane

The American Red Cross, supported by the Klamath County United Fund, expects to spend about $3,500,000 this year to help families in Florida, Puerto Rico, the Carolinas and several North Atlantic coastal states to recover from effects of Hurricane Donna that swept the Atlantic Seaboard recently.

More than 75,000 families suffered losses in the entire area during the mid-September storm, Red Cross officials say.

About 15,000 of those will turn to the Red Cross for aid in restoring their homes and status quo, they add. In Puerto Rico, more than 5,000 of the 11,000 families affected had registered with the Red Cross for rehabilitation aid by late September.

In the Carolinas, particularly in the Outer Banks and nearby mainland sections, 2,000 of the more than 10,000 families suffering loss to the hurricane were expected to ask for Red Cross aid.

The organization expects to spend more than $2,000,000 for recovery assistance in Florida.

The Red Cross is distributing $28,700 pounds of surplus commodities, donated by the taxpayers through the U.S. Department of Agriculture, beginning September 27 after families in the Florida Keys had found temporary homes and cooking facilities.

Red Cross personnel and equipment are expected to remain on the scene for about five more weeks helping erase effects of the disaster.

The organization also is currently operating a home-building program for victims of the Chile earthquake.

THE U.S. NAVY BAND is now midway in a six-week non-stop concert tour which will bring them to Klamath Falls for two concerts at Pelican Court on Monday, October 17. There will be an afternoon performance for students and an evening concert for adults. Money earned from the appearance of the band here will be used to assist the funds for sending the band to the East-West Shrine game again this year.

Timber Firm Is Low Bidder At Auction

About 5,200,000 board feet of timber in Klamath District, Rogue River National Forest, sold for $117,250 to Modoc Lumber Company, Klamath Falls, during an oral auction in district headquarters here Friday morning.

The timber had been appraised at $105,220 by forest service timber cruisers. Other bidders were Chiloquin Timber Company, Klamath Hardwoods Incorporated and Klamath Lumber and Box Company.

Buyers from Modoc Lumber and Klamath Lumber and Box made a total of 122 offers in spirited bidding.

The lot, called "Sevenmile No. 4," contains an estimated 1,900,000 board feet of sugar pine, 300,000 feet of Douglas fir and 3,000,000 feet of white fir and other species.

It is located on the west side of Sevenmile Guard Station. The timber probably will stand until next spring, a spokesman for the company said.

The next sale will be 2 p.m. Monday. The "North Threemile" lot, containing 100,000 feet of western white pine, ponderosa pine and sugar pine and 2,000,000 feet of Shasta red fir and other species, will be offered.

Afternoon, Evening Concert Set

The U.S. Navy Band, with Commander Charles Brendler at the helm, will appear Monday afternoon and evening at Pelican Court, Klamath Union High School.

This is the program arranged for the evening concert, open to the public:

A fanfare by "The Herald Trumpets;" the National Anthem, "Donna Diana Overture" by Emile Nickolaus von Rentnick, "Carnival of Venice," a cornet solo featuring Gordon Enlay, by Jean Baptiste Arban; "All Those Endearing Young Charms," a trombone solo by Lawrence Wiebe, scored by Simone Tanti; "Playa," a Spanish Dance by Enrique Granados, featuring the entire French horn section.

"Melodie, Opus 42, No. 3" by Peter I. Tschaiakovsky, featuring the clarinet section; "Parisienne Fantasy" by Carlton Beyer, based on themes of Offenbach, a harmonica solo by Richard Bain; "Can Can Selection" by the full band, excerpts from the Cole Porter work.

Following intermission: "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 1" by Franz Liszt; "Tally Ho!" by Roger Borsotti, an English post horn solo by Frank Scimone; "Voices of Spring" by Johann Strauss; "Addio A La Madre," from Cavalleria Rusticana, by Pietro Mascagni, featuring a tenor or vocal solo by Ben Mitchell Morris; and "Irish Suite," including "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "The Rakes of Mallow," "The Last Rose of Summer" and "The Irish Washerwoman" by Leroy Anderson.

Color Prints To Be Exhibited At Art Gallery

An exhibit of non-objective color prints, sculpture and original design hand-made jewelry will be offered for public viewing by Lyle Matoush Sunday at the Klamath Art Gallery in Maple Park, Riverside Street.

Matoush is an art instructor at Klamath Union High School. He studied at Colorado State College, San Francisco State College and California College of Arts and Crafts. He also taught high school art in Indiana before coming to the West Coast.

A reception and tea will be conducted in honor of the artist Sunday, October 23, in the gallery. The exhibit will continue on display from 2 to 5 p.m. each Sunday through October 30.

Groups interested in special showings are asked to make appointments by calling TU 4-9573.

Elks Club Shooting Case Scheduled For Grand Jury

George W. Krohn was bound over to the county grand jury Friday on a charge of shooting Elks Club bartender Carl B. Young "with intent to kill and murder."

Krohn, a 33-year-old unemployed railroad worker, waived his right to a preliminary hearing in an appearance before District Judge D. E. Van Vactor.

He was returned to jail, in lieu of $10,000 bail, to await the next session of the grand jury, scheduled for Wednesday.

Young's condition was reported by his attending physician to be "hopeful."

"He's doing quite well," his doctor was quoted. "It takes time to know."

Young was shot five times early Thursday morning. Shots penetrated his lower abdomen, groin and legs. His doctor said Young's major injury was caused by the shots in his abdomen; he said Young was not shot in the spine, and that no bullet was lodged in his spine.

The shooting occurred about 12:20 a.m. Thursday. Young told officers he noticed Krohn alone at the bar, leave his stool and walk toward him behind the bar. Krohn was pointing a .25 caliber, nickel-plated automatic. Young said he told Krohn to put "that toy" away, and Krohn fired. Police said Krohn emptied his gun by firing four more shots while Young lay on the floor. The shots were fired from a distance of four feet, police said.

Young showed officers a $10 check he had cashed for Krohn earlier in the evening. From the check, police got Krohn's name; from his car, left parked outside the club, they got Krohn's address. Krohn was arrested at that point as he was leaving his rooming house half a block from police headquarters.

Conviction of assault with intent to kill carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Intertie Muddled

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—The controversial issue of a power intertie between the Bonneville system and California came before the Columbia Basin Inter-Agency Committee Friday.

The committee, holding a two-day meeting here, turned to the question after hearing a subcommittee report Thursday on recreation boating on the Columbia, the debris problem and allied subjects.

Recommendations were made for legislation requiring the installation of boat launching ramps above and below all future dams or navigable streams.

The committee also asked that a committee be set up to explore all possible solutions of the debris control problem, devise a program to eliminate debris and secure commitments to guarantee its completion.

To Attend School

Three city police officers will attend a six-day basic school on law enforcement subjects this week in Medford.

Chief Charles A. Howard said Klamath Falls officers will be patrolmen Gordon Ramsey, Norman Mitchell and Al Bianconi.

The school, sponsored by the Oregon Association of City Police Officers and the Oregon State Sheriff's Association, will cover subjects such as search and seizure, methods of arrest, use of sidearms and preservation of evidence.

In World War I, General Gallieni used Paris taxicabs to move troops to halt the Germans at the first battle of the Marne.

Writer Ill

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Doctors say Simone de Beauvoir, French writer, has typhoid fever, contracted during a trip in the Amazon territory. The doctors added Thursday that her condition is good at Royal Portuguese Hospital here.

DA Drops Charges

Assault charges against three women were dismissed Wednesday afternoon in circuit court shortly after their trial had begun.

Deputy District Attorney Robert Redding moved for dismissal because, he told the court, the state's own witness "appeared reluctant to prosecute."

The witness was Francis Hutchinson, 37, Bly, whom the defendants were accused of beating behind a Bly store last July 25. Accused of assault and battery with force likely to produce great bodily injury were Loraine Allen, 37, Alturas, and Caledonia Jackson, 22, and Laneva (Mickey) Henry, 19, both of Beatty.

A jury was selected shortly after noon and trial was recessed by Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg for lunch.

After opening arguments, Redding called Hutchinson as the state's first witness.

Hutchinson had a "sudden failure of memory," Redding said. His answer to questions were "I just don't remember," or "I guess that happened."

Redding finally moved on behalf of the state that the case be dismissed.
