Luncheon Ends Season Of Golf

As in years past the fall luncheon officially marks the close of the year's activities of Reames Golf Club Women's Auxiliary. Approximately 100 members were present Nov. 4 at this annual affair, arranged this year by Mrs. W. Don Miller.

The clubhouse was gay with red, white and blue colors of the Autumn Olympic theme chosen by Mrs. L. C. Jones and her committee. The Olympic shield on the large center wall served as background for the long tables decorated with red and blue ribbon streamers and UN flags. Flanking the head table were Hazelstein, well known in the industry.

A pantomime done to the recording, "Please, Mr. Custer," followed. Patricia Truelove, who drives 47 miles each way daily to attend high school at Chiloquin, was a member of the royal court at the recent 25th annual Klamath Basin Potato Festival at Merrill. Her act was the one which won her a top place in the talent contest for the festival.

Andrea Reeder, a Klamath Union High School senior who plans to study law, gave two flute solos. She was accompanied at the piano by Sharon Keck, also a KUH5 senior.

Donna Micka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Micka of Malin, presented a hula and a South American primitive interpretive dance as the next to last number on the program. She is the reigning queen of the annual potato festival held at Merrill.

The hula dance interpretation by three tiny dancers which concluded the entertainment brought down the house and ended the show on a high note of hilarity. The Cow Belles expressed their thanks for the talent offered with appropriate gifts of appreciation for each of the entertainers.

State President Visits Local Cow Belle Group

Special guest at the eighth annual meeting of Klamath County Cow Belles was Berniz Blann of Mitchell, president of Oregon Cow Belles, who was paying her first official visit to the local group.

The luncheon on Nov. 2 was held at Klamath Yacht Club with approximately 60 members and guests present. Miss Blann brought word of activities of other county Cow Belle pieces which could be used as prizes and awards. Material for the contest was turned over to the club's officers.

Mrs. Don Johnson, president during this last year, gave highlights of the group's activities. In addition to cooking schools, the Cow Belles put on a Beef for Fathers Day promotion and named a father of the year, participated in the Fourth of July parade, held a picnic at Collier Park, conducted its annual beef stew dinner and plans to repeat its December appreciation tea.

Awards were given during the year for outstanding 4-H beef breeding projects by girls, to the father of the first child born on Fathers Day and to the city's most courteous clerk in the recent "better meals" promotion here.

During the business meeting the bylaws were amended to create a separate office of treasurer, dividing the secretary-treasurer duties performed by Mrs. Earl Erickson during the last year.

Mrs. Bill Gouldin, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the proposed slate of officers for the coming year which was unanimously accepted. Mrs. Louis Randall is new president, succeeding Mrs. Johnson. Serving with Mrs. Randall will be Mrs. Alvin Cheyne, vice president; Mrs. Martin Gift, secretary, and Mrs. Jim Grimes, treasurer.

The new Cow Belle officers were introduced again during the evening at the Klamath County Cattleman's Association's dinner dance at Reames Golf and Country Club. Alvin Cheyne is new president of the cattlemen, succeeding Bert Stanley of Fort Klamath. Norm Jacob was elected as vice president and Ray O. Petersen remains as secretary.

Six vignettes, presented by top local talent, made up the surprise program arranged by Mrs. Vernon Reitan and Mrs. Clarence Gansberg for the annual fall luncheon.

Neil Buchanan, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Buchanan, started the program with accordion solos. Mrs. Reitan, who was commentator, explained his cattleman background, adding that he is the grandson of George
