Commissioners Continue Work On Water Plan

RENO (UPI)—The California-Nevada Compact Commission continued efforts here today to draw up an interstate compact to divide the waters of the Lake Tahoe Basin between the two states.

Most of Monday's opening session was devoted to the power the permanent commission will have over existing agencies of the two states.

The commissioners agreed that the permanent commission should use all of the existing agencies as much as possible to avoid creation of a super agency with a large staff and widespread powers.

However, they said the permanent commission should have authority to require that action be taken in regard to such matters as pollution.

When the final draft of the compact is completed, it will be submitted to the legislatures of both states and to Congress for final approval.

MAKE PROPAGANDA
BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communist regime today tried to make propaganda capital out of the Munich air disaster.

The Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland told its readers that if the U.S. military plane that crashed on the city last Saturday had been in a hangar in the United States, 30 Munich families would have been spared Christmas sorrow over loss of their relatives.

Ski Instructor To Attend School In The French Alps

MOUNT SHASTA—Buck Martin, head ski instructor at Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl, and his wife, Cozette, will leave Mount Shasta Dec. 26 on a drive to New York.

From there they will board a plane for Paris, where he will attend a ski school.

Ski instruction in France is under direct government supervision. Instructors must complete federal training courses there to be eligible to teach skiing.

To further advertise this procedure, the French government invites two foreign ski teachers to attend their school each year for free instruction.

The Mount Shasta man is one of the two chosen this year. All

Happy Camp

JAMES TRISTAN, music director for Happy Camp Schools, says about 40 local students currently are studying the symphonies, a plastic instrument resembling a clarinet, by which students learn to read music and count rhythm.

THE EVENING PINOCHLE CLUB met recently at the home of Mrs. Bernard Applegate for a Christmas party and gift exchange. Mrs. L. T. Huddleston won first prize, Mrs. Gene Ellis, second, and Mrs. E. Whitman, third. Mrs. Harvey Westby won the special prize and Al Swaim, the traveling pinochle prize. Refreshments were served around a bright Christmas tree.

THE REV. VIRGIL TERRY, pastor of Happy Camp Community Church, invites everyone to a performance of "The Gates of Christmas," a program to be presented by about 45 youngsters of the Sunday School Dec. 22 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Terry, organist, and Mrs. Everett Collard are directing the program.

HAPPY CAMP COMMUNITY CHURCH choir will present a cantata, "A Song Unending," Christmas Day at 11 a.m. Mrs. Virgil Terry is director and pianist. Others participating will be Mr. and Mrs. Everett Collard, Arthur French and Mrs. Victor Dusenberry.

SANTA CLAUS will visit homes in the community by appointment during current evenings. Appointments may be made by calling Mrs. Lloyd Westby, president of Happy Camp Parent Teacher Association, sponsors of Santa's visit.

THE LIONS CLUB served Christmas dinner and conducted a dance Dec. 16 at Buckhorn Lodge. Corsages made by local Girl Scouts were purchased by club members for women present. James Tristan, Milton Keyershan and Roy Curtis entertained with a pantomime skit.

MASONIC CLUB members and their wives were served a turkey dinner at Happy Camp Grange Hall recently. Fred Maines, Myrl Reed, Archie Fowler and Jack Fitzer prepared the dinner with assistance from their wives.

Footprinters Stage Party
DUNSMUIR—A gift exchange in a gaily-decorated hall plus dancing and songs were included in the Christmas dinner party given by Chapter 6, International Footprinters Association, recently at the Yreka Inn.

A contingent of police officers from Dunsmuir was among the 40 law enforcement officers present at this annual party.

Music was furnished by Hugh Welsh of Yreka. Two new members were taken into the organization at the dinner and two former members reinstated.

Teachers Teach Teachers Preparing For Ski School

DUNSMUIR — Teachers are preparing for the annual Southern Siskiyou-Mount Shasta Herald Ski School at Mt. Shasta Ski Bowl, to be held in February.

Instructors from Dunsmuir, McCloud, Mount Shasta, Weed and Yreka took lessons last Sunday—the first session in a series of five—to prepare themselves for an anticipated 500 enrollees in the ski school.

School-age children from these communities may enroll for lessons beginning Jan. 4. There is a registration fee of $1 and a small charge for bus fare.

The remaining costs are met by the Mount Shasta Herald and the various recreation districts in the area.

Lessons will begin Feb. 4 and continue on subsequent Saturday mornings until March 11 and 12. That weekend will be the annual Ski Carnival for all enrollees. Races will be held and prizes and achievement badges given.

Velma Nile of Mount Shasta is general director of the school. Dunsmuir instructors will be Glen Minuth, Lois and Bob Dewey, Mike Shepherd, Nancy Swift, Lee Edson and Bud Palmer.

Four-Year-Old Rated Brilliant
READING, England (AP)—Psychologist Alfred King questioned Penny Gouk, 4, for nearly two hours Tuesday.

"She's brilliant," he said later. "She has the brain power of a girl of 13."

Her father, garage proprietor Roy Gouk, wants to send her to school, but in Berkshire County the minimum school age is 5. The County Council asked the psychologist to determine if an exception should be made for Penny.

The expert said he would submit a report to the authorities. Penny was more concerned about the Christmas presents she will get.

"A pony is at the top of my list," she said. "If Father Christmas does not leave me one, I shall become a cook, marry a farmer, and make him buy a cart. Then he will have to get a pony for me."
