

MRS. MADELYN BROWN, left, Klamath Nursing Home superintendent, and Mrs. Clara Rainwater of the nursing staff distributed gifts to patients in the women's cottage, unable to attend party.

JACK SMITH, left, thanked Santa for gift. Right, behind Santa's right arm, is Louis Zettlin.

HUGHEY BARNES knows there is a Santa, for sure. Hughey asked for special kind of candy and found it among his packages.

"SCOTTY" McDONALD had a Scotch b-u-r-r in his voice when he talked to Ina Brown on nursing staff. He hoped for pipe tobacco and Santa remembered.

MRS. ANNA MURPHY wore Christmas corsage in her hair to greet visitor from North Pole.

BLANCHE WHITMER found her packages marked "Merry Christmas." All guests were dressed in their best for party.

INDIAN DANCERS of Klamath Tribe, members of Beatty Boy Scout and Cub Scout troops, presented tribal dances to beat of tom-tom and war whoops to entertain guests.

PERCHED on Santa's knee, small Shelley Young looked Santa in the eye.

THIS NATIVE OREGONIAN, John Crawford, has lived at home for some time. Asked Santa for new shirt, received four or five and other gifts too.

JULES WALLAERT "stashed" his gifts on nearby shelf while he watched others receive theirs. He is bed patient brought to party in wheel chair.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

To The Public:

On behalf of the residents of the Klamath County Nursing Home, we extend a heartfelt thanks for your cooperation. The gifts you have contributed for this "Share Your Christmas" project have provided a special touch of the spirit of the season to someone else. Christmas is truly the season of sharing, both material wealth and spiritual blessings.

You have helped bring the true meaning of Christ into Christmas. Our thanks and a very special Merry Christmas to all of you.

Herald and News Staff
Nursing Home Staff,
Mrs. Madelyn Brown, Supt.

SANTA had petite and pretty helper in Carol Eisenbeiz. Guests were served ice cream and cake before gifts were opened.

BRIGHT RIBBONS and pretty paper made gifts attractive for Louis Villa.

ALL "PRIMED UP" in party dress and velvet bows, small Shelley Young came with Christmas greetings and gift to see her great-grandmother, Mrs. Irene Wallace Reed who lives in cottage.

MADRIGAL CHORUS of Klamath Union High School under direction of M. Dale Hallack, director of vocal music, Klamath Union High School, sang familiar Christmas music.