

Water Program May Sink, Solon Says

By DE VAN L. SOLON
DAVIS (UPI) — State Sen. Richard Richards said today that Gov. Edmund G. Brown's $1.75 billion water program could be wholly nullified by the current legislature.

Richards, Los Angeles Democrat, told a statewide water meeting at the University of California here that an "avalanche of bills" has been ready for the lawmakers. He said many of them were designed to hamstring the state and local water agencies.

"These negative legislative efforts must be defeated," said Richards, a leading supporter of the administration program to take water from Northern California to the thirsty south.

"I urge the people of California to maintain a watchdog alertness during this legislative session," he said. "Otherwise, we face the real possibility that the success of Proposition 1 (the water bond issue) may become a mirage instead of a reality."

Richards supported an administration position that negotiations for water contracts must be conducted by the Department of Water Resources—not the legislature, which he called "the world's worst court of last resort for water disputes."

The 300 delegates from water agencies in the state also heard from William H. Jennings, La Mesa attorney and vice chairman of the California Water Commission.

Tracing the history of federal water legislation, Jennings said, "The entry of big government into the field has had a disquieting and upsetting effect precipitating the crisis with which we are now confronted."

"Whether we like it or not we have been forced to consider water, its development and control, as an instrument of social reform, a tool of economic adjustment, by which new living standards may be created, the development of huge areas of our country may be advanced or retarded and the location or relocation of population masses may be manipulated."

Criticized Water Contract
Allen Bortoff, Bakersfield, president of the Feather River Project Association, charged Thursday that the state's water contract with the Metropolitan Water District of Los Angeles short-changed agriculture and should be renegotiated.

He claimed that final terms of the MWD contract "indicate that those who direct the affairs of the MWD may be unfamiliar, or at least unmindful, of the broad-scale economic benefits induced by neighboring agriculture."

The official said the MWD contract would have the effect of increasing the cost of agricultural water and decreasing the cost of municipal and industrial water as well as increasing MWD water deliveries at the expense of the agricultural supply.

Resigning of negotiations between the Department of Water Resources and the Metropolitan Water District, with other affected parties participating, might prove the best solution to this problem," he said.

DENY EXILE REPORTS
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Thursday establishment of a "Cuban government in exile" in this country without American consent would violate both U.S. sovereignty and international law.

The department flatly denied reports that it had discussed creation of such a government with anti-Castro Cuban exiles in this country.

Skating Party Slated Today

There will be a skating party, ice or roller skates depending on the weather, for the Junior High Westminister Fellowship of Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church at 2 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 13.

A potluck supper in Westminister Hall will follow the party at 4 p.m. A planning session for the year will follow.

IRANIANS CAST BALLOTS

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—The first votes in Iran's general elections were cast Thursday, with minor clashes in the town of Yazd the only reported violence.

Communists and "other extremists," including followers of former Premier Mohammed Mossadeq, were barred from candidacy.

Irrigation District Talks Rotation

President Sam Anderson today said the rotational policy was to be used in the private land areas, a similar District Board, during its regular meeting of Jan. 9, discussed their proposed rotation plan for water deliveries in the 1961 irrigation season. The district board deferred action of adopting the plan until the district could discuss this with the farmers. The individual board members expressed their ideas in meeting with other farmers and proposed to discuss it with other irrigation.

KILLED BY PLANE

MELUN, France (AP)—Motorcyclist Joseph Deut, 37, collided with a plane on an airfield Thursday and was killed by the propeller. Witnesses said Deut apparently was blinded by the sun.
