Unorthodox Method Saves Life Of Tiny Burn Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The reluctance of a group of doctors to let an old theory die was credited today with the dramatic recovery of Anna Rosa Zamudio, 9, Watsonville, who was severely burned in an incinerator fire.

The theory, prevalent 30 years ago, was that severe and extensive burns flooded the human body with toxins. This idea was abandoned gradually because no one could pin down a specific toxin.

One doctor, Dr. Rosenthal of Chicago, held onto the theory and reasoned that if toxins were responsible for death, then the blood of burn patients who had recovered might contain a toxin serum.

Rosenthal reported that this treatment worked on half a dozen victims of a disastrous school fire in Chicago and helped speed their recovery.

Then little Anna Rosa Zamudio came to St. Francis Hospital here. More than half of her body was covered with burns and her chances of living were less than 50-50.

Dr. E. Horace Klahmunde, who had read Rosenthal's report, decided to give Anna Rosa a half pint of blood serum from a former patient, a 33-year-old woman who was severely burned while smoking in bed.

The child's temperature dropped and her appetite improved. She was given another transfusion five days later and the doctors planned this week.

The Iron Memorial Hospital has since received 10 persons who have recovered from similar severe burns to register as donors so they can be called upon in emergencies.

Movie House Closes Doors

DUNSMUIR — California Theater, Dunsmuir's movie house for the past 30 years, closed its doors Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Clintock, theater manager, was notified by United California Theaters of San Francisco, the current theater lessee, "It has become necessary to close the theater as of Nov. 27."

Mrs. Clintock said the closure need not be permanent since the business is for sale. She attributed high operating cost and the decline in adult patronage as among reasons for the theater's closing. She said the theater is part of the Dunsmuir Masonic Temple and was built in 1930.

Jury Indicts Lebanon Man

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP) — The Lincoln County Grand Jury Monday brought in a second degree murder indictment against Jerry Wayne Gibson, 31, Lebanon.

It stems from the slaying of a woman, Mrs. L. L. Ludahl, 48, of nearby Southport. Ludahl was shot fatally when she intervened in a dispute between Gibson and her 16-year-old daughter.

Kidnapers Left Trail Miles Wide, Police Say

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The FBI recovered, agents worked to close out the 8-day-old case. concentrated its efforts today to recover nearly $17,000 and "one or two" suspects still at large in the kidnaping of wealthy sportsman Anthony Alessio.

With three men, including accused mastermind Oran Marrone, and two women already arrested and 100 miles of trail, the FBI said it would continue its search.

Friday Set For Dances

DORRIS — Friday night roll dances for youth will be a regular feature at the 1000 in Dorris tonight. The roll dance will be held at the Dorris school building.

The Alessio family has vast financial holdings, including ownership of Hotel del Coronado near San Diego and Caliente, Nev. track in Mexico.

One police official said the kidnapers were "stupid" and left trails a mile wide.

Agents refused to identify suspects still being sought, but one of the two armed men who actually abducted Alessio was identified as a driver.

The Corvettes, a five-piece band from Klamath Falls, will furnish music for Friday's dance from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m.

FHA Offers Farm Loans

YREKA — Farmers who have regular off-farm employment, if otherwise eligible, may obtain operating and development loans from the Federal Home Administration under revised regulations with this agency.

John F. Walker, Federal Home Administration county supervisor for Siskiyou County, said that previously a farmer had to spend most of his time farming in order to qualify for a loan.

Walker said that the new regulations allow a farmer who regularly employs off-farm income to use the FHA's credit facilities to increase the farm portion of their total income. The regulations, which had limited credit assistance to farmers who spent most of their time farming, prevented some from obtaining the maximum amount from their farms and from taking advantage of opportunities for industrial and other off-farm employment.

Other eligibility requirements remain unchanged. Applicants must have a record of farm operations to carry on and farm operations must need credit and be unable to obtain financial assistance from other sources. As in the past, credit will be extended only to operators of farms that are family-type and smaller. A loan will be made unless a plan for the coming year's farming operations shows that income from the farm and other sources will be large enough to enable the farm family to have a reasonable standard of living, pay debts, and have an adequate reserve for emergencies.

Loan funds may be used to pay farm operating costs, purchase equipment and livestock, pay farm development costs, and refinance certain debts. The interest rate is five per cent. Repayment schedules depend upon the purposes for which funds are advanced and upon the estimated incomes from the farms. Usually, loans made for real estate purchases will be from funds advanced by private lenders and insured by the agency.

The Federal Home Administration office serving Siskiyou County is located at 111 South Broadway, Room 11, Warrens Building, Yreka. Walker also has office hours from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. the second Monday of each month in the Public Workers Office in Ukiah. The agency also supplies credit for farm housing and soil and water conservation.
