STOCKS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in active trading accompanied by a late ticker tape. Late prices were at the day's lows.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2.8 million shares compared with 2.41 million Wednesday.

The golds were spurting for the second straight day as the yellow metal surged in the London market. Coppers were linked to the advance because many copper producers also mine quantities of gold.

The overall stock market, however, was hesitant as Wall Street assessed the economic and political implications.

Gold shares, some of which rose in early dealings, shaved their gains but still remained well ahead. American-South African Investment, a closed-end investment firm, held a gain exceeding 2.

Gold shares having their best gains reduced to fractions including Campbell Red Lake, Dome Mines, McIntyre Porcupine, South American Gold & Platinum, U.S. Smelting and Homestake.

Steels, autos, oils and rails were mostly lower by small fractions. Some electronics declined sharply. Zenith was down about 3 and Litton Industries more than a point.

Soviet Pianist Takes Gotham 'By Storm'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pianist Sviatoslav Richter, Russia's secret weapon in the cultural exchange competition, took New York music lovers by storm Wednesday night at a Carnegie Hall recital that had them cheering in the aisles.

Richter's billing as the world's greatest pianist brought out one of the most critical audiences seen at Carnegie in years—pianists, piano teachers, conductors, singers, and famous music patrons. The program of five difficult Beethoven sonatas was a grueling test even for a great virtuoso.

With each sonata, the audience response rose a few decibels until it reached a thunderous roar of applause, shouted bravos, and whistles after the final number, the incomparable appassionata.

For the first time a smile crossed Richter's sober face and he sat down to play an encore, then another and another and another, Schubert, Schumann and Chopin.

"He never does this in Moscow," said impresario Sol Hurok who brought the 45-year-old pianist from behind the Iron Curtain for the first time in his career, except for a concert in Finland last May. "I heard an audience at the Moscow Conservatory applaud for 45 minutes, but they didn't get an encore."

Japan Leftists Hold Services

TOKYO (UPI)—Japanese leftists today held funeral services for Inejiro Asanuma on the stage in Tokyo's Hibiya Hall where a fanatical anti-Communist student stabbed the Socialist party leader to death a week ago.

The services were carried out without incident. But police stood by for possible disorders during mass mourning demonstrations scheduled by various leftist organizations.

The services were broadcast over a nationwide hookup by the government's radio and television network while a huge crowd jammed the hall to pay last respects to the man who tried to lead Japan to neutralism.

Hunter Succumbs

BURNS (AP)—A heart attack suffered as he hunted deer in the Drewsey area 30 miles east of here took the life Tuesday of Waldon Hileman, about 55, of Cottage Grove.

It was Oregon's ninth death from heart seizures since the start of the hunting season Oct. 1.

BAUDOUIN WELCOMES BRIDE

BRUSSELS (UPI)—King Baudouin Wednesday night welcomed his bride-to-be at Brussels airport and spectators shouted "long live the queen."

The 30-year-old king embraced Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon, 32, as she left the plane that brought her here from Madrid.

Suit Filed Against SPRR

A $25,000 damage suit has been filed against Southern Pacific railway as a result of a right-of-way fire on SP tracks south of Chiloquin September 10, 1959.

Hugh and Ada Knight said land and a building they owned were destroyed in the fire, which they said was caused by sparks from a track grinding machine. The suit, styled against SP and four employes, seeks $12,500 damages, which may be doubled under carelessness and negligence clauses.

Other suits on file:

John Bush seeks $20,000 damages from an accident October 15, 1958, involving his car and a Super Packing Company truck. Bush maintains the truck driver failed to stop at the intersection of Dehlinger Road with Merrill highway.

George and Maude Hamilton seek from Mary Eastman $4,105 they claim remains due from a $9,000 promissory note signed November 3, 1958. They seek payment or foreclosure on a property mortgage.

Lewis Brothers Rental Company maintains John Brehm, C. R. Badger and Eugene Ledbetter owe $68 rental on a trencher used last January and February. They seek payment or a property lien.

EARL W. CODY

Earl Cody Rites Held

Services were held October 17 in Sacramento for Earl W. Cody, 83, a former, longtime resident of Klamath Falls, who died in that city October 14. He had been in failing health for two months.

He was born November 3, 1877, in Merrill, Wisconsin, and came to Klamath Falls in 1920 where he was employed by the Big Lakes Lumber Company, Pelican Bay Lumber Company and Palmerton Lumber Company at Bly.

He was married 60 years ago to Mable Mosher who survives him. Mr. and Mrs. Cody left Klamath Falls in 1952 to make their home in Sacramento with a daughter, Mrs. Fern Francis.

Survivors include the widow, one daughter, Mrs. Francis, both of Sacramento; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Four grandchildren, Mrs. Dolores Lewis, Warren Lee, Barbara Ann and Judy Cody live in Klamath Falls.

The family home in Sacramento is at 2401 Arnold Court.

KF Trial In Recess

The manslaughter trial of Joseph Vernon Meyrick, charged with fatally injuring an Air Force sergeant in an auto-pedestrian accident, was in recess today.

Recess was called by Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg because a family illness prevented the court reporter from attendance.

When trial was recessed shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday, the state's original witness still was on the stand. He was City Police Officer Darrell Hilliker, who investigated the accident at South Sixth and East Main streets at about 12:40 a.m. September 11.

Hilliker, yesterday, testified Meyrick was given a sobriety test at the city police station and performed the test poorly. He also testified about oral statements he said Meyrick had given him at the time of investigation.

Deputy District Attorney Max McMillin called Hilliker to the witness stand Tuesday morning. His testimony was interrupted by witnesses called to establish the death of the pedestrian and to establish his identity as Air Force Sgt. Ivan Hetrick, 42.

Witnesses called included Dr. George R. Nicholson, a pathologist; Dr. John Harris, an Air Force physician; Sgt. Sam White, an Air Police officer; Mrs. Ruth Harkey, a Klamath Valley Hospital nurse, and William Kendall, a funeral home attendant.

McMillin contended their testimony established the facts of death and identity.

However, Attorney Richard C. Beesley, representing Meyrick with co-defense counsel P. K. Puckett, maintained the state had offered "no proof, whatsoever, as to why he (Hetrick) is dead."

"We don't even concede that Sgt. Hetrick is dead," Beesley told the court. "There is nothing to connect these things. We have a right to have all these things proven, and they haven't been. It may be awfully technical . . ."

"It doesn't seem technical to me, and I've heard the whole thing," the judge remarked.

mier of the Soviet Union. His plea was rejected.

With the recent arrival of the numerous heads of state for the U.N. General Assembly session, Heller decided to come to New York to enlist the help of Nikita Khrushchev.

Several days after the arrival of Khrushchev and his party, Heller was walking toward the United Nations headquarters building when he accidentally came upon Antonin Novotny, the president of Czechoslovakia.

Heller pleaded his case with the Red leader on the busy city street.

"Novotny scolded me for having defected 12 years ago to America," Heller told UPI in Sacramento, "but because of our common fight in World War II against fascism and Nazism, he said 'your daughter will be returned!'"

Wednesday night, at 11:55 p.m., Novotny made good his word. Vira Heller, now a young lady of 16, stepped off a Trans World Airliner onto U.S. soil.

Deportation Protests Registered

in the minority report that two ex-Communists who testified against Mackie reported he was interested only "in bread and butter topics of the day."

"A man who has lived here for every meaningful month of his entire life," said Douglas, "should not be sent into exile for acts which this record reveals were utterly devoid of sinister implication."

Their attorneys filed a last-ditch action in federal district court yesterday, attacking constitutionality of the McCarran Act. They asked an injunction to stop the deportation in the meantime. They said deportation was "cruel" punishment, not in proportion to the offense.

Mackie said he knows no one in Finland and does not even speak Finnish. MacKay said he has tried repeatedly to get citizenship papers, but has been denied because of his depression activities.

"Whatever was their meaningful association of long ago, they have lived many decades of peaceful, plain workmen's lives in Portland, have had families and troubles and small successes of the everyday citizen. . . . It seems that America might somewhere have compassion for a mild-mannered, part-time carpenter whose son is a captain of his high school football team and for a house painter who served honorably in the American Army," said the newspaper The Oregonian in an editorial today.

The men hold one other hope. Both have appealed to President Eisenhower for executive clemency.

Mackie first was ordered deported in 1953 following an Immigration Service hearing here at which special inquiry officer Louis Hafferman ruled that Mackie had been a Communist from 1937 to 1939.
