

New Sewage Disposal Plant Will Get Vote

WEED—Shastina Sanitary District passed a resolution Tuesday evening to place the prospect of a $160,000 bond issue to pay for new sewer construction before voters for approval.

At stake is a new sewage disposal plant to replace the antiquated equipment built in 1928 in "Shastina," the south adjacent to Weed that became a portion of the city during Tuesday's successful incorporation election.

The district covers the area from Division Street south to and including the junior college campus.

Mike Hennessy, assistant Siskiyou County district attorney, appeared before district board members William Krum, Joe Belcastro, Irvin Andreazza, Thomas Parkinson and Frank Groppi, bearing proper documents.

The district has acquired property for oxidation equipment north of Weed Golf Club.

The state Board of Health recently recommended that the district improve the old equipment.

Yreka Woman Faces Charge

YREKA—Sheriff's deputies this week arrested Beth Devene Murphy, 43, on a warrant issued from justice court charging her with felony drunk driving.

The charge was lodged after an auto accident Jan. 3 near here in which Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Liszewski and their three children, Ronald, Paul and Diane, all of Salem, were injured.

Mrs. Murphy was booked at Siskiyou County Jail here and released on payment of $1,000 bail. She is scheduled to appear in Yreka Justice Court Jan. 17 at 10 a.m. for arraignment.

Liszewski and the three children were released from Siskiyou County General Hospital here Friday. Mrs. Liszewski was confined for further treatment at the hospital.

To Swear In Minear Jan. 27

SALEM (AP)—Gov. Mark O. Hatfield said Tuesday that Dr. Leon P. Minear, principal of Portland's Benson Tech High School, will be sworn in as the new superintendent of public instruction at 9:30 a.m. Jan. 27.

Minear was appointed by the governor to succeed Dr. Rex Putnam, who resigned the post.

Water Flows On Spillway

YREKA — According to Yreka City Councilman Charles Cooley, water began flowing over the spillway at Greenhorn Dam Friday.

He stated the water has been just a few inches of the top of the dam for the past two weeks. Water has been pumped from Greenhorn Reservoir consistently for city use and to keep the pipes from freezing.

Cooley also stated that other city wells and reservoirs are beginning to fill. He added that no problems exist with leakage in the dam, and holes in the bottom of the Greenhorn Reservoir seem well sealed.

Court Reverses Ruling On Tax

SALEM (AP)—The Oregon Supreme Court today reversed a Marion County circuit court ruling that had declared void certain special assessments for street and sidewalk improvements.

The opinion was written by Justice Gordon Sloan, but Justice George Rossman wrote a dissenting opinion and was joined by Chief Justice William M. McAllister.

The majority said at no time during the proceedings had any objections ever been filed until after the assessment ordinance was approved by the City Council.

Some of the property owners made application to pay in installments and others paid, a few under protest.

The trial court of Judge Val D. Sloper had found certain irregularities in the assessment proceedings and therefore declared them void.

Retrial Denied In Damage Suit

YREKA—J. P. Correia, Yreka attorney, was denied a motion for a retrial in the matter of Lokey versus Pine Mountain Lumber Company lawsuit last Friday by Judge Richard B. Eaton, presiding in Siskiyou County Superior Court here.

Correia maintained in a hearing Friday afternoon that the jury was guilty of misconduct, that contributory negligence on the part of Dean Lokey, plaintiff, had been established and that instructions to the jury were not adequate.

All three charges were ruled against by Judge Eaton. Lokey was represented by the Messner, Hurley and Bigler law firm. Pine Mountain Lumber Company was represented by the Tebbe and Correia firm.

The jury awarded Lokey $67,288 damages, believed to be the largest amount ever granted from the Siskiyou County Superior Court in such a suit.

Police Officer Lauded For Public Service

DUNSMUIR—Officer J. M. Kimsey was commended today by Police Chief Lee Clark for two acts of public service that may have resulted in lives saved.

Recently during his early morning patrol, Kimsey noted a car from Washington parked near Mac's Market in north Dunsmuir. The motor was running and the driver appeared to be asleep.

Kimsey had to turn on his police siren to arouse the occupant of the locked car. Herman Heston of Seattle explained to Kimsey that he had become drowsy while driving and had left the motor and heater of the car on when he pulled off the highway to rest.

Apparently there was a carbon monoxide leakage because Heston had to be walked around for about an hour before he was fully awake and Kimsey took him to a nearby restaurant for coffee before Heston resumed his journey to San Francisco.

In the second instance, Kimsey broke the lock of a restroom door in a downtown restaurant to give aid to a choking woman. He was called from the street by a waitress.

Polio Reduced To Record Low

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation said today the incidence of infantile paralysis was at an all-time low in the United States last year.

There were 1.3 polio cases per 100,000 Americans last year, the foundation said, compared with an attack rate of 4.9 cases per 100,000 in 1959. The rate in the peak epidemic year of 1952 was 37.2 per 100,000.

The foundation said provisional figures of the U.S. Public Health Service show a steep over-all decline in the incidence of polio in the six years that the Salk polio vaccine has been available.

College Board Will Hear Results Of Balloting

WEED—College of the Siskiyou Governing Board members will hear results of a sample ballot today.

The ballot is designed to indicate whether the 15,500 voters in the district will approve financial measures to provide for college expansion from a 200-student capacity to 500 students.

The board will meet Friday evening. During that time, members will also hear and review preliminary plans for building expansion.

Alyn Martin, Redding architect, will be present to show his plans. Tentative expansion plans include, besides addition of classrooms, a bigger library and cafeteria, construction of dormitories, offices, athletic fields, landscaping and other additions.

In its second year of operation, the college surpassed the 200-student enrollment maximum for which present facilities were designed.

Facilities were built with money accumulated from a special assessment, after a bond issue failed to pass voter approval.

Mayor Takes Tax Stand

DUNSMUIR—Mayor Dave McClintock's firm stand on the city-versus-county sales tax situation brought a heated retort from W. A. Barr, Second District supervisor.

In a letter addressed to the city council, Barr accused McClintock of failing to avail the city of the opportunity of having its sales tax collected by the state. He wrote "if more money is needed (and it will be) for the ever-upward swing of government, the supervisors can and no doubt will simply add a little to your ad valorem tax."

State statistics indicated that Dunsmuir collected 80.2 per cent of the sales tax that it could have collected had tax collections been made by the state.

State-administered collections are only possible when a sales tax is on a county-wide basis.

At present, enactment of a county-wide sales tax hinges on agreements of city-county percentages within the incorporated cities.

Dunsmuir, with other cities which passed sales tax ordinances before the county considered the measure, is holding out for a 90-10 per cent split. The county would like at least a 15 per cent cut.

Mayor McClintock denied that he is trying to spend money that is not collectable. "We're going to be satisfied with 80.2 until we can get 90 per cent," he concluded.
