Plans Form For Annual Play Season

ASHLAND—Plans now forming for the Oregon Shakespearean Festival's 1961 season are highlighted by the return to the Ashland staff of B. Iden Payne, internationally honored Shakespearean scholar and director; another expansion in season length, and a third showing for the fifth play. Payne, who is associated with the drama department at the University of Texas, directed the festival's production of "Cymbeline" and appeared as Friar Laurence in "Romeo and Juliet," both in 1956.

Recognized as the dean of Elizabethan staging in the modern America era, Payne has been an inspiration and a director for much of the important Shakespearean production in this century. He has founded several English repertory groups, served as director of the Shakespeare Memorial Theater at Stratford-upon-Avon in England and directed at the San Diego Festival.

Returning to the staff in 1961 will be the popular directors, Robert B. Loper and Richard D. Rizzo, whose most recent Ashland assignments were the 1960 stagings of "Taming of the Shrew" and "Richard II."

1961 will establish a new mark as the organization's longest season, opening one day earlier than before and playing for 42 consecutive nights, one more than last year's previous high. Dates are Monday, July 24 through Sunday, September 3.

Scheduled for next year are "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Hamlet," "All's Well That Ends Well," and "Henry IV, Part I." These four will be joined on Aug. 21 by 1961's fifth show, Ben Jonson's "The Alchemist."

Acting Producing Director Founder Angus Bowmer, currently concluding his European study tour, will be back in Ashland before Christmas to resume his producing director duties in time to coordinate and supervise screening of the hundreds of applicants for the 1961 company positions.

ASC Ballots Sent Out

LAKEVIEW — Ballots were mailed this week to all eligible farmers and ranchers in Lake County so that they may vote for their choice of candidates for Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Community committees.

That announcement was made by Walt Cory, ASC office manager here. Eligible voters may cast ballots by mail or in person at the ASC office. Ballots must be postmarked no later than Dec. 2.

During the annual election, a five-man committee is picked in each of the five ASC areas in the county. Committees assist in operating the ASC program, including conservation payment, wheat allotment, grain loan and wool incentive programs.

Local committeemen act as liaison agents between the county office and ranchers in their areas. Chairmen of the local committees act as electors to pick members of the County Committee composed of three members and two alternate members.

The group is responsible for operation of the county ASC program. Members meet regularly with the office manager to make administrative and policy decisions and to give guidance. Erwin Abramson currently is chairman of the County Committee. R. A. Long and Van Withers are members and George Manning and Charlie Crump, alternates.

Members of the tabulation board for this election will be Con Taylor, J. W. Ogle and Carrell Leavitt, Cory said.

New Board For Scouts Installed

Newly-elected members of the board of directors, Klamath Area Girl Scout Council, were installed for a two-year term during the annual fall council meeting here recently.

Mrs. Art Moore was installed as president, Mrs. Laurence Weinberg, Mrs. Ted Hyde and Mrs. Ole Lunde, vice presidents; Mrs. A. V. McVey, secretary, and Mrs. George May, an incumbent, treasurer. Installing officer was Mrs. Clyde Dehlinger.

"Honor the Past — Serve the Future," the scouts' birthday year's slogan, provided the theme for the meeting.

Adults in the Girl Scout movement from the entire council area gathered in the party room of the Pelican Cafe for a business meeting and program after lunch.

Board members elected to fill key functional positions were Walt Bingham, finance; Mrs. Ray Dunn, organization; Mrs. J. R. Jones, training; Mrs. Paul Norris, program; Mario Pastega, employed personnel, and Mrs. Herbert Gooding, Mrs. Gordon Loomis, Mrs. Elmer Harnden and Mrs. Eldred Hansen, council members-at-large.

Mrs. Arnold Gralapp was honored specially. She has served the council as a volunteer for 18 years.

Mary Ellen Johnck and Janice Humphries of Troop 84, Klamath Union High School, told of their experiences while attending a "creative arts encampment" at Camp Wind Mountain in Washington recently.

The regional encampment was attended by delegates from 51 councils in Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho and Alaska. The next council meeting will be conducted in April.

Boeing Forms New Subsidiary

SEATTLE (AP)—Formation of Boeing of Canada, Ltd., with headquarters at Armprior, Ontario, was announced Thursday by the Boeing Airplane Co.

The subsidiary of the big Seattle firm was created through reorganization of Canadian Vertol Aircraft Ltd., a Boeing affiliate, and expansion of its board of directors.

This marks the first appearance of the Boeing name in Canadian industry since World War II when Boeing Aircraft of Canada, Ltd., built B29 bomber parts in Vancouver, B. C., the plant closed soon after the war.

Tell Her About New Love Now

By ANN LANDERS I'm right? Or is HE right? EUREKA WIFE

Dear Eureka: Your husband not only wants to wear the wrong clothes for visiting, he has the shoe on the wrong foot.

Instead of taking the position that if his friends like him it won't matter how he looks, he should show respect for them by changing from his work clothes when he visits.

I don't say he must wear his Sunday best—or even put on a white shirt and wear a tie—but a man who does manual labor should change to fresh slacks and a sport shirt before making a social call on friends.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a freshman in college and my steady girl is a high school junior. Since I got to this university, which is 500 miles from home, Norma has phoned me collect at least twice a week—not to talk, but to cry.

She's worried that I won't be true to her. The guys in the dorm hang around and make cracks because they know her voice already. I'm taking a lot of ribbing and it's costing me dough. I hate to tell her to stop calling, but I wish she would help, please.—AL

Dear Al: A college guy who tries to go steady with a high school junior 500 miles away is short-changing himself and the girl, too. And SHE has a nerve to rain on you twice a week—collect yet. Disconnect, Buddy, for good.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a friendly sort who likes to go visiting during the evening. The trouble is he doesn't want to change from his work clothes. He does manual labor and gets pretty dirty.

He says if people like him they'll accept him as he is. According to him if they enjoy his company, his clothing doesn't matter.

I've thought of going visiting in my housedress with messed up hair, just to show him how it looks, but I'm afraid I'd only be hurting myself.

Other than this, he's a wonderful husband. Can you tell me what to say to him to prove

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Rabies Shots Given To Dogs

BLY—Dr. Vernon N. Reitan, a Klamath Falls veterinarian, assisted by Roberta McGee, a member of Bly Grange, gave rabies shots to 35 dogs and registered them here recently.

The grange-sponsored inoculation program was considered quite successful. A total of 31 dog owners responded.

Many residents indicated their animals already had been inoculated during a survey before the inoculation program.

Inmates Print Mag In Prison

SALEM (AP)—The first issue of a bi-monthly, mimeographed magazine has been published by inmates of the state correctional institution, Warden Paul J. Squier said today.

Its name is "Detour." The first issue, 18 pages, contains articles on the parole system, jazz, personality development, alcoholics anonymous, and the use of profanity.
