

New President Facing Many Routine Problems

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
WASHINGTON (UPI)—On this day after election the new president-elect might contemplate some of the less-than-global problems with which he, his family and his team of associates will now be confronted.

First thing this morning, as he shuffles through those mounds of congratulatory telegrams, the president-elect will find that a surprising number of his former enemies are now staunch friends willing to race to Washington to be of any assistance. Once the flush of victory fades, however, the leader of the United States will find himself tangled in matters that may defy solution for some weeks. For example:

In official Washington there is no status symbol quite the equal of a reserved parking place. The White House, being the place it is, ranks as the prime parking lot in town. If the president-elect isn't careful, he'll find a fight brewing within his a-borning executive staff over who gets to park within the grounds.

The victor in the voting will find the White House offices cramped and cut up. Aside from the President's office and space for a few ranking aides, physical working conditions in the White House would not be tolerated in most small businesses. If he intends to do anything about this, he'd better get the money for expansion rather quickly while Congress is still awed by his victory.

Now is the time for all good friends to come to the aid of their new president by not getting underfoot during the formative days of his administration. A note saying, "When you have the chance, we'd love to see you" would be much kinder than a telephone call that has to be answered by an exhausted staff.

The new president will soon discover to his dismay that he won't be able to see as much of his old friends as he did before the election. The victor becomes public property the instant his opponent concedes the election.

Only rarely during his entire term of office will he be able to visit in the home of friends. If he and his wife once enjoyed going to a favorite restaurant once or twice a month, that's out, too. He'll not be able to go to the bank, the garage or the barber shop. They'll come to him from now on.

For the children, there will be new playmates—those big husky agents of the Secret Service who will never be more than a few feet away for at least four years, and quite possibly eight.

M. SGT. RAYMOND MILAM JR., center, was awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal last week during informal ceremonies in the office of Col. Rupert C. Welch, Kingsley Field base commander, right, Maj. Curtiss H. Gruye, left, materiel squadron commander, observes the presentation. Sergeant Milam earned the medal during a two-year tour of duty at Nouasseur, Morocco. He and his wife, Ethel, and three-year-old daughter, Vaile, live in Falcon Heights.

Here Are Some Remarks Losers Dislike Hearing

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a losing candidate hates to hear the day after an election.

"Well, at least your mother stayed in your corner all the way."

"We just found 50,000 of your campaign leaflets that somebody forgot to distribute. Would you like them for souvenirs?"

"Naturally the party is proud of the constructive light you waged, and of course we'd like your advice on whom to run the next time, but—"

"Of course, you could always try again. But if you ask my opinion, I'd suggest you find yourself a less expensive hobby."

"Our preliminary check shows that the only precincts you carried were those in which you never made a speech."

"The telephone company just called up and asked when you are going to take your picture off its poles."

"Let's put it this way: The voters know what you were talking about—but you didn't."

"The smartest thing you did was to send the winner a congratulatory telegram collect."

"The caterer called to say that if you still want that caviar for the victory dinner you can now have it at half price."

"Is it true that you plan to open a law office—that is, if you can find a partner?"

"The party chairman sent in a final memo. He wants to know where to address your mail in the event someone wants to get in touch with you."

"Well, you can't win 'em all, I always say."

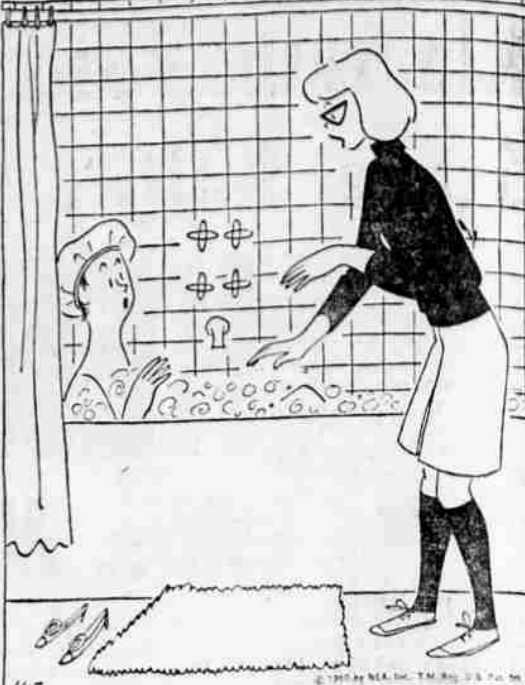

"Is it okay if I borrow a couple of boxes of this unused confetti? I can take them home for my kid's next birthday party."

"As I see it, the election boiled down simply to this: You wound up with the principles—and your opponent wound up with the votes."

"Your ghost writers have all gone back to their regular jobs. So I guess you'll have to sit down and draft the letter of appreciation to the faithful party workers."

"Gee, dad, you still have my vote. I thought you did real swell."

"Now about those unpaid campaign bills—"

"Gosh, Mother, I think you're sitting on my biology homework!"

Local Job Picture Shows Drop

The employment situation in Klamath County shows a steady decline in jobs. There is little cause for optimism regarding improvement during the next six months. Although there is still a labor force of approximately 9,800 working, the lack of jobs for 1,000 additional workers in this area represents a considerable loss of payrolls in addition to the hardships imposed on the unemployed workers.

The number of workers claiming unemployment benefits during the last week of October, 1960 is 74 per cent higher than during the last week of October, 1959. The records show that the last week of October, 1960, is only 14 per cent above October, 1958.

This situation is primarily the result of lack of orders in the lumber industry, which furnishes over 35 per cent of the covered payrolls of Klamath County. Employees are urged to furnish all possible employment to workers during the coming months. Over 1,000 workers are registered for work at the local employment office and available to fill employers' orders. These workers represent a large variety of occupations.

Start of pipeline laying operations will furnish a few jobs, but there is no justification for workers coming to this area expecting jobs to be available on this operation.

Socialist Win May Strengthen Middle

ROME (AP)—The Communist Socialist left scored impressive gains yesterday in nationwide Italian provincial elections.

Italy's long-dominant Christian Democrat party also won a slightly larger percentage of the vote than in the last provincial elections four years ago but showed less strength than in the 1958 parliamentary elections.

In complete unofficial returns from the voting Sunday and Monday in 17 of Italy's 91 provinces, the Communist-Socialist left moved ahead to within 1.4 per cent of the Christian Democrats' total vote.

Despite the leftist gains, the immediate effect nationally could be to strengthen the present middle-of-the-road Christian Democrat government headed by Premier Amintore Fanfani.

The three feuding minor center parties which lost ground are less likely now to withdraw their support from Fanfani's single-party government, both because of their fear of the left-wing gains and the increased possibility of finding themselves pushed aside.

The Christian Democrats also are less likely to call national elections before the expiration of Parliament's normal five-year term of office in 1963. Some Christian Democrats had advocated holding an election for a new Parliament if the local elections indicated they had a chance of winning a majority that would enable them to govern alone.

Another eventual result might be renewal of negotiations for a move toward cooperation between the Christian Democrats and Pietro Nenni's left-wing Socialists.

The Communists appeared to have been the big gainers in the election's left-wing surge, with Nenni's fellow-traveling Socialists just maintaining their strength.

In the last provincial elections, in 1956, the two left-wing parties ran on the same ticket, so comparison of the 1956 and 1960 votes is possible only by lumping the Communist and Socialist together again. But the Socialists won only 14.4 per cent of the total nationwide vote this time, in comparison to 14.65 per cent in the 1958 national election.

Girls Return From New York

Five local Camp Fire Girls are returning from New York City after attending the organization's national golden jubilee convention there Nov. 1 through 4.

They are Cherry Lynn Wolff, Chilquin; Micki Joe Wolff, Chilquin; Karen Jenkins, Fort Klamath; Barbara Nicholson, Fort Klamath, and Romona Soto, Klamath Falls.

They were among 3,000 girls from the nation who attended. Among featured speakers was Dr. Evelyn Mills Davall, author of books for adolescents.

Delegates discussed personal and civic responsibilities, methods of helping their contemporaries find proper recognition and correcting undue blame for juvenile errors and delinquency.

Two Colleges Near Standard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With the 1960 major college football season heading into the home stretch, only two teams are even close to the total offense figure that has been standard for champions for nearly 20 years.

Latest figures from the NCAA Service Bureau show that for seven games New Mexico State has averaged 394.6 yards by running and passing. Memphis State has averaged 384.5 for eight games.

For the past 19 years, every total offense champion has averaged at least 400 yards a game.

In the same way, only New Mexico State, with 38.9 points a game, and Memphis State, with 31.1, are scoring above the 30-point average attained by every major college scoring champion since 1939.

CALL FOR INDIVIDUALISM

NEW YORK (AP)—"Christian individualism is being threatened in our mass society," says Dr. Perry E. Gesham, president of Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va. He told a dinner meeting here that "in an age when conformity and collectivist tendencies obscure the rights and duties of one person under God," the church must reinforce the "Christian individualism of the New Testament."

GRANGE NEWS

MIDLAND
Plans for the annual Midland Grange Home Economics Club birthday dinner were discussed during a club meeting recently at the home of Myrtle McGehee, 1902 Riverside Street, Klamath Falls.

Members decided to serve the dinner Sunday, Dec. 4, at 1:30 p.m. Ham and turkey will be the main courses.

They also discussed the Pomona Grange dinner. Henley Grange will be host and Midland Grange co-host. Midland grangers will furnish salads. The all day Pomona Grange session will be conducted Saturday, Nov. 12, beginning at 10 a.m.

All officers were present. Chairman Alice Hoover presided and Chaplain Laura Walker led the assembly in prayer. Fifteen members attended.

Sympathy and get-well cards were sent to several members. Committee reports were delivered and deemed favorable. The chairman thanked everyone who helped in completed activities.

Midland HEC served lunch and dinner to workers on the election board Tuesday. Grace Stork was chairman of the planning committee. Marie Andrieu, who is going to the National Grange convention beginning Nov. 10, was wished well. She will tour the Ozark Mountains and the Southern states, including Florida, before traveling north to the convention.

Members elected officers. They are Kathryn Smith, chairman; Eleanor Sukraw, secretary, and Thelma Houck, treasurer. Outgoing Chairman Hoover will conduct installation ceremonies later.

The garden club luncheon served by the club brought $71 to the treasury. The chairman thanked all members who sold and bought tickets.

The next meeting will be conducted at the home of Thelma Houck at Midland Dec. 6 at 1:30 p.m. Members will exchange Christmas gifts. The chairman asks that value of gifts be no more than $1.

STAR GAZER
By CLAY R. POLLAN
Your Daily Activity Guide According to the Stars.
To develop message for Thursday, read words corresponding to numbers of your Zodiac birth sign.

ARIES	17-18-19-20	21-22-23-24	25-26-27-28
Taurus	1-2-3-4	5-6-7-8	9-10-11-12
Gemini	13-14-15-16	17-18-19-20	21-22-23-24
Cancer	25-26-27-28	29-30-31
Leo	1-2-3-4	5-6-7-8	9-10-11-12
Virgo	13-14-15-16	17-18-19-20	21-22-23-24
Libra	25-26-27-28	29-30-31
Scorpio	1-2-3-4	5-6-7-8	9-10-11-12
Sagittarius	13-14-15-16	17-18-19-20	21-22-23-24
Capricorn	25-26-27-28	29-30-31
Aquarius	1-2-3-4	5-6-7-8	9-10-11-12
Pisces	13-14-15-16	17-18-19-20	21-22-23-24

SHASTA DRIVE-IN TU-2 3535
THURSDAY and FRIDAY!
Gates Open 6:30 - Show At 7:06

A PRIVATE'S AFFAIR
YOU'LL SOUND OFF WITH LAUGHTER!
TERRY MOORE, SAL MINO, GARY CROSBY, CHRISTINE CAREE, JIM BACKUS

Holiday for LOVERS
JANE WYMAN - CLIFTON WEBB
GARY CROSBY, CAROL LYNCH, PAUL HENREID

Desire catches fire with LOLLOBRIGIDA and MONTAND WHERE THE HOT WIND BLOWS-

One stunning scene after another explodes the story of the most dangerous game six sensualists ever played with life!

JOSEPH E. LEVINE presents
GINA LOLLOBRIGIDA - PIERRE BRASSEUR - MARCELLO MASTROIANNI - MELINA MERCOURI - TYES MONTAND - WHERE THE HOT WIND BLOWS!

ESQUIRE Starts TODAY!
TU-4-4567

How THE AMES BROTHERS sing "WHERE THE HOT WIND BLOWS"
Music By Jimmy McHugh - Lyrics by Buddy Kaye
DOORS OPEN 6:45

TOWER
PHONE TU-4-8484

FOR THE FIRST TIME

You will join a safari into the world's most mysterious jungle...and SEE the NEVER-BEFORE-TOLD STORY of the JAGUAR!!!

WALT DISNEY'S Jungle Cat TECHNICOLOUR
NEWEST MOST EXCITING OF ALL TRUE-LIFE ADVENTURES!
written and directed by JAMES ALGAR released by BUENA VISTA distribution co., Inc.

JUST FOR FUN
A WACKY TALE OF A MIXED-UP-PUP and his THIEVIN' PAL!
WALT DISNEY PRESENTS THE HOUND THAT THOUGHT HE WAS A RACCOON TECHNICOLOUR
REGALATED BY REX ALLEN
PRODUCED BY WINSTON HIBLER

Herald and News
Klamath Falls, Oregon
Serving Southern Oregon and Northern California
Published daily (except Sat.) and Sunday
by Southern Oregon Publishing Company
Main Office: Esplanade
Phone TU-200-4811
W. B. SWEETLAND, Publisher
Entered as second class matter at the post office at Klamath Falls, Oregon, on August 25, 1954, under act of Congress, March 3, 1939. Second-class postage paid at Klamath Falls, Oregon, and at additional mailing offices.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
Carrier: 1 Month $1.75, 3 Months $5.00, 6 Months $9.50, 1 Year $18.00
Mail in Advance: 1 Month $1.75, 3 Months $5.00, 6 Months $9.50, 1 Year $18.00
Carrier and Dealers: Weekly & Sunday, copy 10c

UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATED PRESS
AUDIT BUREAU OR CIRCULATION
Subscribers not receiving delivery of their Herald and News, please advise Gene Carpenter, Circulation Manager
Phone edit. ext. 7 P.M.