

Dismissal Motion Ends Trial Is Assault Case

The state was unable to locate the complaining witness in the assault with a dangerous weapon case against Leroy J. Kirk, 28, Chiloquin, so the trial ended quickly Monday by Deputy District Attorney Robert M. Redding moving for dismissal.

The complaining witness, Donald Kirk, 31, had allegedly been subjected to a systematic 2 1/2-hour assault by Leroy Kirk and his brother, William, after a family drinking party Aug. 12, Donald

Couple Buys Cafe Business

NEW PINE CREEK—Mr. and Mrs. R. C. (Dick) Byers, Alameda, California, have purchased Nettie's Steak House here from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Noble. The announcement was made Thursday.

The property includes a cafe and six rooms and real estate of the old Gus Doring residence. Byers was formerly in the logging business. He sold his equipment this fall. He spotted the property on his return with his family from a hunting and fishing trip to Idaho during a vacation this year.

Mrs. Byers will operate the restaurant and Byers plans to build six log cabin-style motel units at the rear of the lot.

showed up eight times to testify before the grand jury and had testified briefly against William before a mistrial was declared Nov. 29.

Before moving for dismissal, Redding had asked Judge William H. Foster for a continuance of the case so that the state could have more time to locate Donald Kirk. The judge ruled against the continuance on the grounds that the case had been to the grand jury four times and also because the motion for continuance was improperly presented.

Kirk's attorney, Arthur Beddoe, argued against the continuance on the grounds that "this case has dragged on long enough." He said his client had been in jail for four months without coming to trial.

The sheriff's office has been looking for Donald Kirk since Dec. 1 without success. It has been suggested that the witness returned to his home in Chicago. He had been visiting in Chiloquin when the alleged assault occurred.

District Attorney Dale T. Crabtree said he would move the court to order that a $1,500 bond be posted by Donald Kirk be forfeited due to his failure to appear.

The chapter team consisted of Greg Prescott, Vern Cox, Bill Whitman and Dale Parrish. Tom Tóvel accompanied the team as recording secretary for the judges. The top three teams were Culver, Madras, and Bend.

The chapter public speaking representative was Greg Prescott. He placed third in the district with his speech entitled "America's Number One Problem."

Gratitude Seeker Receives Advice

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: People are no good. I took me 61 years to find it out. I built this business from the ground up. I have 175 employees and about 80 per cent are men, the rest are women. For their Thanksgiving I arranged with one of the country's finest turkey growers to send 175 choice birds. They were packed individually and sent to each of my employes. This cost $840.

Do you know how many people thanked me? Four. That's how many. Two wrote notes and the other two bumped into me in the hall. I'm so burned up I've decided never to go out of my way to be nice to people again. This whole thing has made me so mad I've had a headache every day for two weeks.

I don't want any advice. I just want you to know what people are really like.—SMARTENED UP
Dear Smartened: One of the hazards of writing to me is that people sometimes get advice even when they don't ask for it.

If you want to find gratitude look in the dictionary. The reward that comes from giving is the warm feeling it gives the giver. Don't look for satisfaction beyond that. If people seem ungrateful—so what? Now forget about it or those birds are going to cost a lot more than $840. They'll make you sick.

Dear Ann Landers: I can't go anywhere else with this problem and I can't sign my name. You'll know why in a minute. I'm 29, happily married, and have a fine family. Two years ago I took this job as representative for a national organization. I like my work, make good money and there's a future here if I stay. The trouble is the branch manager's wife is after me.

This woman is 41, has plenty of money and time on her hands. She tells me her children don't need her any more, her husband bores her and she must have an outside interest to keep her stimulated. I work at the office two evenings a week and she always seems to know which evenings they are. She shows up and sits on my desk for hours at a time and I can't do my work.

I'm scared to death her husband may get wind of this. My wife kids me a little but she has no idea the woman is making serious passes. I don't want to leave my job. What shall I do?—WITHOUT ANSWER
Dear Without: Tell this woman that she's threatening her job and jeopardizing her marriage. If you make it abundantly clear that she's also wasting her time she'd be a moron to continue the chase.

When you work evenings invite your wife to come along "just for her company." It's worth the price of a sifter. If the femme fatale bumps into your wife two

Dear Ann Landers: My son is 27 and divorced. His first wife was lovely but they never got along. Three months ago he married again. I have some beautiful pictures of my son's first wedding. They cost a lot to panel and a frame. Should I keep them hung up in my home? I loved his first wife very much and I hardly know this second one. Please tell me what to do. I am—LOST
Dear Lost: Don't display wedding pictures that no longer have meaning. It will be embarrassing to your son and his present wife if you continue to keep the old pictures on your wall. Remove them please.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

$7,300 Is Awarded In Court

A Klamath Falls waitress who had asked $50,000 in a civil suit against an ambulance company and a car driver was awarded $7,300 late Friday night by a circuit court jury.

Mrs. Shirley Mae Parr, 5106 Harlan Drive, was awarded $5,000 general damages and $2,342.94 special damages against co-defendants James Kaler, Donald J. Morgan and Lloyd Hershel Foust. Mrs. Parr received the judgment for injuries she sustained April 13, 1957, in a wreck on the old South Sixth Street Viaduct. The jury deliberated six hours.

Eight people were seated shoulder to shoulder at the complicated five-day trial. The case was heard by Judge Charles H. Foster.

Mrs. Parr was passenger in a Kaler Ambulance driven by Morgan in 1957, when the ambulance collided with a car driven by Foust. The plaintiff, Mrs. Parr, was represented by attorneys David R. Vandenberg Jr. and William R. Bradshaw. David E. Card represented Kaler and Morgan and William Duhaime of Medford was Foust's attorney.

Oregonians Compare Tour Notes

Oregonians from two cities in the southern part of the state found each other aboard the SS Leonardo da Vinci, soon after leaving Naples en route to New York. Both parties had toured Europe during the summer.

John Novak Jr. and Gary Pastega, both of Klamath Falls, wearing Tyrolean hats, were spotted aboard ship by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cooper Allen Jr. of Medford, who have been in Europe since last spring in company with a party which included Mr. and Mrs. Angus L. Bowmer of Ashland. Bowmer is director-founder of the Ashland Shakespearean Festival.

Mrs. Allen (Eva) is a one-time Klamath County resident, having lived at Harriman Lodge for several years with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Jester, lodge managers.

Young Novak and Pastega had some exciting experiences while abroad. They were detained by authorities for eight hours in Germany during an investigation of the murder of a woman and child. Fortunately, the night of the deaths was one of the few during the summer that the Klamath Falls youths spent in a hotel. They were thus able to establish an alibi acceptable to the authorities.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Want to buy a wind tunnel? A tunnel is to be auctioned here today, Wednesday and Thursday—probably piecemeal.

It was built at the California Institute of Technology during World War II and used by five aircraft companies to make wind-tunnel tests on a "whole generation of U.S. aircraft."

The five firms shared the operating expense. Recently several haven't been able to contribute. It costs $20 million a year to operate and is too slow for many tests now made.

Tarr Cites Industrial Bribery In Washington

SALEM (AP)—Robert H. Tarr, state Planning and Development director, said Monday that the state of Washington uses tax concessions to attract new industry.

He told a legislative fiscal conference that Oregon does not practice "industrial bribery."

Tarr added that Washington uses new industry through unequal application of assessments.

Later John Denny, Tarr's research and information director, said he had been informed that one plant received a tax concession in Washington, and that a small Oregon company received offers from two Washington communities with the understanding it would get tax advantages in how the assessment is applied.

At Olympia, William S. Schuchmacher, state Tax Commission chairman, denied that Washington gives tax concessions as a means of attracting new industries.

"There are no provisions for concessions under the law," he declared.

Huge Ship Docks
PORTLAND (AP)—The biggest commercial vessel ever to call here is berthed at a north Portland terminal.

It is the American-owned Trans-eastern, a tanker that has been converted to grain-hauling. It has a deadweight tonnage of 46,400. Actually the harbor is too shallow to permit the vessel to take on its full load of barley to Poland. Over the weekend it picked up 9,000 tons at Longview. Some 20,000 more tons will be added there. That will give the ship a draft of 32 feet.

It then will proceed to the deeper Seattle harbor to take on a final 11,000 tons. That will increase its draft to 38 feet for the voyage to Poland.

Student Housing
PORTLAND (AP)—The possibility of providing housing for married students at the state medical and dental schools here is going to be studied by the state Board of Higher Education.

William E. Walsh, Coos Bay board vice president, said Monday, "I think there is every reason why they need student housing more than at any other institution."

Dean D. W. E. Baird of the medical school noted that 45 per cent of the students in their lower two years and 65 per cent of those in the higher two are married.

The board will consider both private and state-provided housing.

Opponents To Talk
GRESHAM (AP)—Two major opponents in the dispute over presidency of the Oregon State Senate will speak from the same platform here Friday night.

They are Sens. Robert W. Straub, Eugene, the Democratic state chairman, and Walter Pearson, Portland, president of the 1959 Senate. Straub is a liberal; Pearson represents the conservative wing.

Their topic will be: "What It Means to Be a Democrat."

Discuss College
MILTON-FREEWATER (AP)—The possibility that a junior college may be established in northeastern Oregon was discussed here Monday by Gov. Mark O. Hatfield.

In a talk to 450 persons at a pre-Christmas luncheon, Hatfield mentioned no site and said creation of such a college would require community co-operation and effort.

The governor also told of his recent trip with other governors to South America. He said he observed widespread poverty which made the poor easy converts for Communism.

Simplified Form
SALEM (AP)—The Department of Motor Vehicles said Monday that, beginning Jan. 1, farmers and other seeking refunds on gasoline purchased for non-highway purposes can use a new, simplified form.

The new form, which eliminates much detail, will be available at all gasoline wholesale distributors, branch offices of the department, or from the Salem office.

Robber Gets $250

PORTLAND (AP)—A man held up a woman clerk and took about $250 from a downtown cosmetic shop Monday evening.

Police believe the robber is the same one who committed six other similar holdups in the past six weeks.

Girl Recovering
ALBANY (AP)—A 3-year-old girl is reported recovering from an overdose of aspirin that killed her 2-year-old brother. The tots ate about 90 aspirin tablets from a bottle they opened at their home.

Doctors said Verner Stanhope Jr. of Albany died in a hospital several hours after he and his sister, Maria, ate the tablets.

Their mother, Mrs. Doris Stanhope, noticed the empty aspirin bottle on the floor as she prepared breakfast. They were taken ill at the same time and she rushed them to a doctor.

Missile Scores Second Success
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Army has scored a second straight launch success with a two-stage model of its Pershing tactical missile.

The 34-foot solid-fuel rocket roared away from this test center Monday and propelled a simulated warhead about 140 miles down range. Brig. Gen. Richard M. Hurst, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, termed the flight a complete success.

The Army and the Martin Co. are developing the missile as a mobile field weapon with a nuclear range of 50 to 700 miles.

There are about 1,000 species of trees in the United States, but only about 100 species are used commercially for lumber. Most lumber comes from 35 species.
