Night Person Is Poor Mate

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: A word of advice from "Beat" whose fiancee has insomnia.

If you think you're "Beat" now, just wait till you're married to the girl. She's not an insomniac, she's a nocturnal. Webster defines nocturnal as "one whose energy peak is reached at night—the opposite of diurnal."

I'm a diurnal who tried living with a nocturnal. It won't work. He came home at all hours, wanted to eat when they do in Madrid (11 p.m.). He insisted on seeing the late shows, and encouraged people to drop in after the theater, after meetings, and after parties. He was fresh as a daisy at 3 a.m. I was propping my eyes open with toothpicks.

At 7:30 in the morning he might as well have been on the moon. The alarm clock didn't faze him. I had the job of pulling him out of bed and getting him off to work.

After 15 years of it I called it quits. Now I'm married to a diurnal like myself. He starts the arguments early and winds them up at a reasonable hour so we both get plenty of rest.—HAPPY NOW

Dear Happy: Mother Nature agrees. She does not mate a hoot-owl with a lark. During courtship it's wise to learn whether or not the beloved is a morning-whistler or a night-crawler. Later is too late.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is causing me great embarrassment. She hates TV and will not have a set in her home. When her husband was living he enjoyed TV so she put up with it for his sake. He died last year and the first thing she did was give away the set.

My husband and his brothers would do anything for their mother but she's very independent and won't let them do much. They want to buy her a new TV set just for appearances sake—even if she never turns it on—just so the neighbors can see the antenna. They feel it's a reflection on the whole family if their mother is the only one on the block who doesn't have TV. What do you think?—DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

Dear D.I.L.: I say your husband and his brothers should save their money and quit being foolish. If their mother doesn't want a TV set that should settle it.

The absence of an antenna does not always indicate that the family can't afford an idiot box. Sometimes it means the family doesn't care to paralyze its eyeballs watching 55 hours of nonsense in order to catch one worthwhile program.

Dear Ann Landers, I'm 16 and having a big argument with my mother. She said to write to you and whatever you say will be it.

When a boy I don't want to go with calls for a date I say, "I'm sorry but I already have a date for that night." My reasoning is that if someone else calls, and I do want to go, I'm protected. The boy's feelings are not hurt and I can go with fellows I like.

Mom says this is lying and I should come right out and say, "I don't have a date but I don't care to go with you." In my opinion this is cruel. Mom says it's better than lying. What do you say?—MARY M

Dear Mary: There is no need to lie, nor is it necessary to cut a kid to ribbons. Just say "I'm terribly sorry but I can't go with you." No further explanation is called for. If he presses for information ask him if he's with the FBI and keep it light and painless.

Confidential to Confused: You can't carry the weight of the world on your shoulders, nor force "Help" on people. Keep yourself afloat and don't let others ruin your life.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LEG NO HINDRANCE

LONDON (AP) — One-legged Dennis Bridges was on the run today after a hop-step-jump escape from the law. Bridges, 22, taken from jail to a clinic for adjustment of his artificial leg, stepped into a rest room, hopped up on a wash basin and jumped through a window.

Bazaar Will Benefit FD

A bazaar Friday and Saturday, Dec. 16 and 17, at Big Y Market on South Sixth Street will benefit the Rocky Point Community Fire Department fund.

The department was formed recently in the wake of a series of disastrous fires in the area during the past 15 months.

Subscribers want to buy a truck and build a fire hall to house it.

Items for sale are timely for Christmas. Included are all sorts of handmade articles, such as doilies, aprons, potholders, pillow slips, jeweled glasses and makeup cases.

And the sale will feature homebaked mince pies, Christmas cookies and fancy treats, as well as some exquisite and unique decorations, such as wreaths and sprayed weed centerpieces.

An outstanding item to be sold is a hand-made quilt.

A wool afghan, a white wool stole and a hand painting by Bud Miller will be given as prizes.

The sale will continue from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Friday and from noon to 6 p.m. Saturday.

"TEA PARTIES"

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The South African "tea party"—a campaign against racial discrimination in restaurants — spread from Cape Town to Johannesburg Tuesday. Four whites and three Africans walked into a department store restaurant, in the same type of demonstration that had grown in Cape Town recently. White diners looked up in surprise, but there were no incidents. The manager came over and told the group they could not be served. Outside the store police ordered only the three Africans to go to the police station.
