

Phair Plays Inflationary Effect Of Federal Spending

MERRILL—A Democratic vic-slash nearly in half the buying power of our older citizens, Ron Phair, Republican candidate for Congress from the Second District, said today during a campaign swing into rural Klamath County.

"If the big spending programs proposed by the Democrats were ever put into effect," Phair declared, "the resulting inflation would hit hardest retired persons on pensions and fixed incomes who could well find themselves unable to meet everyday living expenses."

"Food costs alone," Phair said, "would increase a minimum of 25 per cent under terms of the agricultural program young Jack Kennedy has promised and Democrats in Congress have sworn to enact."

"Even Henry Wallace, who was Secretary of Agriculture during Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration and perhaps was the most radical man to hold that post since the founding of the Republic, has scored the Kennedy proposal as one which was too far left for him. Wallace estimated it would increase food prices not just 25 per cent, but 50 per cent. This is the estimate, remember, of the Secretary of Agriculture in the administration Senator Kennedy idolized most—that of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Phair emphasized that food prices, although one of the two major items in the average low-income budget, were not the only increases to be expected if Kennedy's ill-considered proposals are brought to fruition.

He said Kennedy repeatedly has asserted his intention of continuing New Deal policies which slashed the value of the dollar in half during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, and added:

"During the eight years of the Eisenhower Administration, when Vice President Richard M. Nixon played a major role in shaping the nation's economic policies, the dollar lost only five cents in value."

"The wanton spending which is built into the Kennedy program would make both Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman look like skinflints by comparison. Those who live in low fixed incomes well could slash their retirement checks nearly in half, and vote themselves onto relief roles by electing a Democrat to the presidency and continuing the Democratic grip on the House of Representatives."

Fire Department Advised On Funds

ROCKY POINT—Organizers of Rocky Point Community Fire Department received advice from four authorities during a meeting last Monday at Pioneer Lodge.

They were Darroll Frewing, Rogue River National Forest, Klamath District ranger; Joe Searles, county civil defense director; Forrest Kelly, insurance representative, and Don Piper, an attorney.

Frewing said the forest service will be able to endow the organization with a land-use permit that will enable the department to build a fire hall in the resort and summer home area 25 miles northwest of Klamath Falls near the Lake of the Woods area.

He said the department has authority to choose the most logical site and submit the request to the forest service for approval.

Searles said the department may be able to qualify for government surplus materials after an emergency evacuation route is established from Klamath Falls to Jackson County via the road to Lake of the Woods.

The road must first be completed and maintained throughout the year. Then, he said, a welfare center and emergency aid station probably will be located in the vicinity of Rocky Point, qualifying the area for surplus equipment. The department may also receive matching government funds for fire department operation, he said.

Kelly explained that the department should obtain insurance to cover firemen while they are on the job, collision, comprehensive and fire and theft insurance to cover the fire truck; public liability and property damage, and miscellaneous liability and fire insurance to cover the fire hall building.

Piper explained procedure for forming a non-profit corporation, enabling donors to the fire department to deduct contributions from personal income tax.

Clarence Balfour was elected president, Bud Miller, Fritz Junge, Wayne Keeler, Bob Sloan, Piper, Pete O'Neil and Doug Tennant were elected to the board of directors. They also signed an incorporation application.

Directors will meet monthly and will call quarterly meetings for all members. Members also may request a meeting at any time by presenting directors with a petition containing at least 10 members' signatures. Anyone who owns property in the Rocky Point community or who lives there is eligible to join.

Balfour, whose address is Rocky Point Route, Klamath Falls, Oregon, will furnish more information on request. His phone is on the Rocky Point exchange.

He is available, too, for advice concerning donations to the fire department. The budding department recently sent letters to 300 property owners in the area asking for donations toward purchase of a fire truck, construction of a fire hall and to meet other expenses connected with the department.

Those attending learned that donations began arriving promptly.

More are welcome. The department needs about $1,500 to buy a used fire truck offered for sale by a former fire chief who lives in the area, and from $1,000 to $2,000 to build a hall.

Donations may be made payable to Rocky Point Community Fire Department and mailed to U.S. National Bank, Eighth and Main streets, Klamath Falls.

Hatfield Supports More Aid

SALEM (AP)—Gov. Mark Hatfield announced Friday he would ask the Legislature to increase the state's share of the cost of public school education.

The governor said his proposed budget would ask for $124 million in basic school aid to local districts, compared with $107 million being spent in the current two-year budget period.

About $6 million more would be required to take care of increased enrollment, and the other 11 million of the increase would be in increased aid.

The current level of state aid is $105 per pupil per year. The increase would bring this level to $115.

Increased school aid, in effect, reduces local property taxes.

He said the increase could be accomplished without increasing state taxes.

The state now pays 36 per cent of the cost of elementary and high school education. Department of Education statisticians said they don't know what this percentage would be with the proposed increase.

The Legislative Interim Committee on Education has proposed that this level be increased to 50 per cent over the next six years.

"15" is a BAD bill

DON'T BE MISLED. Many people favor better regulation of billboards—so do we. But ballot Measure 15 is not the answer. It goes far beyond reasonable regulation. It will eventually hurt you and the entire economy of Oregon. It will seriously damage Oregon's tourist business—our third largest industry. Read why its destructive provisions go so far beyond its innocent-sounding ballot title that the astute Salem Capital Journal editorially calls it a bill of "deceit". Get the facts and you, too, will vote NO on No. 15!

★ MEASURE 15 COULD PUT THE STATE IN THE BILLBOARD BUSINESS — GIVE IT A BLANK CHECK TO BUILD EXPENSIVE AND INCONVENIENT OFF-HIGHWAY SITES USING YOUR TAX MONEY!

It would authorize the State to acquire land, construct costly access roads, and build hodge-podge boards each containing 24 different advertisements. The State would say who could advertise—who couldn't. The rental fees would cover only construction of boards. The cost of land, and roads (the major cost) would have to come from Federal and State tax money—your tax money.

★ MEASURE 15 WOULD DESTROY JOBS AND PAYROLLS—CRIPPLE TOURIST INDUSTRY

This bad bill abolishes all boards outside of cities on the interstate highways—unfairly restricts them on 16 other highways. Results: roadside merchants such as motels, restaurants, hotels, service stations, stores, garages could not effectively tell people where they were or what services they offer. Many would be forced out of business. Tourists would seek accommodations in other states.
