Neuberger Lists Goals To Aid State's Economy

PORTLAND (AP) — Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., said today she will work in the coming session of Congress for legislation that would bolster Oregon's economy and bring added payrolls to the state.

Teacher Guilty Of Trespassing At Bomb Tests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Earle L. Reynolds, 49, a former teacher at Ohio's Antioch College, was guilty only of trespassing when he sailed into the Eniwetok nuclear testing area in July, 1958.

So ruled the U.S. Court of Appeals Thursday. The court reversed Reynolds' 1959 conviction for invasion of the 390,000-square-mile Pacific Test Area in defiance of an Atomic Energy Commission regulation.

Reynolds, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, sailed his yacht Phoenix into the prohibited area after notifying the Coast Guard that he planned to do so as a protest against testing of nuclear weapons.

He was sentenced to two years in prison and placed on probation for 18 months of the term after being convicted by the Honolulu Federal District Court on Aug. 28, 1959.

The Appeals Court in San Francisco said the government had obtained its conviction under a regulation not authorized in the act which created AEC.

To Build Mill

PORTLAND (AP) — The Colorado Milling and Elevator Co. has announced plans to construct a $30,000 feed mill at Ontario, Ore., the Oregon Department of Planning and Development said today. It will employ 25 persons.

Mother Earth Slimming Down That Middle Bulge

NEW YORK (AP) — Mother earth is slimming down that slight bulge around her waistline—but not so you'd notice.

It's going to take her some 100 million years.

And the old girl is—almost imperceptibly—slowing up. But her body is a lot stronger than the doctors thought it was before.

These are some of the indications from satellite studies reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science meeting by Dr. Gordon J. F. MacDonald of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

First, the satellite studies showed that earth's shape was more full around the middle than had been supposed.

Scientists were able to determine the earth's shape from the unusual action of man-made satellites circling the earth. One Vanguard satellite's orbit was

Would Hike Park Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Proposed regulations which would raise the annual acreage limit on federal lands that the states may obtain for park purposes were announced Wednesday.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior George Abbott said the new rules would put into effect amendments to the Recreation and Public Purposes Act sponsored by the department and enacted by Congress.

The annual acreage limit would be increased from 640 acres to 6,400 acres, involving not more than three sites.

For the calendar years 1960 through 1962, the limitation temporarily would be increased to 12,800 acres in not more than six sites, plus any additional lands that may be needed for small roadside parks and rest areas.

Interested parties will be given 30 days within which to comment on the proposal after its publication shortly in the federal register.

$3,750 A Week Is Not Enough To Cover Bills

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John M. Frankenhimer, motion picture and TV director, says a man can earn $3,750 a week and still be broke.

He told a Superior Court all-mother-child support hearing Thursday that the salary figure is deceptive. He pays $7,000 monthly on current and past federal, New York and California income taxes, for instance, he said.

His estranged wife Carolyn wants $3,372 monthly. Frankenhimer, 30, cited these among his expenses.

For moving 10,000 pounds of effects when Mrs. Frankenhimer insisted on joining him here, $2,000; for rent of his New York apartment, $700 a month; for rent of a Beverly Hills house she chose, $1,000 a month; for rent of separate quarters for himself after they separated last October, $550 a month.

The court ordered the director to give his wife $500 to meet current bills.

Earl Jackson Dies Dec. 23

FORT KLAMATH—Earl Milton Jackson, 66, resident of Fort Klamath for the past 24 years, died at his home here Friday evening, Dec. 23.

He was born at Silver Lake, Oct. 16, 1894, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Jackson, pioneer homesteaders of Silver Lake.

With his family, he moved in 1904 to Fort Klamath. His parents were owners and managers of a hotel at the site of the present-day Rightmire Apartment Building.

He served in the military during World War I and later served as a narcotics investigator for the federal government.

Jackson returned with his wife to Fort Klamath in 1936, and they have made their home here since.

Jackson was a life member of Mount Tabor Masonic Lodge 42, Portland, and was a 32nd Degree Scottish Rite Mason. He was also a member of a local organization, the Wood River Pioneers and Oldtimers.

Survivors include the widow Lida, Fort Klamath; three brothers, Edgar, Sweet Home; Wilbur, Yuba City, Calif.; and Columbus, Jacksonville. He is also survived by several nephews and nieces.

O'Hair's Memorial chapel, Klamath Falls, was in charge of final rites Monday at Fort Klamath Community Methodist Church. Members of Chiloquin Masonic Lodge officiated.

Honorary pallbearers included four of Mrs. Jackson's nephews, Durwood McCoy, Oregon City; Dennis, John and Harold McCoy, Ashland, and Dr. Raymond Tice and Marshall Spivey, Klamath Falls.

Psychology Can Be Help In Diet, Losing Weight

By ALTON BLAKESLEE. Associated Press Science Writer. NEW YORK (AP)—Psychology can be a helpful buddy in dieting to lose weight, researchers say today.

The psychological aids could be such steps as: Preparing the next meal right after you've eaten — then you won't nibble.

Eating specific foods in specific places of the house. Or going to the trouble of putting on some certain type of clothing before eating.

Lifting a forkful of food only when your mouth is empty. Holding forkfuls of food for a while between plate and eager teeth—or chewing food longer.

Psychologically, they said, eating involves a whole chain of events or stimuli, usually performed in a pretty fixed routine.

While the chain of events varies with individuals, a typical chain is going to the store, selecting and paying for food, carting it home, preparing it, setting the table, sitting down to the table, and so forth.

The idea is to lengthen the chain of events. The longer the chain is, the weaker are its effects, said Charles B. Ferster, Ph.D., John I. Nurnberger, M.D., and Eugene E. Levitt of the psychiatry department, Indiana University School of Medicine.

Eating too much is largely a habit, they told the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Psychological principles can help develop self-control, which is different from will power, they said.

They took a dim view of hopes that simply telling people about bad consequences of over-eating can be effective. You can't learn to shoot golf in the 80s just by reading about golf, they pointed out.

For all dieters, they suggested, Establish a ritual of three meals a day, with perhaps a light snack such as milk and crackers at bedtime.

Control the time of meals rigidly. When the urge to eat wells up, do something in which eating isn't feasible—take a walk, go to a

HERALD AND NEWS, Klamath Falls, Ore. Friday, December 25, 1960. Ancient Wreck Found Off Coast. SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—An ancient wreck found off Australia may be that of the British ship Pandora which sank in 1791 with some of the Bounty mutineers. Author-historian Colin Roderick said today he is inclined to the Pandora theory by the vessel's size and an inscription on the ship's bell. The inscription reads: "The gift of Lady Herbert, daughter of Sir John Knatchbull of Mearchim, Hatch, in Kent, in the Kingdom of England, November 30, 1711." The wreck was found 200 miles north of Cairns last month. The Pandora, wrecked Aug. 28, 1791, had been sent out to capture mutineers who defied Capt. Bligh of the Bounty in 1789. The Pandora was returning to England with 14 Bounty mutineers when it sank 12 hours after being holed on a reef. Records indicate that the Pandora's master, Capt. Edward Edwards, turned the Pandora into a hell ship for the prisoners. Thirty-four persons, including four mutineers, died in the wreck. Ship's boats took 99 survivors to Timor.
