

Father Unfair To His Twins

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: We are, 13-year-old identical twin girls. Mom has always dressed us alike. We didn't mind until lately. Mom agrees now that we are getting to be more grown up and we ought to be able to express our own likes and dislikes. My twin sister and I don't agree on everything any more.

Our dad says we should dress alike because it looks cute. He and Mom have gotten into big arguments over this. We told him we don't want to dress alike any longer. He says we should do it to make him happy. We hate to go against him. What is your advice?—TWO OF A KIND

Dear Two: It's unfair of your father to ask you to dress alike to "make him happy."

Dressing alike is an attention-getting gimmick. It defeats a central principal of rearing children which is to treat each child as an individual.

Some twins choose to dress alike because it sets them apart from the crowd. You two are apparently bright girls who want to be individuals—and hooray for you! Tell your dad to please let you grow up as two people and not as halves of a single unit. God made each of us different. Insist on being yourselves. It's your birthright.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I were invited to the home of friends last Saturday night. It's about a 35-mile drive.

Shortly after we arrived the man of the house began to insist that my husband accompany him to a neighborhood gin-mill. We wives were supposed to stay home. My husband does not drink and this man knew it. Finally he said, "Well, I'm going whether you are or not. It's the only time I get to see my neighbors."

I suggested to my husband that we leave for home which we did at 8 p.m. My husband grumbled all the way home saying I had been too hasty. I explained maybe he was too dim-witted to recognize a slap in the face but I had never been so insulted in my life. I also vowed never again to accept an invitation to that home. He says I'm wrong to take it so seriously. Am I?—HUMILIATED

Dear Humiliated: I see no justification whatever for the host's behavior. You were right to leave when you did and your husband should not expect you to go there again.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been going to this dentist for two years. He was recommended by a friend. I found out later the "friend" is his cousin.

Last week I had a bad toothache. The dentist said the tooth could not be saved and then he extracted it. The next day the pain persisted so I used a mirror to see what was happening. To my horror I discovered he had pulled the wrong tooth. Can I sue him? The tooth he yanked was perfectly healthy.—JUST ASKING

Dear Just: You will have to get the testimony of another dentist to support your accusation of malpractice. This isn't easy. See a lawyer.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FAMILY SIZE INCREASES
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The size of the average American family increased in the past decade, reversing a long-term trend. The Census Bureau said Monday that 5.1 million American families in 1960 averaged 3.68 persons each. The average was 3.54 in 1950, 3.76 in 1940, 4.04 in 1930 and 5.7 in 1790.

EMIL J. CARROZ

Emil Carroz Funeral Set

Funeral services for Emil Joseph Carroz, 65, who died in a local hospital Jan. 8, will be held at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, where he was a member, at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 11. Msgr. T. P. Casey will officiate. Final rites and interment will be in Mt. Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the rosary will be at 8 p.m. at Ward's Chapel Tuesday.

Mr. Carroz, a native of Leopold, Ind., born Nov. 10, 1896, has been a resident of Klamath Falls for 36 years. He came west with his parents when he was 10 years old, grew up on a stock ranch and received his schooling in Eastern Oregon.

As a young man he became a skilled mechanic and for a few years supervised the repair and maintenance of all automotive equipment for the Indian Service at Klamath Agency. There he gained the respect and friendship of many tribal members and was accorded the privilege of fishing on the reservation.

With a partner he took the contract for clearing the right of way between Bieber and White Horse when the Great Northern Railroad was built into Northern California and Southern Oregon. During World War II he served in the Liberty Ship effort after being disqualified for active service by a permanent injury.

He was a 26-year member of Klamath Falls Lodge No. 1247, BPOE and was a third degree Knight of Columbus.

Mr. Carroz was deeply interested in youth during his lifetime and was widely known in automotive circles in Oregon. At the time of his death he was associated with the Dick B. Miller Company.

Palbearers will be Cecil Hunt, Russell Cotter, William Dwyer, Charles Van Griethuysen, George Andrieu and Neil Hurley.

Survivors include the widow, Frances, this city; brother, John Carroz, Fresno; sister, Agnes Evers, Biggs.

THE FIRST HOUSE NUMBER in Malin was received Dec. 30 by Mayor Leonard Patrik from Explorer Scouts Don Stastny, center, and Jim Kolkow, right. The project was planned over a year ago by local explorers. It was sponsored by Malin Chamber of Commerce and Malin firemen and received city council approval. Home owners who have not been contacted in line with the project are asked to contact Cecil Jackson, phone 723-2338.

Open Bids On New Road

On Dec. 28, bids were opened for the construction of the Keno Road, 27.5 miles in length, by the Bureau of Public Roads. Low bidder was G. Frank King of Portland, at $309,901.20. A total of seven bids ranging from King's low bid to a high of $437,409.50 were received.

The Keno Road will be a Bureau of Land Management double-lane timber access road extending from the Dead Indian Road along the east side of Howard Prairie Reservoir to the south side of Buck Lake, and connecting with Highway 66 approximately seven miles west of Keno. The construction of this road is made possible through the O&C access road program, whereby the 18 western Oregon O&C counties have agreed that one-third of the 75 per cent of gross receipts they receive from the sale of timber and other revenues obtained from the O&C land in western Oregon will be made available to the BLM for road development, reforestation, and recreation.

An estimated 1.2 billion board feet of timber, of which approximately 60 per cent is BLM, will be made available upon completion of construction of the Keno Road. Timber resources located tributary to the Keno Road can be transported on approximately an equal basis to either the Ashland-Medford area or to Klamath Falls. It is anticipated both directions on this road and the road has been designed for this type of traffic.

Recreational development of the east shores of Howard Prairie Reservoir will be possible upon completion of this road. The Keno Road location along the east side of the Howard Prairie Reservoir is approximately one-fourth of a mile from the shoreline to one mile from the shore. The Keno Road was designed so that recreation facilities on the reservoir could be developed by short roads from the main BLM road with the main traffic being sufficiently distant from the lake so as not to create any problem.

The Medford District of the Bureau of Land Management has plans for construction of the Surveyor public recreation area in July or August, 1961. This recreational site will be located at approximately the mid-point of the Keno Road, and will provide facilities for picnicking and over-

PORTLAND (AP) — A young motor scooter operator Monday became Portland's first traffic fatality of the year.

Ronald Clemens, 18, was killed when his scooter collided with a car driven by Mabel V. Goodwin, 37, at a street intersection in the Southeast District.

The accident increased Oregon's traffic death toll for 1961 to 15.

SALEM (AP) — The Senate Monday passed a resolution that would give members of the legislature up to $75 a month in expenses to supplement the $600 a year each receives in salary.

The resolution also would give legislators up to $150 a month in expenses for the months when the legislature is not in session.

The resolution also needs the approval of the House.

The proposal was approved Sunday night by Democratic and Republican caucuses.

night camping. The district anticipates heavy use of this site during the fall by deer hunters. Construction of this recreational area will be made under a separate contract.

To the residents of Klamath Falls, the Keno Road will also provide a more direct route to the Howard Prairie recreational developments.

Nixon Gets Birthday Greetings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican senators paid tribute to Richard M. Nixon Monday on the vice president's 48th birthday.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., called the defeated presidential candidate a man who would have been magnificent in victory, but was even greater in defeat.

"Never was he more magnificent or superb," Dirksen said, "than last Friday" when Nixon presided over his own defeat in certifying the Electoral College vote before a joint session of Congress.

Nixon received further honors Monday at a birthday party attended by 1,000 Republicans including President Eisenhower.

Nixon was not present in the Senate chamber as one GOP senator after another rose to praise him.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said Nixon and his family had made "a real contribution and... will be long remembered."

If you love luxury and hate gas pumps
... then you'll love the Buick Special! You get Buick comfort, ride and go—plus real gas savings to boot!
The Buick Special is 100% Buick—with everything that means. Like Buick go, for example. A new 155-h.p. aluminum V-8 and aluminum transmission* give you more sizzle than many a big car. And, because aluminum turns dead weight into live action, the miles per gallon figures are most delightful. Then there's Buick comfort—big roomy comfort for heads, hips and legs. And a Buick "all-day ride"—thanks to the same type Control Arm suspension as the full size Buicks and coil springs at all four wheels.
And priced under most low-price models. There's also Buick's Clean Look of Action and long-lasting Body by Fisher—all priced less than most models of the low-price field! Come guest-test the Special at your Buick dealer's—but come prepared to lose your heart!
*Aluminum Dual-Park Torque Drive—optional at extra cost.
