HAPPY CAMP

HAPPY CAMP—Mary Belle Kellogg showed colored slide photographs of Europe during the regular monthly meeting of Happy Camp Parent Teacher Association recently.

She is retiring after 27 years as head librarian of San Bernardino County Library.

Members of the PTA Executive Board met prior to the session. Mothers of eighth grade and senior class students served refreshments.

HAPPY CAMP SCHOOL

HAPPY CAMP—The annual PTA Halloween carnival and dime-a-dip dinner was held October 29. Mrs. Edwin Kemppi and Mrs. Norman Herman made the final arrangements for the occasion held at the Happy Camp Elementary School. The dinner was served in the school cafeteria to many costumed guests. The carnival was held in the multipurpose room and sixth, seventh and eighth grade rooms. Girl Scouts sold popcorn and soda pop. Decorated cakes were donated by members for the cake-walk. Proceeds will go toward the year's budget, which has been set by Mrs. Kemppi at $400.

Parents And Patrons

MERRILL

MERRILL—A potluck supper was held recently by the Merrill Parents and Patrons to give parents a chance to meet the teachers of their schools.

The teachers were greeted at the recreation hall decorated in a theme of the "Little Red Schoolhouse." Bill Kurtz, principal of the elementary grades, introduced his teachers, staff, members of the school board, and the Rev. Lloyd Henderson of the Merrill Presbyterian Church. John Mathis, principal of the high school, introduced his teachers and staff.

Over 125 persons were present to enjoy the evening planned by Dorothy Kandra and Joan Trotman.

note, Shasta - Homedale Unit and Merrill Unit with project leaders, Mrs. Virginia Moore and Mrs. Chris Storey, respectively.

Mrs. Ada Flackus and Mrs. Doris Peters were guests at the Oct. 21 meeting of the Shasta-Homedale Unit. A special prize, an apron made by Mrs. Lucille Houser, was won by Mrs. Loyce Leech.

Committees were appointed by the Merrill Unit on Oct. 13. They are Mrs. Violet Miller, hospitality; Mrs. Dorothy Kandra, recreation; Virginia Liskay, publicity; Marjorie Newham, 4-H; Leona Hayes, Azalea House; Marjorie Newham, ACWW.

Wild game cookery is the project for November meetings.

GILCHRIST UNIT

GILCHRIST—The Friendly view, Midland and Lindley Neighbors, a Crescent - Gilchrist Heights, had wild game cookery

Home Extension unit, met Thursday, Oct. 27, at Crescent Community Club for its annual "tacky party."

The costume party was attended by 25 members. Mrs. Melvin Bonner and Mrs. John Shoemaker received prizes for costumes judged most appropriate.

Mrs. Ernest Evans and Mrs. Crawford Page presented a skit called "Doctor Breakbone." Mrs. John Garrick performed her interpretation of a harem dance. Mrs. Page also sang, accompanied with harmonica music by Mrs. Evans.

Members planned a dinner for Thursday, Nov. 3, at the community club. Secret pal and hostess gifts were distributed during the refreshment period. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Page and Mrs. E. B. Stumbaugh.

Mrs. Jesse Kersten, chairman, is working on plans for a craft fair to be held early in December. Everyone is invited to attend and participate.

The unit will conduct a layette shower for Mrs. Shoemaker Thursday, Nov. 10.

Four Units, Malin, Conger-Fairview, Midland and Lindley Neighbors, had wild game cookery as a project for their November meetings. Ruth Dyer, county agent, visited each unit and showed slides, taken by Ray Peterson, on cutting up a deer. She also told of the program planning for the coming year.

Malin Unit met on the first day of November in the Community Hall. Thirteen ladies attended. Project leaders were Mildred Rajnus and Emma Morelock. Members assisted in preparing the meal of sauerbraten, pot roast and meat balls, all of venison. Mildred Rajnus presided at the meeting in the absence of Alva Kniskern. A Christmas party with a gift exchange, not to exceed fifty cents, is planned for Dec. 1. White elephant gifts will be used as prizes for game.

Mary Horstman and Beulah Kloiber were project leaders for the Nov. 4 meeting of the Conger-Fairview Unit with 15 members in attendance. In the absence of Alice Detroit, chairman, the meeting was conducted by Fran Hayes. Prizes were won by June Zumwalt and Irene Thompson. A one dollar limit is placed on gifts to be exchanged at the Christmas party Dec. 2. Ruth Hall, recreation chairman, will be assisted by Neva Hayes and Marsha Nichols.

Twelve members of the Lindley Heights Unit, led by Lois Book and Maggie Sample, helped prepare the venison meal at the Nov. 9 meeting. The day's prize was won by Lois Book. The next meeting will be a Christmas party and gift exchange. At this time a lesson on foam rubber craft will be presented. Kathryn Billings and Maggie Sample will also demonstrate and explain what is needed for natural craft.

Midland Unit met Nov. 10 with 21 members helping leaders Grace Stork and Leona Andrieu to prepare the meal.
