

Belton Issues Warning On Financing Programs

EUGENE (AP) — Look a gift horse in the mouth twice before buying, was the pre-election advice state Treasurer Howard Belton gave a convention audience here today.

Belton, a veteran state legislator of 22 years, discussed public fiscal policies during the opening session of the Oregon Savings and Loan League's annual convention, attended by 100 delegates.

In referring to public apathy toward questioning costs of government, Belton reminded the delegates that many programs are "financed out of the pockets of people."

Belton said voters and candidates have a dual responsibility of assessing the need and cost of programs for additional governmental services.

"We have fallen into the habit of not questioning costs but rather asking, 'What will the government give me?'" he said.

Belton, who was appointed state treasurer in January, said that "glowing" reports of the 1960s depend upon a sound economy.

In a presidential election year, Belton said, a number of slogans, issues and scapegoats are brought on the scene.

Compulsive Talker Needs A Doctor

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: My fiancée has insomnia and thinks just because she can't sleep nobody else should. We're together five evenings a week. The minute I get home the phone is ringing. She wants "to talk."

Some nights she phones back two and three times. She reads stuff out of the newspaper, passages from books and articles and sometimes she sings a few songs.

Last night she called at 2:30 a.m. — said she couldn't sleep trying to think of the vice president in Millard Fillmore's administration.

What can I do? We aren't kids, Ann; I'm 29 and she's 27. I need advice from a well-rested person. I'm — BEAT

Dear Beat: This is more than simple insomnia — she's a compulsive talker and a little on the sadistic side.

Your fiancée needs more help than you can give her by just being a patient listener. Suggest that she see a doctor. In the meantime, you ought to see the phone company about a wall-jack so you can plug her out. (P.S. Millard Fillmore didn't have a vice president. He became president when Zachary Taylor died in office.)

Dear Ann Landers: My father used to say "If you want to know what kind of housekeeper a girl will be — look at her mother's house." I wish I had listened to him.

Six years ago I married a girl whose mother was the All-Time Prize-Winning Slob. When I went to call on Wilma it was like walking into a pig-pen. Once I recall a dining room window had been broken and they stuffed newspapers in the opening. It stayed that way for five months.

I travel for a living and when I come home I have to spend two days cleaning the house, so I can live in it. My wife says if I'm such a screwball it's up to me. She doesn't see the filth so it doesn't bother her.

Last week I was down to my last set of underwear and I had to buy shorts to leave town. We have two children, but they don't interfere with her going back to bed in the morning and sleeping till noon. What can I do? — FED UP PLENTY

Dear Fed: If this Second Generation Slob is blind to the filth, you can't improve her vision so don't waste your time.

Hire a cleaning lady a few days a week and instruct her personally. A poor housekeeper can't tell a cleaning woman how to clean because she doesn't know how.

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't make a joke out of this as my two unmarried sisters have. I'm a woman 44 who has never been married and now the man I have dreamed of all my life has come along. He lost his wife six years ago and we started to go together last March.

I want to have a small church wedding and, Ann, I want to wear a white satin gown and veil. My sisters say I will be the laughing stock of the town if I dress like a bride at my age. Also, they say when a woman marries a widower she doesn't have the right. Please give me some advice — IN LOVE AT LAST

Dear In Love: A woman who has never been married has the right to wear white, regardless of her age. The obvious exception: no white gown if she has had a child out of wedlock. Best wishes.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Col. Rupert C. Welch, commander, Kingsley Field, presented the "408th Fighter Group Insignia," mounted on a wooden plaque, to R. Frank Tucker, manager of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, during an informal ceremony in Colonel Welch's office last Tuesday.

The "insignia" presented to Tucker on behalf of the personnel of Kingsley Field by Colonel Welch, was in recognition of the outstanding support and service he has given the 408th Fighter Group. As manager of the chamber of commerce, Tucker has devoted much of his time to the task of assuring wholehearted community support during and since the reactivation of the base.

The leadership and dedicated efforts of Tucker were material factors in creating an effective, productive and harmonious base community relationship. The singularly distinctive accomplishments of Tucker have earned for him the sincere appreciation of the 408th Fighter Group.

Tucker was also presented the "Air Force Scroll of Appreciation" at Kingsley Field last December by Maj. Gen. John D. Stevenson, former commander of the Western Air Defense Force, Hamilton Air Force Base, California. The Air Force Scroll was awarded to Tucker "for rendering meritorious service to the United States Air Force from February 1951 through September 1959." It was signed by both the chief of staff and the secretary of the Air Force.

Duck Hunters Capture Bobcat

PORTLAND (AP)—Three young Portland duck hunters returned Sunday with a bobcat, which they turned over to the Portland Zoo.

The cat made threatening sounds when Don and Ron Medcalf and Richard Hansen spotted it in a marshy area near Sauvie Island.

A shot fired by one of the three high school youths pierced the cat's ear, but it held its ground.

The three boys threw a coil over the cat's head, trussed its legs and brought it back to the zoo.

Son's Bullet Fells Father

OAKRIDGE (AP) — Lester William Dretsch, 41, Oakridge, was killed by a bullet from his son's rifle in a deer hunting accident on Buck Mountain, southeast of here, Sunday afternoon.

Dretsch's death was the second hunting fatality in Lane County this deer season, and the fourth in the state.

Sheriff's deputies said Dretsch had taken his two sons, Larry, 18, and Leslie, 16, and a 17-year-old friend on the hunting trip. He left the boys in a pickup truck on a road and went into the forest to look for deer. The boys followed about 10 minutes later and saw a movement in the forest.

Larry told the sheriff's deputy he called out, "Is that you, dad?" then called a second and a third time, and finally said, "If you don't speak, I'm going to shoot."

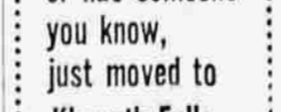

Larry said he fired, and the .308 caliber bullet struck his father in the abdomen. The boys carried the wounded man to the pickup and brought him to the Oakridge Clinic, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Dretsch was a construction employe working on the Hills Creek Dam. Authorities are continuing an investigation today.

FREEWAY FOR FREIGHT

Every day an average of 725 freight trains roll over Southern Pacific's 14,900-mile rail network in 11 Western and Southwestern states. They carry a daily average of nearly 300,000 tons of things produced, needed and used by people and industry. The ride is swift and smooth on a wide-open steel "freeway"—maintained at our expense, not the taxpayers'. No doubt about it, trains are the lowest-cost, most efficient form of transportation for carrying freight overland.

SEE-WAY FOR PEOPLE

What better way to take in the glamorama of our West and Southwest than through the big, wide-angle picture windows of an S. P. streamliner. Twenty-five running every day, on our east-west routes and on the Coast. Curl up in your comfortable Chair Car seat or Pullman room and watch the show go by... mountains, valleys, lakes, forests, shoreline, desert, cities. Relaxed surroundings for dining or refreshments, and polite, attentive service everywhere on board.
