

Cities Will Seek More Revenues Next Session

SALEM (AP)—Three proposals to increase city government revenues will go before the next legislature, the League of Oregon Cities convention was told Monday.

Hugh McKinley, Eugene city manager and director of the League, said he planned to submit these three proposals:

A measure to give the cities 15 per cent of the liquor tax instead of the 10 per cent now allocated;

Another giving cities 50 per cent of the state license fees on fire, auto and burglary insurance;

And a third that would allocate a portion of state-collected income tax to cities.

Coquille, said the Legislative Interim Committee on Taxation would recommend that the bonding capacity of each city be set at the limit of true cash value rather than assessed valuation of property within the city.

He said the committee also will propose an income tax of one per cent on gross incomes with no deductions permitted. He said this would bring 10 per cent less income, but he said a proposed 3-cent a package tax on cigarettes and abolition of installment income tax paying would make up the difference.

Morse Declares Kennedy Plans On UN Policies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—President-elect John F. Kennedy plans to meet here with the U.S. delegation to the United Nations after his Florida vacation to discuss "certain changes" in Washington's policy toward the U.N., Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a member of the delegation, said today.

Morse, who is a Democratic member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, returned to the United Nations today after a weekend in Washington. He said he had "been in contact" with Kennedy about the United Nations since the election and had discussed U.S. policy problems arising from this critical session of the General Assembly.

Morse refused to elaborate on the possible "changes" he and Kennedy discussed, but he told UPI "they were on matters of substance, rather than procedure."

"I think the senator (Kennedy) will be able to speak for himself," Morse said.

He said Kennedy probably will meet with the U.S. delegation shortly after he completes a vacation in Palm Beach.

NEW PINE CREEK—Mrs. Bessie Woods, a former resident of this area, has attained some distinction as a painter—her hobby for some 15 years since she left here.

Mrs. Woods, now of Martinez, says she learned some technique from her aunt, Hattie Chase, a well known artist, but has since received no formal training.

Art experts, viewing her display, have lauded her work for excellent perspective, coloring and lines.

Some paintings she displays are of her former homes here and at Mount Shasta.

Klamath County Farmer Gets Farm Bureau Award

EUGENE (AP)—Frank Ballard of Corvallis Tuesday night received the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation's distinguished service to agriculture award.

The award was based on contributions to extension work by Ballard, who is associate director of the agricultural extension service at Oregon State College.

Extension services over the country now base their work on the philosophy of group planning that Ballard outlined in a book he wrote in 1932. It is entitled "The Spirit and Philosophy of Extension."

The Malheur County Farm Bureau was cited as the outstanding this year among 32 Oregon county bureaus. A golden gavel for being the leading farm bureau president was presented to Mameru Wakasugi, president of the Malheur County group.

Other awards went to: Joe Saito, state Board of Agriculture member from Malheur County, for fruit and vegetable promotion.

Mrs. Joe Hobson, Malheur County, publicity.

Victor Boel, Douglas County, dairy.

Earl Kerns, Klamath County, livestock and marketing.

Proposals to give tax relief to farmers were discussed by panel made up of Charles Mack, Oregon Tax Commission chairman, Richard Eymann of Lane County;

Grangers Hammering Out Policy

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Committees continued Tuesday to hammer out statements of policy on farm problems and other national issues to be acted on during the National Grange's convention here.

The 94th annual grange meeting opened Monday with the assembly of voting delegates from 37 states representing some 850,000 Grange members.

At the opening session the delegates heard talks from Rep. Harold E. Cooley, D-N.C., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, and from Herschel D. Newsom of Columbus, Ind., National Grange master.

Newsom reaffirmed the Grange's long-time policy of seeking solution to farm problems through a commodity-by-commodity approach rather than any single over-all legislative solution.

Newsom said farmers "must insist on a system of just reward in proportion to (their) contribution to the general welfare."

But, he warned, those who would seek to solve the problem of farm surpluses by reducing the income of farmers or by arbitrary controls on production would "not serve America well."

Newsom asserted the nation's huge farm surpluses and the low income of farmers are "a measure of the futility and inadequacy of our present agricultural and farm program structure."

Warden Will Ask $1 Million Prison Addition, Building Overcrowded

SALEM (AP)—Oregon's correctional institution, built 18 months ago, is so overcrowded 50 inmates have to sleep in the halls, Warden Paul J. Squier said today.

Squier said he wants the Legislature to provide $1,138,000 for buildings to relieve overcrowding and to let him put his education program into full operation.

The institution has a capacity of 284. It now houses 332.

Murderer On Move, Police Say

PAULDING, Ohio (UPI)—"Have we got a killer traveling cross-country?"

Police advanced this theory today in the wake of the slayings of Nancy Egelson, 14, here Sunday and Gloria Kowalewicz, 9, near Chicago Saturday. Both girls were left in the woods and both were shot to death.

Capit. James McMahon, chief of Chicago detectives, said that both he and Pauling Sheriff John Keeler here noted the similarities in the killings in a telephone conversation Monday, although their areas are 230 miles apart.

McMahon asked whether the slayings were the work of the same killer traveling across the nation. He said if Keeler nabbed a suspect, Chicago police would send a detective here immediately.

Authorities admitted, however, that they had little to go on in the rape-slaying of the Egelson girl.

The victim was abducted as she and her sister, Sherrill, 4, walked home from a movie. "It was a man in a big car that got my sister," sobbed Sherrill.

She said the man asked them if they wanted a ride first and, when they refused, grabbed Nancy. Sherrill ran to the nearby home of John Larson, a neighbor who often served as babysitter for the girls' parents.

Five and a half hours later two hunters found the girl's body in a wooded area.

Candidates Are Chosen

Candidates for the Henley High School Lettermen's Carnival Saturday evening were elected Tuesday by members of the school's six classes.

They are Marlen Sonntag, a senior; Sandi Clark, junior; Ann Breithaupt, sophomore; Cheryl Thurman, freshman; Linda Hill, eighth grade, and Jerilyn Peacock, seventh grade.

The queen will be chosen by the number of tickets sold by each class. A boy and a girl student each will receive a prize for selling the most tickets. The queen and princess will be escorted by their respective class presidents.

Grand prize is a 25-cubic-foot food freezer. The winner need not be present.

Games, contests "and a lot of fun" await those who come to the carnival. And they will help lettermen buy sports equipment. The annual carnival is the club's only money-raising project of the year.

Refreshments will be served during the evening in the school cafeteria. The queen will be crowned during festivities.

Doors will open at 6:30 p.m.
