

Women Wrote Big Slice Of 1960 History

CHICAGO (UPI)—Women wrote a major chapter in the history of 1960.

The names that stood out as the first year of the new decade ended included Jacqueline Kennedy, Princess Margaret, Pat Nixon, Queen Elizabeth, Barbara Powers, and Queen Farah Diba.

They were central figures in election campaigns, in royal births and marriages, and international incidents.

There were pageantry and simplicity, hope and the end of longing in the walk down the aisle of Westminster Abbey for Britain's Princess Margaret. The girl just about everyone had relegated to spinsterhood married a commoner and former photographer, Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Escapades of heiress debutantes sparked the flame of romance in adventures around the world. Gambler Benedict and ex-chauveur Andre Pourbeu, 35, finally said "I do" in a North Carolina town after a hide-and-seek elopement to Paris and a tug-of-war battle with Grandmother Benedict, the power behind the Remington typewriter fortune.

Nanette Wallace married her soldier from North Carolina with the blessings of her mother, but only after an elopement from France to Germany. Miss Wallace's mother, Mrs. Patricia Wallace Vanderbilt, is the ex-wife of millionaire Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.

Queen Elizabeth gave Britain its second royal prince, the first to be born to a reigning British monarch in more than a century. Queen Farah Diba of Iran presented the Shah with his first son, and the throne with his next heir. Princess Michiko of Japan gave birth of her first child, also a boy.

King Baudouin, the bachelor monarch of Belgium, surprised royal matchmakers by taking a Spanish bride, Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon. The beloved Princess Suga of Japan married a commoner.

America's queens made headlines, too. Skating star Carol Heiss won a gold medal at the Winter Olympics and later her fifth world figure skating title. Negro athlete Wilma Rudolph became the new queen in women's track, taking three gold medals in Olympic contests in Rome.

A lovely queen from Montague, Mich., took the Miss America crown. She's 18-year-old Nancy Anne Fleming.

In politics, Pat Nixon launched a campaign of her own for First Lady, but lost out to 31-year-old Jacqueline Kennedy. In November, Mrs. Kennedy gave birth to her second child and first son, John F. Kennedy Jr.

Maurine Newberger won her late husband's senatorial seat in Oregon. She'll be on the opposite side of the aisle from Margaret Chase Smith, Maine Republican, who was reelected after a historic race with another woman, Mrs. Lucia Cormier. It was the first time in history two women competed for a Senate seat.

In Ceylon, Mrs. Sirima Bandaranaike, 44, was elected premier, the first woman in history to hold such a post. She succeeded her husband who was assassinated.

May Day, and a fateful mission, the haunting story of a pilot's wife—Barbara Powers, wife of the U-2 pilot sentenced to 10 years of hard labor in Russia after being convicted of espionage. The 26-year-old Georgia woman was plummeted into an international spotlight that dimmed only when the goodbyes were said in a dark and bare Moscow prison.

Space news took a woman's turn with adventurous Jerrie Cobb. The slender 29-year-old blonde from Oklahoma underwent a series of physical and psychological tests, similar to those taken by seven male astronauts.

Mrs. Jane Baldasare, the 24-year-old housewife from New York, set a new world's underwater endurance record, but failed in two attempts to swim the English channel underwater.

It took Dr. Barbara Moore 85 days, but the 56-year-old British vegetarian walked from San Francisco to New York on a diet of grass juice and fruit. Dr. Moore hoped to break the cross country walking record, but fell behind two British servicemen by 18 days.

In Hollywood, these names were in the news:

Cheryl Crane, the teenage daughter of actress Lana Turner, twice tried to escape from the school for wayward girls where she was committed for supervision. Her mother marked 1960 with her fifth marriage, to wealthy rancher Fred May. Other movie marriages included Nancy Sinatra and Tommy Sands; Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin; Debbie Reynolds and Harry Karl; Swedish actress May Britt and Negro singer Sammy Davis Jr.; actress Jill St. John and Lance Reventlow, only son of dime store heiress Barbara Hutton; and John Barrymore Jr. and Italian starlet Gaby Palozzoli.

Parted were Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller; Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger; Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier; Laraine Day and former baseball manager Leo Durocher; Mamie VanDoren and band leader Ray Anthony; Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

Deaths in 1960 included Emily Post, the etiquette expert who gave her blessings to doughnut dunking as long as it was informal; Diana Barrymore, 39; former actress Clara Kimball Young; 70; Mrs. Elvira Doud, 82-year-old mother of Mamie Eisenhower; actress Margaret Sullivan; and Sylvia Pankhurst, British crusader for women's rights, 79.

But probably the death that stunned the world most, and the world of women particularly, was that of movie land's king, Clark Gable, who died of a heart attack at the age of 59.

School Event Set Thursday

BLY—The "Lights On For Education" program will take place at the Bly Parents and Patrons meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 5 at the Bly School.

LOST AND FOUND

RICE LAKE, Wis. (UPI)—A local radio station had lent Mrs. Colleen Marquardt its public address system so she could drive around town blaring an appeal for her lost year-old German shepherd, Rommel.

The station, which also broadcast a plea for the return of the lost dog, now is appealing for the return of the $120 PA system.

Mental Patients Get Presents

PORTLAND (AP)—Every patient in state mental hospitals got Christmas gifts, thanks to a generous public, the Oregon Mental Health Association said Saturday. "The tremendous response to our appeal provided several gifts for every one of the 6,000 patients," said Mrs. Thomas Denison, chairman of the association's drive. "More than half of this number have no family or friends. The Christmas gift project plays an important part in bringing happiness to our less fortunate citizens during the holiday season. However, it is only a part of the overall program to help the mentally ill come back. "We must not forget them during the rest of the year," she said.

Falls 55 Feet, Scratches Leg

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Wayne Ganesworth, 18, tripped and fell through a guard rail along the Niagara River gorge below the falls Saturday and plunged 55 feet straight down into a snowbank. Police, using ropes and a basket, got him back to the top in 1 1/2 hours. At a hospital, doctors examined him and reported these injuries: leg scratches.

SMALL CAR PROBLEM MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Dr. Joseph Green of Madison told police someone picked up his parked small foreign car and deposited it on a lawn near a curb on Madison's west side.

Police said they get lots of complaints in this category. "But I lost my parking place," Green griped.
