THE COVER
The past week has been observed in Klamath County schools as American Education Week. While no formal observance of the week was planned, schools engaged in special activities emphasizing the importance of the role of education. Pictures and stories in the Herald and News Sunday Supplement today highlight some of the classroom activities of schools in the county.

AN IMPORTANT PERSON in the order of things at KUHS is the school nurse, Mrs. Margaret Stroud, shown here discussing a point with Danny Wetzel. The school insurance program was handled by this department. Vision testing has been another project of the department, as members of the freshman class are checked. The testing was done by members of the Lioness Club. A severe epidemic of colds is one of the major health problems at the school at the present time.

NEGRO EXPECTATIONS
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Negro citizens will expect the new Democratic administration to live up to its platform and work for civil rights, the executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Thursday. Roy Wilkins told a group meeting at the New Jersey Education Association's annual convention "the very first item" on the legislative agenda must be an effort to pass an antifilibuster rule in the Senate.

SOME CRUST
NEW YORK (UPI) — Defeat was sweet for Mario Bousoulas, owner of a New York diner. He lost an election bet to his cook, Chris Karagianis, who collected by throwing a pie in his boss' face.
