

Conference Hears Story Of Oregon's Population

SALEM (AP) — The pre-legislative conference on state fiscal affairs today was given a breakdown on Oregon's population growth.

This is of vital concern for the legislators. It affects the division of the state into districts for the election of legislators. This is expected to be a hot issue in the coming session.

The report by Dr. Warren Kalback, director of the state Board of Census, showed major gains in three areas: The Portland metropolitan area of Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington counties; the Willamette Valley area of Benton, Hood River, Lane, Linn, Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties; and the southwest area of Coos, Curry, Douglas, Jackson and Josephine counties.

There was a loss in the northwest census area of Clatsop, Columbia, Lincoln and Tillamook, although Lincoln and Tillamook actually showed increases. Eastern Oregon showed a slight gain in overall population but a decline in its proportion of the state's population.

There were losses in Grant, Malheur, Wallowa and Wheeler counties. Kalback told the 25 members of the legislative committee that

Kennedy's Appointees Face Interest Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said today President-elect John F. Kennedy's top appointees will face the same kind of conflict-of-interest inquiries as those of President Eisenhower.

Mansfield, slated to become the Senate majority leader, said he hopes the new Congress will write "a reasonable set of rules" to eliminate barriers he said now cause some men to reject government service.

Among these barriers, he indicated, is the requirement that certain Cabinet officers divest themselves of stock and business holdings before the Senate will confirm their nominations.

"To keep the matter from becoming involved in political controversy we are going to have to apply the same rules to the new president's appointees as those which governed President Eisenhower's nominations," Mansfield said in an interview.

"But after we have confirmed Cabinet members and other high officials I hope Congress will bring in some new rules on conflict-of-interest that will eliminate some of the provisions that are unfair to nominees.

"We should have a reasonable set of rules under which good men, regardless of their wealth or lack of it, could be brought into the government." In 1963 the Senate required Charles E. Wilson to divest himself of his General Motors stock before it would agree to confirm his appointment as secretary of Defense. Wilson was the head of General Motors at the time.

NO PROBLEMS

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The meetings of two Virginia advisory legislative committee subcommittees studying railway traffic were called off Monday because of the snow. Only one man showed up and he came by train.

No wonder did the strange star hover above the inn than three hours knelt before Raymond the fox and Jeremiah Red. Their curiosity awoke, Raymond, Jeremiah, Aschelle and Erasmus entered a stable behind the inn. "We have brought three Wise Men to behold the greatest joy the world has ever known," said one of the creatures.
