

THOMAS WINTERRINGER

Falls Resident Dies In Arizona

Thomas Harry Winterringer, 75, a resident of Klamath Falls since 1938 died unexpectedly Nov. 30 in Yuma, Ariz., where he was spending the winter with Mrs. Winterringer. He had not been previously ill. He was taken to a hospital after his wife found him unconscious.

Mr. Winterringer was born June 19, 1885, near Quincy, Ia. During his residence here he was employed by the Klamath Basin Pine Mills for 22 years. He retired in January of this year.

They had been in Yuma one week when he was stricken. The family home here is at 339 High Street.

Survivors include the widow, Bessie, this city; one son, Thomas L., Klamath Falls; one daughter, Mrs. F. B. Wolfum, Klamath Falls; also six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements will be announced.

Pay Hikes Hit Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pay hikes ranging from seven to 13 cents an hour go into effect Thursday for basic steelworkers. But there is no indication steel price increases will follow—at least for the present.

Some 50,000 members of the United Steelworkers will be entitled to wage raises. But the union estimates about 40,000 of these are currently unemployed and thousands more are working less than 40 hours a week.

Management spokesmen either decline comment on the possibility of price changes, or simply point out no announcement has been made one way or another.

However, sources close to the industry strongly believe prices will hold steady in the immediate future despite higher payroll costs.

This belief is based on the current low state of steel business. As long as the slump continues, this thinking goes, steel firms will not boost prices.

For the past five months the industry has been operating generally below 55 per cent of capacity. This week the rate is estimated at 49.3 per cent. No significant upturn in production is expected the rest of the year. It is likely the slowdown will persist well into 1961, according to industry sources.

Plan Okayed

SALEM (AP)—The state Civil Defense Agency said Tuesday a special program to demonstrate the simplicity of home fallout shelter construction in Oregon has been authorized.

The program provides for $250 to each of eight private or public high schools in Oregon who agree to build family fallout shelters.

The shelters must be built on school or other public property and be on display for six months.

Ask River Be Set Up As Reserve

PORTLAND (AP)—The Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission closed its annual meeting Wednesday by asking Congress to make the Salmon River in Idaho a fish sanctuary.

The resolution said that 40 per cent of the remaining fish runs in the Columbia River are spawned in the Salmon River.

The organization asked the government to block construction of such proposed hydroelectric projects as Nez Perce dam on the Snake and Lower Canyon, Creville and Freedom dams on the Salmon.

Richard S. Cocker, chief of the marine resources branch of the California Department of Fish and Game was elected chairman. Serving with him will be Milo Moore, director of Washington fisheries, vice chairman, and Herman Meierjurgens, chairman of the Oregon Fish Commission, secretary.

In other action the commission invited Idaho, Alaska and Hawaii to join.

Asked Oregon to join Washington in banning shrimp fishing from Nov. 1 to March 15 off the Washington coast.

Urged a uniform opening date for crab fishing from Point Arena in California to Cape Flattery in Washington. Oregon cast the lone dissenting vote to this proposal. A later conference will decide the proposed date.

Inmates Flee Washington Pen

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — Two inmates fled the Washington State Penitentiary here Tuesday—the third such dual escape this month.

Warden Bob Rhay said James Angevine, 29, and Billy A. Linthicum, 25, used morning fog as a cover to flee the minimum security building outside the walls.

Both had only 90 days left to serve on their sentences, and Rhay speculated the pair escaped in order to be sentenced to additional time. He said some convicts do this because they fear life on the outside.

Angevine was serving time for a Mason County burglary, and Linthicum had been sentenced for grand larceny in Pierce County.

Earlier this month two other pairs of prisoners made successful separate breakouts, one from the minimum security building and the other from maximum security, inside the walls.

All four were captured shortly.

PAINTER DIES

ROVERETO, Italy (AP) — Fortunato Depero, 68, Italian painter who was a leader of the futurist school a half century ago, died Tuesday of a heart attack. His futurist paintings, exhibited in New York and in many European cities between 1910 and 1930, are in many private collections.

A CLUE

FONTANA, Calif. (UPI)—Police Chief Henry A. Young posed proudly for newspaper photographers Wednesday standing by a new police car, slated for undercover work, that has no distinguishing markings to identify it. The photos clearly showed the undercover car's license plate number.

Miss Feller changed her plea from not guilty to guilty last week upon the advice of her court appointed attorney, Hal F. Coe.

State police said Miss Feller and three other girls stole a car belonging to Joe F. Hicks, 934 Pacific Terrace. Two of the girls were returned to Oregon State Hospital in Salem and charges against another girl were dropped.

Girl Sentenced To Probation

Vone Feller, 19-year-old Independence girl, was sentenced to a two-year probationary period for car stealing this week by Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg.
