OSC Slates Wool, Sheep Field Day

New research in sheep breeding and management and current trends in marketing lamb and wool will highlight the second annual Sheep and Wool Field Day October 28 at Oregon State College.

The field day, sponsored jointly by OSC and the Western Oregon Livestock Association, will open with registration at 8 a.m. in Withycombe Hall, according to chairman C. W. Fox, OSC animal husbandman.

Progress on control of white muscle disease in sheep through use of protein meals will be reported at the morning session by J. E. Oldfield, OSC animal scientist.

Encouraging results with purified microfine phenothiazine for control of internal parasites of sheep will be reviewed by Dr. S. E. Knapp, OSC department of veterinary medicine.

Other morning discussions include: revision of USDA standard grades for lamb carcasses, R. E. Starr, Seattle; chain store requirement in buying lamb, Don Barnard, Portland meat buyer; and problems in marketing wool, Jack Gibson, Portland wool buyer.

Lamb imports and their effect on local markets will be discussed in an afternoon session by G. Burton Wood, head of the OSC department of agricultural economics who recently conferred with the U.S. Tariff Commission concerning imports.

MYRTLE BARNES was chosen queen of the 1958 festival. Shown here in a beautiful dress, Myrtle was crowned by Winston Purvine, OTI director. Other members of her court were Jean Pettigrew, Tulalake; Sharon Jackson, Bonanza; Helen Collins, Malin, and Becky Short, Henley. Her junior princesses, both of Merrill, were Vicki Haskins and Janet Keck.

Telephone statistics show that the world had an average of 56 phone conversations per person in 1957, the latest year for which figures are available.

DRUG ON THE EGG MARKET
MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (UPI)—Shirley Nettleton is thinking about weeding out her hen flock. One laid an egg so small, 22 grams, that it had to be weighed on the prescription scales at a drug store.

DRUG RESEARCH
NEW YORK (UPI)—The drug industry employs more basic researchers per thousand employees—4.5—than any other industry, according to the Health News Institute. The chemical industry employs only 0.43.
