

Lawyer Asks For Verdict In Retrial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A defense attorney said that unless jurors deliberating the Finch-Tregoff murder retrial reach a verdict today he will ask that they be polled to see how they stand.

The panel of 11 women and 1 man had deliberated 40 hours at day's end Monday, pushing the trial into its 19th week and surpassing by 3 hours and 40 minutes the point where the first trial jury found itself hopelessly deadlocked.

Once-wealthy Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 43, and his auburn-haired mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23, accused of murder in the first degree for the July 18, 1959 gunshot slaying of Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch, were in court Monday as the final pages of testimony were read on request of the jury.

Grant Cooper, who represented Finch at both trials, said he felt a jury poll would be in order since the 12 days of talks had yet to produce a verdict.

"If no decision is reached by mid-afternoon," he said, "I'm going to request that the jury be polled."

Superior Court Judge Leroy Dawson last week said he was not in favor of such a poll because talesmen had heard 12 solid weeks of testimony and long deliberations should be expected in such a case.

The jurist, however, did not rule out a poll if it appeared the panel possibly was hung at a later date.

The jury heard 180 pages of Carole's testimony read Monday before it retired to resume deliberations for about an hour. Jurors were then locked up for the night at a downtown hotel.

Board To Mull Service Problem
HAPPY CAMP — Robert Haskell, president of the Happy Camp Elementary School Board of Directors, called a meeting October 12 to settle details of the Hauser student transportation service arrangement.

Hauser reported need of finding a substitute bus driver in the event the regular driver is unable to make the run.

Mrs. Aurelia Fowler, faculty representative, asked the board for a raise in pay for substitute teachers.

Also present were W. N. Simmons, Hugh Wright, Mrs. Arnold Davis and Roy Curtis.

Magazines Favor Jack
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three leading news magazines have published surveys indicating Sen. John F. Kennedy has a substantial edge over Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the presidential race.

The appraisals by Time, Newsweek and U.S. News & World Report said Kennedy entered the final week of the campaign in a good position to capture far more than the 269 electoral votes needed to win.

However, all three magazines agree that in many key states where Kennedy appears ahead the edge is so slight that the electoral votes could go either way.

Political experts who took part in the surveys also agreed that the religious issue was an impendable upon which the election could hinge.

Time said a survey by its correspondents gave Kennedy an edge of 206 electoral votes to 149 for Nixon, with 82 votes listed as "unpredictable."

Newsweek reported that political editors and reporters contributing to its Listening Post credit Kennedy with 278 electoral votes to 139 for Nixon, with 100 electoral votes regarded as a "toss-up."

Bakery Business Expands

YREKA — Starting almost two years ago in Ashland with a single truck, pushing doorbells as salesman of bakery goods, Bob Randolph is today owner-operator of an expanding bakery business here with five trucks covering an average of 5,000 miles a week. He sells and delivers a complete line of baked goods.

Randolph, who recently opened the Rolling Pin Bakery on Miner Street, claims the largest retail bake shop between Medford and Sacramento. He says he got his start in the business when he answered an advertisement in a newspaper, which asked for a man with a truck to travel from door-to-door selling baked goods.

Randolph invested what money he had in a truck and started out. In a short time, he and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lillian Harr, formed a partnership and bought out the Rolling Pin Doughnut Shop, which they operated in conjunction with a hamburger stand.

Randolph hired another driver, putting a second truck into operation. Soon his business extended into Siskiyou County. A truck has been operating in Yreka now for about a year, and another truck in Weed for six months.

Randolph has Larry Burgess and Pete Pauluzzo baking with him. The latter's father was a baker many years ago. He operated a bakery in Montague.

Working as saleswomen in the shop are Dixie Scott and Gertrude Beard, both formerly of Pendleton, who are planning to establish residence in Yreka.

A day's production quota includes 300 dozen of about 50 varieties of doughnuts, 100 dozen of various kinds of breakfast cakes, 50 coffee cakes, 50 pies and an equal number of cakes. In addition they bake 700 loaves of a variety of bread, and about 75 loaves of Randolph's special French bread. Floyd Kenaston, formerly of Dorris, is a baker's helper.

Three trucks also deliver the baked goods to homes along the Klamath River, Happy Camp, Etna, Fort Jones, Callahan, Greenview, Seiad Valley, Hornbrook, Hill, Gazelle and Grenada.

The trucks and drivers are under supervision of Bill Wilson. Other operators are Stan Barnes, Bob Acquistapace, R. D. Chandler and Art Sturgeon.

Fleming Critical Of River Project
ALTURAS — Carmen P. Fleming of Willow Ranch, Republican candidate for state senator in the First District, said in a recent radio address the Feather River Project is not a water development plan but "a plan to exploit the waters of Northern California for appropriation to Southern California."

He also charged if Proposition 1, the state water bond issue plan on the November 8 ballot, is approved "it is more likely there will be no further development for a generation."

Fleming said he has been interested in the conservation of water for many years.

The chamber stresses that no partisan politics will be involved. Other items to be discussed include the state Division of Forestry conservation camp, holiday closing dates of Modoc County stores and coordinated Christmas decorations.

Suspect, 4 Cronies Sought

NEVADA CITY (UPI)—An accused slayer and his four companions were still at large today as deputies searched the woods around this mountain community for some trace of them.

Stanley William Fitzgerald, accused of killing one man and wounding another last August, broke out of the Nevada County Jail Sunday night with four other prisoners. The men were believed armed with two guns.

Sheriff Wayne Brown said his deputies were manning a dozen road blocks within a 30-mile radius of here and searching for the pickup truck stolen by the fugitives after overpowering a jailer.

Fitzgerald, 39, was awaiting trial here Dec. 4 on a murder charge brought against him after the death of George Bonn, a San Francisco cook. Milton J. Young, Lewiston, said Fitzgerald gunned down Bonn and wounded him in Truckee Aug. 3 after a drinking bout.

FBI agents, who joined the hunt, put Fitzgerald on their ten most wanted list after the shooting. He was arrested in Portland Sept. 22.

With him in the escape were Robert Lee Smithson, 31, charged with parole violation after bad checks and nonsupport convictions; and Donald Snyder, 17; Kelly Coleman, 16, and Larry Pensecau, 17, all held on juvenile charges.

Timber Sale Figures Told
YREKA — Klamath National Forest was second only to nearby Shasta-Trinity National Forest in forest service timber sales in California's Second Congressional District last fiscal year.

A new forest service release indicates timber sales in Klamath National Forest totaled $3,145,891 for the fiscal year ending June 30. Shasta-Trinity Forest yielded $4,715,356, the forest service said.

Total receipts for all services in California's 12 national forests were the highest in history. Receipts for timber, grazing, land use, recreation, power and minerals totaled $21,911,876.

The reasons for the increase were many, forest officials say, but the main reason was accelerated timber harvesting because of fire salvage and expanded programs.

Of the total, grazing receipts accounted for $202,612, land use, $25,526; recreation, $312,455; power, $7,355, and minerals, $7,562. Nationally, the forest service collected $146,348,136 from all revenue sources. The total for the 1959 fiscal year was $124,066,792. The 1959 total in the Second Congressional District was $14,569,697.

Electronics Class Begins
DUNSMUIR — A basic electronics class began here recently with James Simmons, College of the Siskiyou English teacher and librarian, as instructor.

So far 19 students are enrolled. The class meets each Monday evening. Half the students are amateur radio operators, thus the program is offered on a fairly high level, said Simmons.

Demand for such a class has been on the increase, he said, in view of current demand for electrical technicians and the high rate of government contracts let for electronic equipment.

Subjects so far discussed have been basic radio and electronics circuits, audio and radio spectrum, wave propagation and stereophonic sound.

This week, the class was shown a movie called "The Big Bounce." It related the story of the Echo-1 satellite.

Simmons has been an amateur radio operator or ham in California and Oregon since World War II. He has made 114 confirmed two-way contacts with operators in other countries. His call number is K6-ZPB.

The membership extended thanks to Klamath Falls and Keno community merchants who donated merchandise and facilities toward the sale.

North California 'Cow Counties' Cited By Knight

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has criticized state senators from the Northern California "cow counties" as being responsible for the current disagreement on Proposition 1.

Knights, appearing on television Sunday night to help promote Proposition 13 on reapportionment of the legislature, noted the northern senators refused to approve the Feather River Project in 1957 when he was governor.

But, Knight said, Gov. Edmund G. Brown was able to get the legislature to approve the program by making concessions in the form of dams and recreational facilities.

Brown has been unable to secure Metropolitan Water District endorsement of the $1.75 billion water program.

Also appearing on the TV program was state Sen. Hugo Fisher, D-San Diego, who opposes proposition 13. Fisher said San Diego residents oppose reapportionment because "they don't want to see Los Angeles with control of the Senate as it has in the Assembly."

Contractor Faces Suit
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Hal B. Hayes, millionaire contractor involved in court action over $60 million in government housing contracts, has returned from Mexico to appear in court.

Hayes arrived here Sunday night and Monday showed up in Superior Court in connection with his $4.1 million suit against Continental Casualty Co. He claims the company gave him faulty estimates on the military housing contracts with the result that he had to stop work on them.

Hayes demanded in court "reasonable expenses" for undergoing a medical examination in Mexico City. The court had ordered him to submit to the physical when he pleaded earlier he was too ill to return here.

"I came back to Los Angeles because it was a lot easier on my health than dealing with all the rigamarole down there," Hayes told newsmen. "They were making my life miserable down there."

Superior Court Judge Lloyd S. Six said he would rule Friday on Hayes' request for expenses.

Brown Cancels Negotiations On Feather River Until Vote

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has canceled further negotiations between the state and the Metropolitan Water District on the Feather River Project until after the Nov. 8 election.

Brown's decision to end the negotiations was made known to the MWD directors Sunday night in telegrams.

"I consider that further negotiations of any kind before Nov. 8 would be fruitless and unwise," the telegrams said, "tending only to confuse the separate issues of the contract and the passage of Proposition 1."

The 39 directors three times have overruled recommendations of their Water Problems Committee to endorse the $1.75 billion project. The committee was to reconsider the state's water delivery project Tuesday.

Brown also hinted the state might negotiate separately with the MWD's 90-member cities. The Los Angeles Board of Water and Power last week told Brown it would be happy to do so.

Officials of the MWD said they believed Brown was "bluffing" and would much prefer a single contract for all of Southern California. The directors had been expected to take a definite stand Tuesday on whether to endorse the project.

Ransom W. Chase, chairman of the committee, said that should the MWD reject the contract at this time it would not lose the advantages gained in the lengthy negotiations.

The governor's wire assures us that the contract, as it stands now, can be taken up for further negotiations after Nov. 8," Chase said. "Its terms will remain as they are at this time."

He added, "This means we could accomplish the important matter of retaining our present advantages for future negotiations without fear that the state might wipe out our present agreement and force us to take a less desirable contract."

Holding up MWD agreement to the water delivery contract was the effective date of the pact and whether the state or the MWD should have authority to determine exactly how much water should be delivered to Southern California from Northern California.
