

fabulous fake furs

By IRMA HELDMAN

THESE DAYS you can't tell a leopard by its spots—not a real one anyway, because the fake-fur rage has hit the fashion world and the frauds are frankly fabulous. Oh, the authentic stuff is still around, all right, but a beauty's second-best friend can be mock mink.

Hats come out on top in this make-believe zoo story. In fact, some of the prettiest chapeaux in years come from the imitation animal kingdom. To prove the point, lovely young movie actress Ina Balin, currently appearing in "From the Terrace," models a copy and its counterpart. Before peeking at the captions, try guessing which is which. Aren't the shams (and their prices) simply fantastic and flattering? As every woman knows, in a fur hat, whatever its origin, she not only looks marvelous—she feels that way.

FASHIONS

This gay leopard cloche with peek-a-bboo brim is right for any occasion. Imitation (under $15) is left, by Emme Boutique. Right, by Amrose ($75).

Obviously mink, real (by Amrose) and fake (by Commodore), has gone to Ina's head. In soft white, the toque sells for $185 (left) and under $9 (right).

So regal is this high-crown cloche in luxurious beaver! Commodore's is left (under $9); the authentic, at right, is Hattie Carnegie's ($96.50).
