"DON'T DO IT DADDY" little Dennis Carter tearfully pleads that old Tom Turkey not be sacrificed for the Thanksgiving Day table in Naples, Italy. Sp-4 Ervin L. Consohn of Hqs. Co., Southern European Task Force, hasn't the heart to be so cruel. So they had beans.

A REBEL PRISONER still carries his rifle after capture by government troops on the Costa Rican-Nicaraguan frontier. The rebel forces were caught in a squeeze between Nicaraguan and Costa Rican government troops as they were withdrawing from Nicaragua after an abortive invasion of that country.

MONKEY BUSINESS is only on a trial basis here. Assembly foreman Eugene Nelson of a Houston, Tex., furniture firm demonstrates production line job to be performed by one of three chimpanzees "employed" at the factory. The factory manager, Ben Friedman, claims use of the chimps is only a tryout and denied reports they will replace any of the human employees.

JOHNSON ADDRESSES NATO meeting during his trip abroad. Here, the vice president-elect, Lyndon Johnson, right, is greeted by Norway's Nils Langhelle, left, chairman of the NATO parliamentarians, and Halvard Lange prior to addressing the meeting. Johnson assured the Atlantic Alliance that the new U.S. "leadership" would use all resources for a free and peaceful world.

OPERATIONAL and ready for action is the nuclear submarine George Washington shown here leaving Charleston, S. C., en route to sea for first submerged patrol duty, and armed with 16 nuclear-tipped ballistic missiles. The missiles, which have a range of more than 1,200 miles, can be fired from beneath the surface of the ocean. Once beneath the waves, the sub was not scheduled to surface again until she puts into her home port at New London, Conn., in mid-January for maintenance.

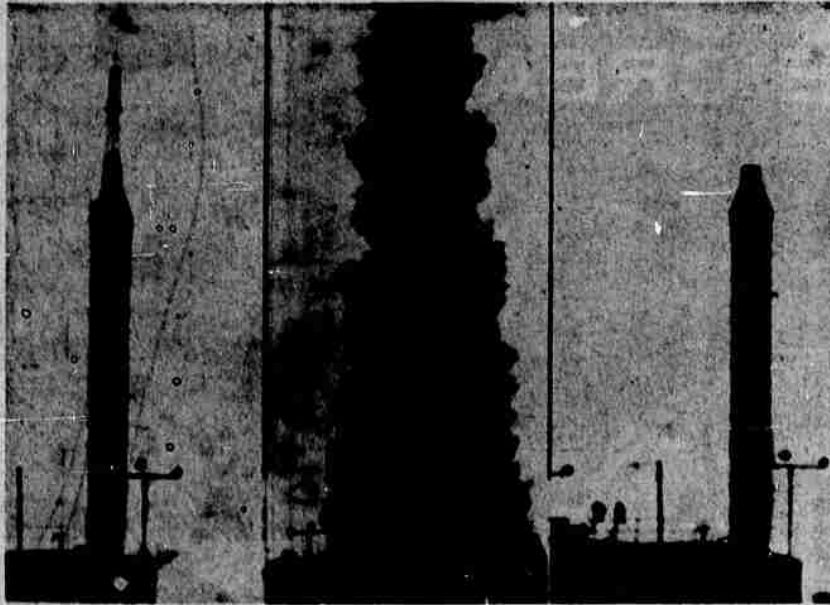

ONE OF THESE SEVEN girls, selected as members of the Royal Court of the 72nd Tournament of Roses, will be selected as queen and the remaining six will reign as princesses for the Tournament of Roses Parade and Rose Bowl game in Pasadena, Jan. 2, 1961. Here the girls hold the coveted crown which one will wear. Left to right, Sheri Rice, Mary Lou Thomas, Carol Washburn, Cindy Gillette, Pamela Jean MacLean, Terree Hammonree and Nancy Ann Mollen.

VISITING THEIR DAUGHTER are Mr. and Mrs. John Schnell who wear pleased expressions after finding their daughter, Mary Hawthorne, stewardess, had been mistakenly identified as dead in an auto accident Nov. 7, in which three other stewardesses were involved. Friends identified the dead girl, whose body was shipped to New York for burial, as being Stewardess Joan Frost. At the time, Miss Hawthorne was in the hospital swathed in bandages and in a coma.

CHARTS of America's new Tيروس weather satellite with two TV cameras are shown on this map. The 280-pound satellite was launched in the nose of a Thor-Delta rocket as the U.S. achieved its 14th space success this year.

WED just three hours after announcing their engagement were actress Debbie Reynolds and shoe magnate Harry Karl, who smile happily at each other. They left for an undisclosed location for their honeymoon.

GOLF TO QUAIL has been the switch by President Eisenhower as he wraps up a short vacation. He flew from Augusta to Albany, Ga., and seems happy with the switch as he sits in a helicopter with George E. Allen, right, and his press secretary, Jim Hagerty, not shown.

REP. JIM WRIGHT (Dem.) of Texas holds a wooden cutout of Texas covered with cattle brands in Washington, D.C., after announcing he will run for the Senate seat of Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson. A special election will be held early next year to fill the vacancy.

VISITING with Pope John XXIII is British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The Pope called Macmillan a statesman "inspired by the great ideals of freedom, justice and peace."

KIDNAP SUSPECTS are shown as they leave the FBI office in Los Angeles on their way to San Diego in connection with the kidnaping of Anthony Alessio, 41. The three were arrested by FBI agents in Los Angeles and a large part of $200,000 ransom money recovered. The three suspects are Mrs. Ruby Elaine Gorman, left, of Monterey Park, Calif., James Gorman, center, and Selma Marrone, right. Alessio is a prominent business man in California and Mexico.
