

Migrant Health Needs Told

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A story of ill-health, disease and public neglect was told here today in a report before the closing session of a two-day convention on problems of migrant farm workers.

Some 250 representatives from the fields of medicine, agriculture, education and welfare have been called here by California Gov. Edmund G. Brown's Advisory Committee on Children and Youth.

The new report on migrant health needs was prepared by Dr. Bruce Jessup, Stanford University pediatrician. It was released by Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state director of public health.

It urged a sweeping set of medical care reforms, yet it noted that the major reforms listed have been sought by official investigators ever since 1937 or even earlier.

Lack of Sanitation
The report detailed lack of sanitation facilities among the 65,000 migrant workers and the 83,400 Mexican braceros who help harvest California's $3 billion farm crop.

It said that only four California counties offer any special facilities to provide medical care for seasonal farm workers in outlying areas. Thirty-five county health departments refuse to accept indigent migrants as medical patients except in emergencies, according to the report.

It listed high levels of infections, parasitic diseases, circulatory diseases and accidents among these workers and noted that the children of these workers only rarely receive any needed shots.

The report told of a four-month-old Mexican-American baby who was recently treated at Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital for acute diarrhea.

The infant lived in a family of 10 people, who slept on two boards in a nine-by-twelve canvas tent with a dirt floor. The tent was located within the city limits of Mountain View, Calif.

Severe Epidemics
The Jessup report told of a detailed survey in Sutter and Yuba counties last August when investigators found a labor camp of 1600 people on the outskirts of Yuba City with no medical facilities, no running water and only antiquated communal toilets. Almost the whole camp had been struck by a severe diarrhea epidemic and the camp was also beset by disproportionate amounts of some 10 other illnesses, according to the report.

Fresno County was lauded for setting up clinics to help expectant mothers among farm workers. The clinics cut the infant mortality rate in half in three years, according to the report.

The report called on all county hospitals to minister to seasonal farm workers and recommended a system of compulsory prepaid health insurance for migrant workers.

Tax Statements In The Mail
YREKA—According to Siskiyou County Tax Collector Helen Walter, her office mailed out more than 18,000 county tax statements Friday, anticipating a collection of $3,526,749.

Mrs. Walter stated that the tax rate is lower over most of the county than last year.

More than $262,700 will be collected from residents of Yreka, while $885,932 is the total amount to be paid by all incorporated areas of Siskiyou County, estimates indicate.

Last year, according to Mrs. Walter, her office collected $3,386,408.

Water Plan Opposed
WASHINGTON (AP)—A report opposing the California water plan and a proposed $1.75 billion bond issue for financing it has been circulated by the Public Affairs Institute.

The analysis was written by George Ballis, editor of a California labor newspaper, with a preface by Dr. Paul S. Taylor, University of California economist.

In a foreword, Dewey Anderson, executive director of the institute, commented:

"The water problem in the Far West is one involving the entire Pacific slope and the semi-arid states just east of the Sierras. This is why from the standpoint of national interest the California proposal is unacceptable."

The public affairs institute describes itself as a nonpartisan, non-profit research organization. It has published a series of studies on conservation and the use of natural resources.

Anderson, a former member of the California Legislature, criticized the California water development plan as an attempt at local solution of a problem requiring "national engineering plans and socio-economic policies."

"The plan," he commented, "has nothing to offer the California parched lands east of the Sierras, and ignores entirely the needs of the sister states of Nevada and Arizona."

"While just to the north of its Oregon boundary are rivers wastefully spilling millions of gallons of water into the ocean that a sound federal plan would incorporate into a proper regional resources development program to the mutual advantage of all the western states involved."

Finch Trial Deliberation In 6th Day

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff began their sixth day of waiting today for a jury to decide their fate.

The 11 women and lone man since Wednesday have met daily, except Sunday, to examine testimony given by 99 witnesses in the murder retrial which began June 27.

The state claims the illicit lovers murdered Finch's wife Barbara, 33, on July 18, 1959.

Finch, 43, outwardly calm, is riding away the tense time of deliberations alone in his 10th story county jail cell. He spent Monday smoking his pipe, reading and listening to the radio while the jurors deliberated and then recessed for the night.

The shapely Miss Tregoff, 23, Finch's onetime receptionist and a former model, sought extra duty in county jail as a dishwasher. She explained she wanted to keep occupied.

The couple has gone through the whole tense business of waiting for a jury to pass on their fate once before. That was in their first trial which ended March 12 in a hung jury.

The original trial lasted 10 weeks—the present trial is in its fifth week—and the jurors deliberated eight days before becoming hopelessly deadlocked.

In both trials the state has demanded Finch and Carole be found guilty of first degree murder, a conviction which in California carries a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber.

There was no official estimation of when the jurors might return a verdict, nor did their behavior during the brief time they were seen Monday give any hint of their progress.

They chattered and appeared pleasant when they recessed to return to their hotel rooms where they are locked in each night.

Sheriff's deputies said the jurors spend the long evenings playing cards, listening to TV and radio and reading.

For all involved it was a waiting game.

Boosters Taking Form

MOUNT SHASTA — A boosters club for Mount Shasta entered process of formation this week. The response was encouraging. The club is expected to have a membership of 100, but more will be welcome.

The object of the club will be to promote anything that will benefit the community. Special emphasis will be placed on school activities, including athletics. Cooperation with existing organizations will be stressed.

It has been pointed out that many things have been suggested for development here. A few projects have been undertaken. With an organization to help things along it is hoped to see more of these plans become a reality, club organizers say.

Anyone interested in learning more of the proposed organization may secure information at Moore Barber Shop on Walnut Street. Specified places for signing up for membership will be designated later.

Inquest Slated In Shooting

VISALIA (UPI) — Chief Deputy Coroner Ernest Martzen today scheduled an inquest for Wednesday in the fatal shooting of Ella Fulton, 24, Visalia.

Mrs. Fulton was shot in the head with a .22 caliber revolver Sunday during a quarrel with her common-law husband, Albert F. Cooper, 30. Cooper was jailed as a murder suspect.

Cooper has contended the weapon discharged accidentally when his wife grabbed with him. He said she became angry when he announced plans to leave her.

Head Injuries Prove Fatal To 5-Year-Old
WEED — Jesse Leonda Marts Jr., 5, died Sunday afternoon on the C. A. Grissom ranch at Edgewood near here of head injuries he received in a fall from a pickup truck.

Siskiyou County sheriff's deputies said the lad was riding with his brothers and sisters in a vehicle driven by his father, Jesse Marts Sr. He was dead on arrival at Weed Clinic at 12:45 p.m. An autopsy revealed he died of a skull fracture.

Marts, an employe on the Grissom ranch, told deputies he was driving from five to 10 miles per hour on an unpaved ranch road. He said he does not know how the boy happened to fall.

Funeral services are pending at Girdner's Funeral Chapel, Yreka. The boy leaves, besides his parents, two brothers and two sisters.

The Marts have been employed on the Grissom ranch for the past 1½ years, said deputies. The boy was a native of Texas.

Cyclists Cautioned

YREKA — Bicyclists have every bit as much responsibility to adhere to motor vehicle laws as do automobile drivers, Capt. J. B. Booth, commander of the California Highway Patrol's Yreka office, said this week.

"Some drivers operate their bicycles as though immune to laws which govern vehicle operation. Actually, it is their duty to know and observe all traffic rules," he said.

"In addition, there are several tips which can help make a bicycle safer. First of all, cyclists should always ride in single file, if two or more are in a group. Riding abreast spreads bikes across the roadway, greatly increasing the chances of a car hitting a bicycle.

"Second, cyclists should never ride double on a bike built for one person. The instability resulting from the added weight may cause the bike to take an unexpected turn — right into the path of a car.

"Third, the rider should keep his bike in good condition, checking the brakes periodically and lubricating it, but not making alterations which may increase danger of riding."

One recent fat found many youths raising handlebars to a point where the grips are above the level of the head, said Booth. It takes measurably longer — up to 15 feet — to stop a bike when the handle bars are that high, Captain Booth said.

NEEDS PERSUASION
NEWARK, England (UPI) — Tony Price, 30, admitted today he tied up Derek Rawson, 30, took him to a demolition project and forced him to work. "He is a good worker but he has to be driven hard," said Price.

Plane Wreck Identified By Navy

YREKA—The wreckage of a plane, splattered over a craggy mountain peak in the Etna area, was identified Friday as that of a Navy torpedo bomber abandoned by its crew over Scott Valley June 6, 1947.

The wreckage was scattered over an area three quarters of a mile in diameter, said Siskiyou County sheriff's deputies who organized an investigation and were assisted by other men.

It was located last week by Charlie Snapp, a mail carrier, who was hunting deer in the high, alpine sector of the Salmon Mountains between Taylor Creek and Cecilville.

Snapp spotted chewed-up plane parts on "I Am Up" peak in the neighborhood of the 7,000-foot altitude level.

Military authorities determined from the plane's serial number that it was one on a ferry flight from Seattle to Fort Bragg, California.

Its pilot, Marine Lt. Robert W. Hewitt, ordered his two passengers, both Navy chief pharmacist's mates, to abandon the craft when its fuel ran low, authorities said. Hewitt followed them out.

He walked to Cecilville, about 20 miles southwest. The other men walked to Callahan, about the same distance southeast.

Farm Insurance Programs Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Associated Farmers of California Inc., has urged other farm groups to form health insurance programs for migrant harvest workers similar to one it started this year.

Executive Secretary Charles Gibbs said Monday he made the suggestion to other groups after hearing of a report made to Gov. Edmund G. Brown on unhealthy living conditions of migrant workers.

The Associated Farmers, working with the California Medical Association and others, has a health insurance program which provides that workers transferring from the employment of one member to another during the harvest season can be assured of continued health insurance coverage.

Tom Dewey Tours In State

STOCKTON (UPI)—Thomas E. Dewey, the two-time unsuccessful Republican presidential nominee, toured Northern California Monday on behalf of the GOP candidates in the coming election.

The former New York governor traveled to Los Angeles today for more campaigning in the southern part of the state.

Dewey lauded Vice President Richard M. Nixon's farm program at a San Joaquin County fund raising dinner at Stockton Monday night. But he branded Sen. John F. Kennedy's program as "unworkable, costly and 'cruel.'"

He said Nixon "has spelled out a program for effective consumption and distribution of our farm surpluses."

Dewey said Kennedy's program would bring every product in the country under the "iron control of the federal government." He described it as "cruel beyond belief in the deception it would practice upon our people."

"In my opinion," Dewey said, "the program would not only impose insufferable controls but would create black markets, farm slaughtering, rationing and all the evils of the O.P.A."

He said the department of agriculture estimated that increased costs to administer the Kennedy program would be at least $250 million a year. Dewey said the program would send food prices up 25 per cent.

Celebration Benefits FD
FORT JONES—The Volunteer Fire Department here benefited handsomely from bountiful proceeds from the city's centennial celebration September 3.

Thomas Cloyd, celebration general chairman, reported during a meeting of the Fort Jones Community Service Council recently that proceeds were used to pay off indebtedness on a new kitchen at the community center building.

Council members voted to give the balance to the fire department's building fund. Firemen hope to build a new fire hall.

Cloyd thanked all who worked on his celebration committee. Cooperation was splendid, he said. The council also discussed housing for new families that will reside in Scott Valley as a result of institution of Clear Creek Honor Camp for minimum security state prisoners near here.

Work is expected to begin soon on the camp located off the Greenhorn Road to Yreka, five miles north of here.

Fort Jones residents who have quarters available for occupancy are asked to contact any member of the council.

Mrs. James Stanton, council president, conducted the meeting. The next meeting has been scheduled for Monday, November 21.

Grain Ship In Distress

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Coast Guard reported a Liberian-registered grain ship in distress Monday night, about 1,300 miles off the California coast.

A cutter from the 13th Coast Guard District was speeding toward the vessel.

Taking on water was the Grecian Emblem, a 504-foot freighter that was bound for Tokyo when a hatch cover came loose and water began pouring into a main hold.

Ships, Planes Search Ocean For 'Leaky Tiki'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two Coast Guard planes and two cutters searched the Pacific 100 miles southwest of here Tuesday for three men whose Australian-bound raft was wrecked in stormy seas.

Missing are Charles Aylen, 36; Donald Trawitski, 35, and Jerry Ball, 26; all of Puyallup, Wash.

A missing life raft and a faint voice on a shortwave radio offered the only hope that they survived the breakup of their craft, Leaky Tiki.

A life raft which carried a small radio transmitter was not among the debris of the Leaky Tiki found Sunday.

A San Francisco Bay-area woman—a bedridden invalid—said she was listening to a short wave radio shortly after 3 p.m. Monday when she heard a faint voice calling "Leaky Tiki. Help."

The woman, who did not want her name disclosed, reported the call to the Coast Guard.

The Leaky Tiki put out from Eureka, near the Northern California border, Oct. 7.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years, "They said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the hair you lose in one morning's combing, together with information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, do you have dandruff? Is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.
