

PRESTO! CHANGE-OH! — This attractive screen of western pine region boards goes to fill an old window between the living room and sun room. Its pleasant design was cut with a handsaw and the pattern allows light and air to pass through.

Buyers Get Warning

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Better Business Bureau (NBBB) has warned buyers to beware of "Buy One—Get One Free" deals.

In a bulletin to its members, the NBBB said it had found after a nationwide investigation of current advertising of "two gallons of paint for the price of one," that such deals are deceptive if two units are always offered at a single stated price.

"A question arises as to whether this method of selling, or any other commodity, involves the sale of one unit and the gift of another, or whether, in reality, two units at a time are regularly and customarily sold for a single stated price," said Kenneth B. Willson, NBBB president.

Willson said the bureau believes that public understanding of "Two-for-One-Sales" is that, for a limited time, two articles are being offered for the usual price at which one has been sold as a single unit in the recent regular course of business.

"When two articles are always offered together for a stated price, and cannot be secured individually in the normal course of business," he said, "the customary unit of sale is two, and to imply that the stated price is the regular price for one, and the other is 'free' is fallacious."

QUESTION: We have an old cabinet of dark mahogany that I would like to lighten in order to match some modern furniture we bought recently. I have been told that a commercial bleach is best for this kind of job. Can you give me some advice on the matter?

ANSWER: Yes, a commercial bleach generally will do a better job than a homemade bleach. You will have to get down to the bare wood with a paint-varnish remover. After you do this, you may discover that the mahogany actually is a great deal lighter than you thought it was. All bleaches are strong, so be sure to wear rubber gloves while working. The most important part about bleaching is to follow the instructions on the label of the brand you purchase, since there are some variations in method. If it appears that you may have a difficult job making a perfect match with your new furniture, you might try a little trick sometimes used by professional wood finishers. They bleach the wood lighter than necessary, then using a non-grain raising stain to get it to the desired tone. When the stain has dried thoroughly, apply a very light coat of shellac before putting on the new finish.

SHOO, FLY

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Dr. George Mac Collom, Vermont Extension Service entomologist, said horn flies, stable flies and horse flies cost the nation's dairymen about 150 million dollars a year in wasted feed, lower production and damaged hides.

FAULTY COMMUNICATION

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—It was just a misunderstanding, defendant Larry Thomas, 22, told the jury. He didn't say anything about a "holdup" to the liquor store proprietor; he merely asked him to "hurry up."
