In The Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
In this series of sketches of the Southwest, I think we'll have to devote one more piece to Nevada. It will revolve around this question:
Over the long pull, will the gambling boom strengthen her permanent economy? Or will it weaken it?

One's first thought is that the Nevada economy can't help being strengthened by what is going on. These outside customers certainly bring a lot of money into the state. Presumably, they leave more money than they take away. Otherwise the gambling establishments would go broke. No business can go on indefinitely putting out more than it takes in.

And—
These visitors don't spend ALL their money in the gaming places. They put a lot of it out for lodging. All kinds of lodging—ranging all the way from the posh palaces where the wealthy put up down to the simplest kind of motor courts. The whish-whish of the hammer are heard on all sides . . . and this new construction puts out a lot of money in the way of wages.

They spend a lot of money for food, and the preparation of this food provides a lot of employment. The posh palaces and the simple motels require a lot of maintenance, and this business of maintenance provides a lot of jobs. The visitors buy a lot of gasoline, and that provides jobs.

Then—
There are the entertainers—the musicians, the actors, the dancers, the strip-teasers, the stage hands. Everything pertaining to making fun for people to come and buy. And don't forget the bell-hops. It takes about two dollars to get into one of these fancy lodging houses and about as much more to get out and on your way to somewhere else.

The money that changes hands here in Nevada isn't all the funny money that rolls out when the slot machine comes up with three bars or the little spinning ball drops into the right hole. A lot of it is the REAL money that is paid for goods and services.

So—
Maybe this new boom that gambling has brought to Nevada isn't all illusion. Maybe it isn't all moonshine. Maybe it isn't all Fool's Gold. Maybe some of it is REAL.
Maybe it WILL strengthen Nevada's economy.

But—
Just about the time you're beginning to bring yourself around to this way of thinking—
You begin to notice something else.

Here, if you are a thoughtful observer, capable of looking beneath the surface, is what will begin to break in on your consciousness:
You will become aware that ALL the patrons of these gaming devices—the clattering slot machines, the spinning roulette balls, the clicking dice at the complicated crap tables, the raucous voices of the barkers and the come-ons proclaiming the winners—aren't well-heeled toffs from the big burbs of other states.

A whole lot of them are the carpenters who wield the saws and the hammers, the waitresses who serve the food, the kitchen workers who wash the dishes, the bell-hops who carry your baggage, the attendants at the gasoline stations, the hewers of wood and the drawers of water that really keep this glittering business going.

That brings this sober second thought.
How CAN this new gaming economy that has come to Nevada be a sound economy if all the REAL money that is earned goes back into the rapacious maws of the gaming devices?

Price Of Gold Hikes Again

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold went up to $36.26 a fine ounce during early dealings on the London market today. The previous day's closing price was $35.56.
It was a thin market—that is, supplies were short and the price sensitive to even moderate demand—and the quotation quickly rose 22 cents from the price of $35.98 fixed as a basis for early dealings.

This compared with a peak of $40.00 reached in a buying spree on the exchange last week, and the official U.S. Treasury price of $35.
The present price is not tempting many sellers, but it may go up, said a spokesman for one of the five London firms which handle gold transactions in London.

MACHINERY for the beginning of construction of the natural gas pipeline began to arrive in Malin this week. Here, some of the big Caterpillars that will clear the right of way for the pipeline are lined up as Vaclav Kalina, right, gives them closer inspection, and George Wise, left, master mechanic of Western Pipeline, Inc., stands by. If weather permits, work is expected to get underway on the work as quickly as possible.

President Plans Talk For Republican Ticket

WITH KENNEDY IN PENNSYLVANIA (UPI)—Negotiations for a fifth television debate between Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon collapsed in a "no agreement" stalemate today.
The Kennedy campaign party announced that the senator's representative in negotiations for a final TV debate had been "unable to get a definitive answer from the Republican presidential candidate" on time and place.

By United Press International
Vice President Richard M. Nixon took his midwestern whistle-stop campaign into Illinois and Iowa today leaving a series of ugly incidents behind him in Michigan and Indiana.

Sen. John F. Kennedy toured the key election state of Pennsylvania, charging that Nixon, not he, is "downgrading America" and "selling America short." His goal was a grip on Pennsylvania's 32 electoral votes.

President Eisenhower goes on nationwide television tonight to make his first major campaign speech on behalf of the GOP ticket. Eisenhower will speak from a Republican dinner at Philadelphia.

SEATTLE (AP)—Not even Bess Truman is going to change husband Harry's "give 'em hell" campaigning.
Ex-president Truman laughingly told a group of labor leaders Thursday: "The boss, Mrs. Truman said to me before I left, 'Now you clean up your language.'"
"But I told her, 'Well, people understand what I'm talking about.'"

NEW YORK (AP)—Daylight Saving Time bows out Sunday in the Northeast and a few scattered places elsewhere. The official change takes place at 2 a.m. when clocks should be changed to standard time.

$45,000 Due OTI Under Education Act

Oregon Technical Institute is among 19 state and private universities, schools and colleges in Oregon which will share $1,444,217 allocated recently by the federal government under the National Defense Education Act for student loan funds.
OTTI's share will be $45,000. Much of the allocation already has been received. And the Student Loan Committee already has approved loans of $750, $700 and $500, respectively, to three of the 17 students who so far have applied for long-term loans.

Students are allowed to borrow up to $1,000 per year and a total of $3,000 for a full college career. They have up to 10 years in which to pay the debt at low interest beginning when a student ceases to carry a full curriculum schedule. Interest begins to accrue a year after a student is graduated. Interest is three per cent.
Loan committee members still are considering the other 14 applications for loans. Members are A. E. Smith, business manager; H. L. Smith, dean of students; William Swartz, diesel technology instructor; Ray Garrison, mechanical technology instructor; and Max Saunders, a certified public accountant and accounting instructor.

Dr. Winston Purvine, OTI director, says he is pleased with the federal allocation. He says that scores of promising students have undoubtedly been forced to discontinue education over the years at OTI because of lack of funds for completing two thirds or more of a curriculum.
Dr. Purvine added that he hopes the fund will build eventually to about $100,000, or what he considers an adequate amount. The fund will contain about $50,000 when the last installment of the NDEA allotment arrives in December.
Of the total, $5,000 was allocated from money donated by friends of OTI over the years for the short-term student loan fund there. Another $8,000 remains in the short-term loan fund that is loaned to needy students for a maximum of 90 days.
The $5,000 was the amount required in matching money to qualify for the NDEA grant. Dr. Purvine said.
Permission was granted by many of the organizations and individuals who have contributed to the short-term fund to apply their donations to the long-term fund. Dr. Purvine said.
The University of Oregon and Oregon State College received by far the largest allocations. The UO share was $483,649, and OSC's, $251,428.

Al Ullman Hit By Phair

PENDLETON — The office of Republican Second District congressional candidate, Ron Phair, released the text of a statement today concerning the dispute between Gov. Mark Hatfield and Rep. Al Ullman over the latter's role in the Boardman Land Exchange measure.
Phair said that the press earlier had unfortunately and incorrectly stated that Hatfield said that the "Ullman amendment to the Boardman Land Exchange legislation was 'headed off.'"
"As a matter of fact," Phair said, "the Ullman amendment that was introduced did indeed become law. However, it remains that Mr. Ullman's lack of cooperation and his work with a group from Lake County did endanger the entire project." Phair related the details of the matter.

"At a time when the Boardman Land Exchange proposal was being steered through the Senate by Senators Morse and Lusk, a letter was received from Senator Morse requesting the governor's assistance in getting the people of the state of Oregon in agreement with regard to a proposal made by Congressman Ullman to restrict the Navy Department unnecessarily in their choice of land for an alternate site."
"Representative Ullman had given in to the pressures of a few vocal individuals insisting upon restrictions which would have been strongly opposed by the Navy and which Senator Morse would have had to explain on the floor of the Senate. This action would most certainly have jeopardized the passage of the bill."
"Fortunately, the officials of Lake County were unanimous in recognizing the value of such an exchange to the state of Oregon, and as a result, telegraphed their support to Senator Morse, thereby negating the support Congressman Ullman had been receiving from a few local Lake County individuals."
"In his desire to appease a very few constituents, the Congressman jeopardized the entire Boardman transaction."

Phair said that he had spent much time in investigating this matter. He concluded, "Ullman's cooperation in other respects of this transfer is not denied, but what good is this cooperation if his action concerning the proposed restrictions had been permitted to prevail and the entire project killed?"
Phair returns to Klamath Falls tonight for a Phair rally at the Klamath Auditorium.
A buffet dinner will be served beginning at 6 p.m.
Sen. Frank Carlson, Kansas, will be the principal speaker. Phair will also discuss some issues of his campaign for U.S. representative.
Norm Duffy, chairman for the dinner, urged that all interested Democrats and Republicans are invited, and said it would be concluded in time for those who may wish to attend the KUHS homecoming game at Modoc Field.

Gal Driver Blacked Out

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bette Gillespie, 25, said today she blacked out just before her car touched off a rush-hour accident in the Loop which killed five persons and injured three others.
Miss Gillespie, daughter of a former alderman, said she was trying to stop for a red light Thursday night when "I blacked out and woke up in the hospital."
Witnesses said her car leaped a curb and struck two persons, then smashed into a truck. The impact sent the truck's trailer careening into another car which hurtled into a group of pedestrians on another corner and then plowed into a parking lot.
The dead were identified as Corby Alward, 30, La Grange, Ill.; Carl Matre, 61, Des Plaines, Ill.; Leslie Miles, 63, West Chicago, Ill.; Carl Berggren, 38, Glen Ellyn, Ill.; and Harold Murphy, 40, Glen Ellyn.

Water Christenson, 40, driver of the truck, said "I heard a crash and heard someone shouting 'Get out of the way!' Then I stopped and got out of the truck and saw what happened."
The driver of the second auto, Bonnie Gilkey, 42, of Chicago, was seriously injured and unable to be questioned by police.

Timber Sales Figures

SALEM (AP)—Timber sales from state lands totaled $2,878,929 in the year ended June 30, the state Forestry Department said today.
These sales have doubled in the past five years.

Death Takes Grants Pass Publisher

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP)—Amos E. Voorhies, 91, publisher of the Grants Pass Daily Courier, died Thursday.
Voorhies never recovered consciousness after suffering a stroke two weeks ago.
Despite his advanced years, he had stayed on the job until stricken, going to his office every afternoon to collect data for a weekly column and to file photographs. He was Oregon's oldest publisher, both in age and length of service.
Voorhies also had wide radio and television interests. He was part owner of radio station KBES here and of TV stations KGBS at Medford, KPIC at Roseburg and KOTI at Klamath Falls. He also had been secretary and director of the Oregon Caves Co. for 35 years.
Voorhies' first newspaper job was as an unpaid apprentice on a weekly at Greenville, Mich., where he was born. He moved to Oregon in 1891, worked for a time as a printer in Portland, then came here in 1895 as foreman of the weekly Oregon Observer. He became a partner two years later in the Rogue River Courier.
Voorhies belonged to Bethany Presbyterian Church, several Masonic orders, the Elks Lodge, the Oregon Press Association, Sons of the American Revolution, Sons of Union Veterans and the Rotary Club.
Among survivors are his son, Erle E. Voorhies, and a grandson, John E. Voorhies. Both were associated with him in operation of the newspaper. Mrs. Lisle C. Pratt, 2896 Lakeshore Drive, Klamath Falls, is a niece of Amos Voorhies.
Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the L. B. Hall Funeral Home here.

Bulletin Ambassador To Cuba Heads Home

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—A Northwest Airlines passenger plane crashed in flames in mountain country 26 miles west of Missoula today.
Northwest headquarters at St. Paul said the plane carried eight passengers and a crew of four.
Their fate was not determined immediately, but a woman driving near the scene said the plane was in flames and there was no sign anyone had got free of the wreckage.
The eastbound plane left Portland at 8:20 a.m. and stopped at Spokane before heading into Montana.

Please Vote, Scouts Ask

About 2,500 Boy Scouts, Explorer Scouts and Cub Scouts will be among five million from the nation who will participate in a giant "get-out-the-vote" campaign Saturday.
Scouts will cover their neighborhoods hanging Liberty Bell posters on doorknobs. The posters bear the slogan, "Ring the Bell for Liberty . . . Vote As You Think, But Vote."
Scouts hope residents will put the posters where they may be seen, indicating that they are going to vote and urging others to do the same.
Some Scouts will parade at various business areas, Klamath Falls, Paek 8, for instance, currently is in the midst of a great get-out-the-vote poster project. They will march bearing the posters at Town and Country Shopping Center Saturday afternoon.
Jim Tockey, Klamath Falls, camping and activities chairman for the Klamath District, including all of Klamath County, is in charge of the campaign here.
Others in each of the four districts in Modoc Council are organizing similar activities.
Scouts of the nation have participated in get-out-the-vote campaigns during the two previous presidential election periods.
Tockey and the Scouts also are attempting to organize a plan whereby local church bells will ring and local radio stations will broadcast special recordings of bells at 8 a.m. to remind voters that election day is at hand.
Scouts are conducting the campaign in conjunction with Freedom's Foundation, Inc., of Valley Forge. They say they are heeding warnings by some students of American history that patriotism is on the wane.

French Face New Crisis

PARIS (UPI)—Bloody riots and Communist threats of intervention in the bitter six-year-old Algerian war threatened today to plunge France back into the chaos that toppled the 4th Republic.
Scores of leftist and right-wing demonstrators were injured and more than 500 were arrested in riots in eight French cities Thursday.

Registration

Registration is continuing Friday for the Klamath Falls Police Junior Rifle Club classes in rifle handling and shooting. Parents are requested to bring their children, between the ages of 10 and 15, to the Police Pistol Range, 300 South Fourth Street, at 4 p.m. There is a $1 charge for the eight-week course.
The indictment charged that Hirsch and Melek with "an individual" in Chicago, Newark, N.J., and New York several times in late 1958 and early 1959, and paid sums of money, presumably for information. It was not made clear whether one or more persons were involved, and the "individual" was not named in any of the encounters.

MRS. G. H. HANCOCK, 701 Pacific Terrace, niece of George Nurse, founder of Linkville which was later to become Klamath Falls, stands on the Link River Bridge near the city which bears a bronze plaque bearing the notation, "The first building of Linkville founded in 1887 by George Nurse stood near this place." The marker was erected by Eulalona Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Boats bringing passengers, freight and mail up the river landed just below the spot that is marked. Nurse built the first building.

George Nurse, who founded the settlement that later became Klamath Falls, will be honored at a no-host luncheon Saturday, October 29, in the Willard Hotel. Present will be members of the Klamath County Historical Society and the Siskiyou County Historical Society.
The luncheon is open to all persons interested in hearing a review of the life of the colorful figure whose life was entwined physically, financially and emotionally with both Klamath and Siskiyou counties.
Speakers will be Orlo Steel, Yreka, whose family knew the Nurse family and Floyd Wynne, city councilman.
Present for the luncheon will be Mrs. G. H. Hancock and her brother, W. R. Boyd, niece and nephew of George Nurse.
The no-host turkey luncheon at 1 p.m. will be served for $1.25 per plate.
There will be a large table of antiques, among them many from the Nurse family.

Pope Fetes Anniversary

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII today celebrated the second anniversary of his election as supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church by consecrating eight new bishops.
The ceremony could have been performed by any of hundreds of other bishops but the Pope chose to preside himself.
Two of the eight new bishops are Americans — Edward E. Swanson, auxiliary to Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, and New York-born Joseph McGough, apostolic delegate to South Africa.
The others were five Italians and a Brazilian.
Pope John will be 79 years old next month.

GNUS DEAL

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The zoo knows it and the gnu knows it: it takes a he-gnu and a she-gnu to produce a new gnu.
That's why Griffith Park Zoo is making a deal with the Fresno Zoological Society.
Griffith park has several she-gnus but no he-gnus. At Fresno, she-gnus are rare but there are he-gnus to spare.
The news is that the two zoos will be mating gnos by mating gnos.

Lands Safely

HILO, Hawaii (UPI)—A Royal Canadian Air Force plane carrying 11 men flew 750 miles over the Pacific Ocean with one of its two engines feathered Thursday night before landing safely here.
The crew of the P-6V Neptune sent out a "Mayday" distress signal after passing the "point of no return" on a flight from Alameda, Calif., to Honolulu.
