

Toothpick Christmas Tree

You can make an elegant Christmas tree as easy as sticking pins in a pin cushion. Best part of this table-top tree is its permanence — no needles falling, no sap dripping on your clothes, carpets or linens. Sound incredible? Not really — when your tree is made of toothpicks. Every member of the family can pitch in adding creative touches to the cheery tree. Instructions are easy and special skills nonexistent — just the ability to accept praise gracefully. First get your supplies together. You'll need:

1. Round toothpicks — 8 boxes should do the trick.
2. Sixteen one-inch styrofoam balls.
3. One can of snow spray.
4. Miniature tree ornaments.

Have the children stick as many toothpicks as possible into each styrofoam ball, pin-cushion style. Then arrange seven toothpick balls in a circle to form the base. On top of the base

The day after Christmas in England is known as Boxing Day, because on that day the Christmas boxes placed in churches for casual contributions are opened and the contents distributed to those who render small services without pay.

A NOVEL CENTERPIECE for any holiday occasion can be this toothpick Christmas tree.

CHRISTMAS TREAT to Spaniards as peppermint canes, turron is a delicious blend of MADRID (UPI)—Turrones are to Americans. Introduced in toasted almonds, honey sugar and a Christmas candy as familiar (the 14th Century by the Moors, a egg whites.

Something From Kitchen Proves Ideal Unusual Gift

One of the nicest gifts for the holiday is something from your own kitchen, made from a favorite recipe. Homemade gifts always have a special meaning because of the extra thought and effort that went into making them, and many of the non-perishable food gifts will bring pleasure long after the holiday season.

Citrus fruits from Florida are ideal for holiday gift-making, and right now the fruits are at their best. Tangerines, the favorite for fruit bowls and out-of-hand eating, make a wonderful jam or marmalade. Or try the Florida Marmalade—a delightful trio of tangerines, oranges and grapefruit, which is sure to delight those very special people on your gift list.

If an unusual sauce or relish is a specialty at your house, why not share it with others for the holiday? Orange Cumberland Sauce is a good candidate for this type of gift. The basic ingredients, frozen Florida orange juice concentrate and currant jelly, are spiced with mustard, ginger and a little Tabasco for a pleasant nip. The sauce is the perfect accompaniment to poultry and game and may even make its appearance on the Christmas dinner table at friends' homes.

Oranges in another form, old-fashioned pomander balls, are among the most cherished of gifts. Pomander balls are easy and fun to make and the oranges, covered with cloves and cinnamon, impart a pleasant spicy aroma that lasts indefinitely. Another gift that friends will
